VOL. 3. NO. 52.

ISSUED EVERY SATURDAY MORN-ING FROM POSTOFFICE BUILDING.

ARLINGTON, MASS., SEPTEMBER 28, 1901.

SUBSCRIPTION $1 A YEAR IN AD-VANCE, PRICE PER SINGLE COPY. THREE CENTS.

Exquisite Style in Dress belongs to the man who has his clothing made to measure by an artist tailer who knows the value of perfect fit, beautiful finish and fine workmanship, and who selects his fabrics with an eye to please the taste of the well bred gentleman. "The tailor makes the man" is an old saying and we can supply all defects of form, and give you both style and satisfaction.

ALSO AGENT FOR THE

JOHN D. ROSIE,

Merchant Tailor,

P. O. Building, Arlington. Repairing and Pressing Neatly Done.

Royal Blue Steel Ware

HIS ware is lined with white enamel and is of the very best quality. A new invoice just received, consisting of Tea and Coffee Pots, Double Boilers, Tea Kettles, Preserving Kettles, Stew Pans, Sauce Pans, Dippers, Cups, Bowls, Wash Basins, Dish Pans, Pails, Spoons, etc.

G. W. Spaulding,

LEXINGTON.

Photographs

That are not only Sitchfield Studio Arlington, Mass.

Portraits

Pictures.

Marshall & Grant.

THE WRONG WAY

to buy drugs, is the cheap way. If medicine is to cure the sick, it must be the best and purest, and skill and experience are also necessary in the art of compounding physicians' prescriptions. We are registered pharmacists and we employ registered clerks in our prescription depart-ment. There's a very pointed moral to this true tale. We simply give you our name and let you draw your own PERHAM'S Prescription Pharmacy Post Office Building, Arlington.

FRED A. SMITH, Watchmaker & Jewelei

Repairing French, Hall and American Clocks and all Grades of Watches.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED. CLOCKS CALLED FOR AND RETURNED. 489 MASSACHUSETTS AVE., - ARLINGTON.

Johnson's Arlington Express.

J. H. EDWARDS, Prop.

Main Office, Monument View House.

Order Box Faneuil Hall Market. Baggage checked to all depots and steamboat wharves or trans-

If you have any Expressing, Piano or Furniture Moving to do please give us a call.

We have the largest business and can give better results than any other express in Arlington. Telephone, 13-5 Arlington

Court square
Devonshire street
Merchants' Row
Pearl street
Washington st.
96, 97 Arch street
Devonshire street
Kliby street
Nashua street Two Trips Daily. Teams Due at 1.30 and 6.30 P. M.

The Triumph of the Baker's Art in bread making is achieved in the white, light and delicious loaves, baked here every day. We use nothing but the best flour, pure and high grade, and our bread is nourishing, whole-some and tempting to the most fastidious. All of our Bakestuffs are unsurpassed for

Our Ice Cream and Catering is the best,

N. J. HARDY. Massachusetts Avenue, ARLINGTON.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN.

Mrs. Levinia H. Crosby of Arlington Observes Her Ninety-ninth Birthday-Her Eyesight Good and Hearing Unimpaired.

Mrs. Levinia H. Crosby, of 17 Court treet, Arlington, observed her ninetybirthday, Wednesday. She was visited by a large circle of friends, by whom she is addressed as Aunt Levinia and the day was a pleasant one to all. She also received letters from relatives and friends from far and near, one be-French Reform Skirt Supporter ing received from a nephew in California, who is about 75 years of age. nia, who is about 75 years of age. Mrs. Crosby is certainly a young looking woman for her age, and many a person of 80 years would be believed to be the elder. She is in remarkably good health and her spirits are always good.

elder. She is in remarkably good health and her spirits are always good.

She was called upon by an Enterprise representative and gave him a cordial greeting with a firm and friendly clasp of the hand. When told that it seemed hardly possible that she was as old as she was said to be, Mrs. Crosby smiled and replied that she has been told that same story so many times she almost believed it. For nearly three years Mrs. Crosby has not seen a sick day, and she eats and sleeps as well as ever she did. She can hear perfectly and no defect has ever been noticed in her hearing. While her eyes are not so strong as they were a year or two ago, she can read with the aid of her glasses, and in fact she says she takes her greatest comfort in reading her Bible. This she does dally, in fact several times a day. She also reads the papers to some extent, and enjoys having others read to her.

Mrs. Crosby is the oldest member of the Baptist church, and is as interested in anything which pertains to its welfare as ever, and enjoys the calls made by those active in the church work. She says she is willing to die whenever the call comes, but is happy living so long as she can retain her faculties. Sht praises the Lord daily, she says, that the is not helpless as are many people when they arrive at her age. Mrs. Crosby's brother. Captain Reuben Hopkins, married Mr. Crosby's sister. Mr. Crosby has been dead about 13 years, living to the advanced age of 92. The friends of Mrs. Crosby say they see no reason why she may not live to see another birthday when she will be one hundred years old.

CURLEY-SHEA.

Thomas Curley and Miss Beatrice Shea, both of Arlington, were married Wednesday evening, at St. Agnës' church, by Rev. John M. Mulcahy. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock, with John Curley as best man, and Miss Susie Shea, of Newton, bridesmaid. The bride wore pale blue over white satin, and the bridesmaid was dressed in steel blue. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Bailey, of Dudley street, and was attended by friends from Boston, Lawrence, Cambridge and Dorchester. After a wedding tour through New York, Mr. and Mrs. Curley will reside at 77 Dudley street.

BURNS-HUSTON.

Joseph F. Burns, of Leominster, and recently of Arlington, and Miss May E. Huston, of West Medford, were married Wednesday at St. Joseph's church in Medford, at 9 a.m., by Rev. T. A. Flannigan. Daniel B. Tierney, of Arlington, driver of hose 2, was best man, and Miss Minnie M. Tierney, of Arlington, was bridesmaid. The bride was dressed in white muslin and white organdie, wore bride roses and a white veil and carried a prayer book. The bridesmaid was dressed in pink organdie over pink and carried bride roses. The bride's travelling dress was a steel gray cashmere. After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's sister, given at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. M. F. Mead, of 55 Brattle street, Arlington, and many of the immediate Arlington, and many of the immediate relatives and friends were present. N. J. Hardy catered. The bride and groom received a large number of presents, including some beautiful silverwear. The bridesmaid was presented a handsome amethyst ring by the groom. After a wedding journey through New York, Mr. and Mrs. Burns will live in Leominster, where Mr. Burns has a large farm. He is well known throughout Arlington, having been driver of hose 2, and also a prominent member of Division 43, A. O. H.

SHORT-HARRIS.

SHOKT—HAKKIS.

Miss Blanche Ethel Harris, of Prescott street, was married to William B. Short, of 68 Inman street, Cambridge, at 7 o'clock Monday evening, at the home of the groom. The ceremony was performed there at the request of Mr. Short's father, who is confined to the house. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Andrew Campbell, of Webster, assisted by Rev. C. H. Williams, pastor of the Wood Memorial church, of Cambridge. The bride was dressed in a pearl gray travelling suit and pink silk waist. The ceremony was attended by members of the two families only, and after a wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Short left on a wedding tour. They will reside at the home of the groom in Cambridge. Mrs. Short is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Short is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harris, of Prescott street, Arlington.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Laura Alvina Davis to Charles Augustus Hardy, son of Mr. Rodney J. Hardy, of Lake street, Arlington. The ceremony is to be celebrated at the Unitarian church, Wednesday evening, Oct. 2, at eight o'clock.

Belmont and Waverley

Subscriptions may be left at La Bonte's drug store at Belmont, or at Connors's news store, or with F. A. Chandler, Waverley. Subscription price, 75 cents per year, for a limited period only.

The Enterprise is for sale in Waverley by H. D. Rogers, Waverley Cafe; John Connors's news store at Waverley, and at Belmont by Frank La Bonte.

BELMONT.

BELMONT.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Atkins have returned from a trip through the White Mountains. They report four inches of snow on the top of Mt. Washington.

The Belmont kindergarten class, under in Music hall, Wednesday evening, Sept. 25. was devoid of excitement. The following delegates were chosen for the respective conventions, and a town committee, as noted, appointed for the ensuing year: State convention, Joseph H. Cullis, Thomas L. Creeley, Geo. P. Walcott; county convention, G. Fred Kendall, Charles R. Suydam, John P. Bradbury; councillor convention, irving B. Frost, Charles H. Slade, William H. Poole; senatorial convention, Everett C. Benton, Charles W. Winn, Walter F. Beetle, G. Fred Kendall, Thomas L. Creeley, Charles R. Suydam, Walter F. Beetle, G. Fred Kendall, Thomas L. Creeley, Charles H. Slade, Irving B. Frost, L. Guy Dennett, John P. Bradbury, Charles W. Winn, William H. Poole, Frank C. Brown, Eldorus A. Castner, W. S. Rollins, Fred L. Gorham, George A. Sherman, W. H. Poole and family returned Tuesday from their summer home at Fort

W. H. Poole and family returned Tuesday from their summer home at Fort Point, Weymouth, Mass.

Mr. Sawyer and family, of Cambridge, are occupying a house on Leonard street, next the engine house.

The Belmont kindergarten class, under the direction of Miss Sherwood, opened Tuesday morning.

Mr. Melanson and family, of Godin street, have moved to Waverley street, Waverley.

Mrs. Edith Hooper, of Detroit, Mich., who, with her husband, has been visiting her father. James K. P. Sargent, has started for her home. They will visit the Pan-American exposition on their route and return home about October 1, when Mr. Hooper will resume his duties at the weather bureau.

at the weather bureau.
Tickets are on sale at La Bonte's drug store for the illustrated lecture on the "Passion Play of Oberammergau," and concert to be given in the town hall, Wednesday evening, October 16.

Benjamin F. Harding, teacher, Belmont, living in Milton, is a bankruptcy petitioner, The liabilities are $32,361.85, most of Which is secured the largest unsecured creditor being Ralph B. Williams, of this city, $1600. The assets are $7290, of which $6800 is represented in encumbered real estate.

The Democratic caucus was held in cumbered real estate.

The Democratic caucus was held in Music hall, Thursday evening. Wm. F. Grimes was chairman, and Geo. C. Flett secretary. The tollowing delegates were chosen: State, Thos. W. Davis, Ralph Hoffman; councilior, John F. Leonard, Chas, McCarthy; county and senatorial, H. O. Underwood, Patrick T. Shean Jr; attorney-general, Andrew Strahan, Martin Troy. Democratic town committee for 1902, Thos. W. Davis, Geo. C. Flett, Martin Troy Ralph Hoffman, Wm. F. Grimes, Chas, McCarthy and Andrew Strahan.

Thomas Trenholm, Belmont high '01, has commenced his studies at Harvard university, entering as a member of the class of 1905.

class of 1905.

Miss Emily Hunt. Belmont high '01, has entered the class of 1905 at Radcliffe.

Paul Rockwood has successfully passed the entrance examinations to Harvard university, but will take a post-graduate course at Belmont high. Mr. Rockwood was a member of the class of 1901.

Miss Grace Richardson is one of the freshmen at Vassar this fall. Miss Richardson was one of last June's Belmont high graduates.

Miss Theodora Bratten Belmont high

Miss Theodora Bratten, Belmont high '01, is a member of the entering class at Oberlin college, Wis.

In addition to the list of changes in the school faculty which the Enterprise published two weeks ago, the following have taken effect: Miss E. A. Cobb, a graduate of Hyannis Normal school, at the sixth grade at the Central grammar school in place of Miss Hough, transferred; Miss E. K. Jackson, a graduate of Colby college, in place of Mrs. Horne, nee Griffiths, resigned, at the ninth grade in the high school building; Miss Barnes, instructor of music, in place of Miss Hurd, who was granted a year's leave of absence, followed by a letter of resignation; Miss Grace Barclay, teacher of sewing, in place of Miss Copeland resigned; Mr. Brackett, teacher of sloyd, in place of Mr. Cobb, resigned.

The St. Joseph society will hold a so-

The St. Joseph society will hold a social dance in the town hall, Thursday Visitation at Belmont lodge A. F. & A. M., comes Thursday evening, Oct. 3.

Maurice Shean has returned to Harvard Medical school.

Oscar Creeley has moved to Medford, incidental to resuming his studies at Tufts college.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Horne have returned from their bridal tour and are at their home on Belmont street. Miss Alice Barrett has taken up her luties at the Training school, Lowell,

There are 92 high school pupils this

That the graduates of Belmont high school appreciate the advantages and beneficial results of their courses at the school is no more strikingly shown than by the ever increasing number of graduates who return each year to continue their studies. This year six members of the class of 1901 have returned: Adaline Swift, Harold Brown, Clara Shaw, Rob-

(Continued on Page Eight.)

BUY NOTHING BUT THE IF YOU WANT ICE THAT IS PURE HANG OUT THE BEST. WHITE CARD.

BELMONT ICE CO.

W G. HADLEY, Proprietors.

Belmont Centre.

Waverley

Choice Confectionery, Daggett's Chocolates; Ice Cream and Cake; Cold Soda, all flavors; Pureoxia Tonics, Moxie. Full line of Cigars and Tobacco. Meals and Lunches to order at all hours; accommodations for 100 in the pavilion. Ferguson's Bread and Pastry.

B. E R R. CO. WAITING ROOM. Trapelo Road, Waverley. servin

DOWN WENT WHITTEN.

rlington Police Officer Has Experi-Very Wet But Is Saved from Watery Grave.

The old and once popular song, "Down Went McGinty," is to be rewritten to "Down Went Whitten," after the performance executed by Officer James E. Whitten, of the Arlington police force, Wednesday morning, about 2 o'clock. The only difference in his case and McGinty's was that McGinty was supposed to have stayed down to the bottom of the sea, while Whitten came back again. Both of them got very wet, at least Whitten did. It happened in this way: The genial officer was patrolling his beat and was proceeding down Warren, rear Franklin street. He was informed of a break in the water main, and as the water was manifesting itself above the ground, he took pains to give it a chance to escape freely into a culvert nearby. He walked along the sidewalk when suddenly he was under it. The weight of the officer was enough to cause a cave-in where the torrent of water had torn a gorge. underneath. In fact there was but a thin crust left of the sidewalk, and the officer was the first to learn of this fact, Presence of mind, which is the great trait of all Arilington officers, was what saved Whitten from a watery grave. While falling into space he felt for his search light, which he carried with him, and instantly he pointed it downward and saw where he was going. He says he could see Li Hung Chang and several other Chinese notables on the other side of the world, so decided to go back the way he came. He thereupon stopped his downward flight and proceeded to wend his way upwards. His plight had attracted the attention of Dennis Collins and Daniel M. Daly, who, acting the part of the good Samaritan, pulled the officer to solid ground, safe and sound, but much the worse for wear. He was covered with mud and water, and felt as bad as he looked. Thanking his rescuers, he wended his way to the police station, where he reported the affair, and then repaired to his home to canage his costume. Any man who whistles "Down Went McGinty" where he is will be arrested. beat and was proceeding down Warren, rear Franklin street. He was informed

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

The Republican caucus at the town hall, Arlington, Thursday evening, was a very quiet affair. It was attended by less than 40 persons, and but 33 took the pains to vote. The town committee had made everything easy for the voters by the preparation of a caucus ballot, and as there was just the required number of delegates on the ticket, all were elected without opposition. The caucus was called to order by Arthur & Wellington, chairman of the town committee, and after reading the call declared the caucus opened for business. W. W. Rawson was then elected chairman, and F. W. Damon secretary. The caucus ballot was accepted and the polls were kept open a half hour. The delegates were unpledged, although the state delegates are said te favor Parker for attorney general. The delegates are: State convention, J. Q. A. Brackett, James A. Balley, Jr., J. Howell Crosby, Arthur J. Wellington, Joseph C. Holmes, Alfred H. Knowles; councillor convention. Warren W. Rawson, Edward S. Fessenden, Winfield S. Durgin, H. Augustus Phinney, Benjamin G. Jones, James E. Kimball; county convention, Edwin S. Farmer, Charles S. Parker, William A. Muller, M. Ernest Moore, Fred M. Goodwillie, Herbert W. Rawson; senatorial convention, Jacob Bitzer, Horace A. Freeman, George W. W. Sears, John W. Balley, Walter H. Peirce, Edgar Crosby; representative convention, Frank C. Allen, These dore Schwamb, Warren A. Peirce, Samuel E. Kimball, William N. Winn, Alexander H. Seaver, Charles Gott, Franklin Wyman, Alfred T. Marston, Ralph N. Smith, Philip Eberhart, These are the town committee for 1902:

Gott, Franklin Wyman, Alfred T. Marston. Edward A. Balley, Edwin C. Jacobs, Frederick W. Damon, Napoleon J. Hardy, Ralph N. Smith, Philip Eberhart. These are the town committee for 1902; Arthur J. Wellington, J. Howell Crosby, Frank C. Allen, Jacob Bitzer, Horace A. Freeman, Winfield S. Durgin, Walter H. Peirce, Edgar Crosby, James E. Kimball, Alfred T. Marston, M. Ernest Moore, Fred M. Goodwillie, Edward A. Bailey, Herbert W. Rawson, Edwin C. Jacobs.

CLASSIC GROUNDS.

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 25, 1901.

Dear Enterprise: We ought to write you this very day a letter from these classic grounds, but we have not a moment to spare, the day is so full of the "Godlike Daniel." The weather is simply charming so that Hanover is now seen at her best. "One hundred years ago Daniel Webster graduated from Dartmouth" is written all Hanover, and it is evident on all sides that Webster "still lives." Next week we shall give a full account of the Webster centennial.

Wilson Palmer.

A CRITICISM.

A CRITICISM.

Editor Enterprise: Knowing full well that your columns are full on this occasion, I cannot refrain from begging a little space to protest against the shameful and lack-of-propriety manner by which some people make use of the calamity which has befallen the nation to advertise their respective wares in combination with the emblems of mourning. The idea of a dry goods house clothing the "dummies" in their windows with black corsets, and many other displays are as pidiculous as the yellow placards that were used to announce that in memory of our late president the stores would be closed Thursday, and there are others equally as shameful as this. I hope to see on my next tour of the show windows after the appearance of this issue a more respectful lot of windows.

Appropriate.

WITH THE FIREMEN.

The Arlington Veteran Firemen had a playout Tuesday evening, and a large force manned the pumps. The work done was first class and all were satisfied the Eureka will be able to win a prize at Weymouth today. There will be a good attendance at the muster from Arlington. After the playout the members repaired to the engine house and partook of steamed clams and other refreshments, and also entertained themselves with a few speeches.

Tuesday evening will be veterans hight at the Firemen's hall, and this is expected to be the banner meeting of the season. There will be a number of the old members of the company present.

A WORD OF PRAISE.

Editor Enterprise: It was my privilege to attend the memorial service hefd at St. John's Episcopal church, on Thursday evening, the 19th inst., as a tribute to the character and memory of our martyred president, William McKinley. The address by the rector, Rev.
Mr. Yeames, the musical, and also the devotional portions of the service all were of a high order, being full of feeling and dignity, in fact, the whole service was quite appropriate in character.
I take the liberty of sending you this, feeling that such an occasion is well deserving of notice.

Arlington, Sept. 23, 1901.

TAYLOR AHEAD.

ence Like that of McGinty—He Gets Caucus Sits Down Hard on Old Committee.

> Lexington Republicans Tip Over One Slate and Make Another-Taylor Faction Makes Clean Sweep of Delegates and Town Committee.

The faction in Lexington politics which is led by George W. Taylor scored a victory over its opponents at the Repubnot only that but rubbed it in hard. The defeated opposition was snowed under by a vote 100 to 60, and the successful combination won not only in its fight to elect a town committee, but also elected a complete set of delegates for the several conventions. the special town meeting last spring, when John F. Hutchinson was elected selectman over Mr. Taylor, has there been so much excitement, and although the fray was of but a few days' duration it was hot while it lasted. The ticket prepared by the old town committee was completely thrown down, and the ticket of the insurrectionists won. As the Taylor ticket did not contain names enough for town committee, John F. Hutchinson and Arthur D. Stone, of the Hutchinson ticket, were elected also, Henry C. Valentine and Edwin C. Stevens had a tie vote for last place on the committee, so a vacancy will exist and will be filled by the other members of the committee.

The cancus was called to order by Henry W. Lewis, chairman of the Republican committee, at 8 p.m. Arthur L. Stone nominated James B. Prince for chairman, and Edward P. Merriam nominated Edward C. Stone, Prince representing the Hutchisson factor, and Stone the Taylorites. It was voted to elect by ballot. After the ballots had been distributed and everything was in readiness for voting, James H. Frizelie took the floor and stated that the ballot with the name of Edward C. Stone thereon was not the legal size, and said he would enter a protest against counting. After considerable arguing between the two parties, it was finally decided to give the chair ten minutes to ascertain whether the ballot was legal or not. The chair decided that unless Mr. Frizelie could prove the illegality of the ballots the chair would pronounce them legal and the voting would proceed. Mr. Frizelie not being able to do so, the chairman then stated that both ballots were legal. The polis opened at 8.30 p.m., and when the votes had been counted, it was found that a total of 164 had been cast, Edward C. Stone receiving 100 and James B. Prince 64. Mr. Prince stated that he would like to make the vote unanimous, but as this was impossible, he would say that he did not care to win by any underhanded means. Henry W. Lewis appointed James H. Frizelle, W. A. Tower, and D. G. Tyler as a committee of three to escort Mr. Stone to the chair, which was done amid much cheering. The next in order was to elect a secretary of the caucus, and Dr. Merriam nominated Lewis L. Crowne, who was chosen by acelamation.

It was voted that the chair appoint five telers to count ballots, and H. S. O. Nichols, Rev. F. Frizelle, H. L. Houghton, John F. Turner, H. A. C. Woodard were selected. The balloting then began for members of the town committee and while these votes were being counted, the balloting began for the delegates to the state convention, Daniel G. Tyler. Edward P. Merriam, James A. Wilson, Edward P. Merriam, James A. Wilson, Edwin C. Stevens, Frank W. He

REAL ESTATE.

REAL ESTATE.

Arthur H. Jewett has sold for Abram B. Smith his farm on Waltham and Blossom streets, Lexington. This farm has been in the Smith family for nearly 150 years. The buyer is a Boston architect, who will occupy. The farm is assessed on $7500.

Edward T. Harrington & Co. have sold for the Hartwell heirs the estate of the late Mrs. Jane Hartwell, located on South street, Bedford. The property consists of a house, stable and 45,000 feet of land, and wass purchased by Edwin H. Blake. It is valued at $4500.

Edward T. Harrington & Co. announce the sale of the J. Morton Reed farm in Lexington to Ferdinand Sage, of Boston. The farm comprises one of the best estates in the vicinity of Boston. It was purchased in 1675 by William Reed, an ancestor of J. Morton Reed and has never been out of the Reed family's hands until at the present time. There are 90 acres of land with buildings. It is located on Bedford street on the line of the Lexington & Boston street railway. The price was $16,000.

ARLINGTON GOLF.

In the mixed foursomes on the links of the Arlington Golf club, Saturday af-ternoon, Miss E. Pierce and H. E. Hill were the winners, with a net score of 101 Handi-

Player
Miss E. Pierce and H.
E. Hill
Miss Alice Winn and E.
D. Woods
Miss Clara Taft and R.
Bacon
Miss Elizabeth Colman and
H. Rice
Miss Adelle Fitzpatrick and W. A. Taft, Jr.
Miss Florence Hill and
J. Colman, Jr.
Miss Edith Teel and C.
O. Hill

since the last election of Governor Bullock in 1867. None of our large cities have so unvaryingly, given great Republican majorities for the state and national tickets as Worcester, and her earnest united and enthusiastic presentation of a candidate of such unquestioned capability and equipment will be peculiarly significant and influential in molding public opinion in other sections of the commonwealth.

ESTABLISHED 1841.

J. HENRY HARTWELL

& SON.

Undertakers.

4 MEDFORD STREET,

ARLINGTON.

Peirce & Winn Co.

Coals, Wood, Hay, Straw

Grain, Lime, Cement, Plaster,

Hair, Fertilizers, Sand, Drain

Teaming Pillsbury Flour, New England Gas and Coke Co's Coke

Arlington, Arlington He'ghts, and Lexington

Post-office Box B, Arlington

Telephone, 8-2 Arlington

and Sewer Pipes, etc.

Telephone Connection.

THE ENTERPRISE.

Saturday, September 28, 1901.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

There could be no better evidence of the complete public satisfaction with the administration of Middlesex county affairs than we have before us at this time. Here we are with the Republican caucuses over, and there has not even been a whisper of a suggestion in the way of opposition to the re-nomination of County Commissioner Bigelow, whose term expires this year. It was not so very long ago when it appeared to be the fad among a certain class of politicians to pitch into county administration when they desired to pose as reformers in the public eye. They took every opportunity of holding the county up to the public gaze as the worst-gov erned sub-division of the commonwealth This kind of talk, and in a measure the men who indulged in it, have passed into oblivion; and we now have through out the length and breadth of our large and important county a feeling of quiet satisfaction over the clean and efficient administration of its affairs. In view of this contented and reposeful feeling in the county, we feel that there is cause for congratulation in the prospect of securing Mr. Bigelow's services for another term. He has signified his willingness to serve again, and this means that the present capable administration of county affairs will proceed without a break, Mr. Bigelow, long since, has satisfactorily demonstrated his complete fitness for the position, and we are very glad that everything points toward his continuance in the responsible office which he has filled with such credit.

A PLEASING REVELATION.

Partisan speakers, writers and caricaturists have had their way so long that the popular conception of Mark Hanna has been that he was a coarse, ill-bred man, ambitious for power and greedy for personal aggrandizement, thoroughly heartless and selfish and destitute of any estimable traits. Many have known better than this, but the assassination has brought to most of the people a revelation of Mr. Hanna for which they were wholly unprepared. He is seen to be a warm-hearted, tender, unselfish man. grief-stricken over the death of his dearest personal friend and deeply moved by patriotic feelings in regard to the nation. And this is the real Mark Hanna. It is too much to expect that justice will be done him by his past defamers, but he will hold a far higher place than heretofore in the hearts of the people.

A REMARKABLE SPECTACLE.

It is an interesting fact that Wm. McKinley made a profession of religion the same year that Theodore Roosevelt was born. The best of it has been that he has lived up to his professions. How quickly the masses follow a leader. There are a few, here and there who harbor a spirit of vengeance against the assassin, but the sweet and tender religiousness of the martyr's last hours has permeated the feelings of the nation, and many who, under a different leadership, might have been clamoring for blood are now quoting the president's words of resignation, while great congregations everywhere are singing the hymns which did so much to mold his life and make it lovable and noble.

THE INCOMPLETENESS OF LIFE.

One of the sad things about the death of President McKinley is that he should have been cut off from seeing the com-pletion of his work. Few men have begun tasks so great in themselves and so momentous in their consequences to the mankind, no one can doubt and a few years hence it will be clearly seen that his purpose was accomplished. What a gratification it would have been to him to have conducted the carrying out of the further movements, and to have seen the results. But the work is in good hands, and the affection of the people for the man who initiated and directed it will ensure its completion.

REPUBLICS AND MONARCHIES.

In nothing is the difference between a republic and a monarchy (between this republic and Great Britain, for instance) better illustrated than by the metnods of initiating a new administration. president dies, and his successor enters upon his great duties by taking the oath of office in a quiet, simple way, in a private residence, in the presence of a few citizens. The queen of England dies. Her successor is inducted into office with ceremonies full of display, and the coronation, months later, is to be the most conspicuous event of the age, full of pomp and most impressive show. The methods suggest the difference in the forms of government.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

The number of men who have expressed satisfaction with the death of the president is surprisingly large. They have been found in almost every community, and they doubtless represent many who have the same feelings but were prudent enough not to express them. It is not easy to account for these exceptions to the almost universal sorrow of the people. They are probably cranky people, who have been fed on the sensational newspapers which have held up the president to the contempt and hatred of the people. We wonder hew the editors of such papers feel, as they see the results of their work.

A LAMENTABLE CONFLICT.

No matter what one may think of the claims of organized labor and of the wisdom of its leaders, generally, it is impossible not to regret the recent strike. It had little, if any, justification, for it was not against the reduction of wages, or for an increase, nor were any hardships alleged. It was foredoomed to fail, and never had any chance of success. Thousands of men lost their wages for weeks, in this unwise struggle, and more serious results were avoided only by the greatest patience and tact among employers. There is absolutely no comsation for all these losses.

A STRIKING RESEMBLANCE.

"A man is known by the company he eps," it is said. Better still by the impany he selects. Look at the men from President McKinley gathered second him in his official family—men of m high character and exceptional ability. In his cabinet no other man so closely resembled their chief as did Secretary Long. He has the same gentleness, the same conscientious devotion to duty, the same way of reaching wise conclusions after patient, thorough consideration, the same capacity for winning the affections of the people.

So Mr. Elder is to preside over the Republican state convention. Let the delegates prepare themselves for a rousing good speech, original and effective. What a pity that the dignity of the occasion will prevent him from telling some of his good stories, for it would be a treat to hear him. Work in one or two, Sam, just to show 'em how much they are losing by your self-restraint.

One of the secrets of President Mc-Kinley's popularity with the people was the fact that he was one of them. He never separated himself from them, and never allowed himself to forget that he was their representative. We have had presidents who have told the people what they should do. He kept himself in touch with them, and sought to know their will and to carry it out.

We notice that when clergymen, and other good men, give way to un-Christian wrath, they always explain that it is "holy indignation." Curious that the same outburst should be "holy" in a good man and wicked in a bad one. But it is the good man who says that his wrath is "holy," and he frequently selects the other adjective for the other fellow's wrath.

There are "hand-books" on almost evry subject, telling exactly how to do things and giving suitable forms. Why oesn't somebody publish a hand-book of resolutions suitable for occasions like that which has engrossed the attention of the public last week? It would at east save public bodies from expressing unsuitable sentiments in defective Eng-

It is a curious turn of affairs which makes John D. Long a cabinet officer under Theodore Roosevelt, who, for a time, was Mr. Long's assistant. It ould happen only in the United States, and it is well it can happen here with out causing any friction or unpleasant

HERBERT PARKER.

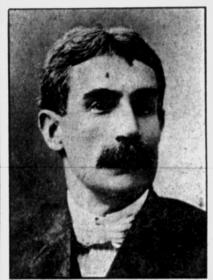

Candidate for Attorney General.

Candidate for Attorney General.

The office of attorney general of the commonwealth is one of the most important in the gift of the people. Its duties are manifold, touching all the varied activities in which the state engages, and all the interests for which it assumes responsibility. Its purely judicial functions—as, for example, the determination of whether extraordinary and prerogative proceedings for the suppression of interferences with public rights, usurpations of public offices, and abuses of franchises, shall be instituted—demand courage unflinching in the face of powerful influences, coupled with a soundness of judgment which will withstand all importunities, and keenness of intellect.

Any candidate for this office must be subjected to, and be able to bear, the most searching tests of capacity and character. From the beginning to the present, the office has been held by the most eminent and worthy of their generation at the bar of the state.

Herbert Parker is abundantly equal to every demand, and his accomplishments amply fulfill the requirements of the honorable office. He was born at Charlestown, Mass., March 2, 1856, was of the class of '78, Harvard, studied law in the office of George F. Hoar, and was admitted to the bar in 1883. For the next year, he was private secretary to Senator Hoar. He practiced law in Worcester a short time in association with Charles F. Aldrich, but about 1885, believing that a smaller community offered more to a young lawyer, he removed his office to Clinton, where, within a year, a co-partnership was formed with Hon. John W. Corcoran, which existed until the latter opened an office in Boston a few years later. While in Clinton, he was for several years a special justice of the second district court of Eastern Worcester, but resigned on account of the increasing demands of his practice. In 1891, soon after the decease of Hon. Harris C, Hartwell, Mr. Parker succeeded to his place in the well known law firm of which ex-Congressman Norcross was the senior member, the name of the new association being Norcross. Parker & Baker. Mr. Parker was invited to this office because of his reputation as a skilful court lawyer, which was even then well recognized and established, and the high character of the firm as the leading office in northern Worcester county was fully maintained during his connection with it. The wider range of opportunities existing in a larger city attracted Mr. Parker to Worcester in 1894, where he has since practiced continuously.

HERBERT PARKER.

attracted Mr. Parker to Worcester in 1894, where he has since practiced continuously.

In January of 1887, he was appointed assistant district attorney for the middle district by Francis A. Gaskill, and when Judge Gaskill was elevated to the superior court bench in February, 1895, Governor Greenhalge appointed Mr. Parker to succeed Judge Gaskill as district attorney for the remainder of the year. At the election in 1896, he was elected for a full term of three years, which ended January, 1899, when he declined to hold the position longer, and retired after having been connected with the office twelve years. During this long service, there were revealed not only the qualities of a trial-lawyer so essential to the proper performance of these important duties, but also a judicial discrimination and fearless performance of what appealed to him as right. He has been a member of the Republican town committee of Lancaster for many years, and for a time was on the Republican state central committee. Although prominently mentioned as a candidate for congress, he has always refused the use of his name for this purpose, but his unusual efficiency and popularity as a speaker have called him frequently upon the stump in this and adjacent counties, where his valuable services have always been at the command of the party. His occasional addresses upon patriotic and literary subjects show a breadth of culture unusual in one so actively engaged in professional work. He is a director of the Citizens' National bank of Worcester, and holds various other positions of trust in business and charitable institutions, and is a member of the Worcester. Commonwealth and Brookline Country clubs. The determining reason in selecting an attorney general, as well as a judge of the courts, should be superior fitness. When no controversy is raised upon this score, locality considerations are of consequence. The geographical argument in favor of Mr. Parker's nomination is especially strong, for Worcester has had no representative upon the state ticket since the last election of Governor Bullock in 1867. None of our large cities have so unvaryingly, given great Republican majorities for the state and na-Arlington House

Arlington, Mass.

J. C. RAUCH, Proprietor.

Accommodations for transients and table boarders. Stable connected. Telephone 56-2

WM. BENDIX'S School of Music,

Will open for the Fall and Winter Season, Monday, Sept. 2, 1901.

Thorough instructions given on Piano. Violin, Flute, Clarinet, Guitar, etc. Any number of musicians, including a good prompter, furnished for all occa sions at reasonable prices. For terms, address, WM. BENDIX, 2 Park ter., Arlington

J. E. LANGEN, And "JUD" the Barber, are one and the same person. And he is doing better work than ever, now. Three chairs in operation; skilled workmen; every tool sterilized by means of an antiseptic. Also, a bootblack in constant attendance. Shop never closed except Sunday.

Specialties: Ladies' shampooing. Children's hair-cutting. For strictly first clas, up-to-date work, try "Jud." He can please the most fastidious.

Cor. Mystic St., and Mass. Ave., Over the Drug Store, - ARLINGTON.

H. P. LONGLEY, $QUICK\ LUNCH$,

Confectionery, Cigars, Tobacco, Tonics, Soda, Fruit.

BOSTON ELEVATED WAITING ROOM.

Arlington.

ARTIFICIAL STONE SIDEWALKS.

Driveways, Buttresses, Steps and Copings. Asphalt Sidewalks, Stable and Cellar Floors.

ROOFING

Asphalt and Coal Tar Paving and Roofing Material for the Trade.

WARREN BROS. COMPANY, Manufacturers Contractors 143 Federal St., Boston.

Tel. 4064 Main. Factory: E. Cambridge.

J. W. HARRINGTON,

Business Established More Than 50 Years.!

Practical House, Sign, and Decorative Painter.

All kinds of hard and soft woods finished in the latest and most improved manner. Kalsemining Painting in water colors. Graining, Glazing and Paper Hanging. Local agents for one of the targest wall paper houses in Boston. Drop me a card and I will call with samples. All sizes of glass on hand. Sign writing a specialty. Personal supervision giver to all work and satisfaction guaranteed. I respectfully solicit a further share of your patronage.

Shop, 450 Mass. ave., opp. Medford st. Residence, 51 Lewis Ave.

A. BOWMAN.

Ladies' and Gents' ALO

487 Mass. ave., Arlington.

LTERING, CLEANING, DYEING, PRESSING

H. B. JOHNSON. Steam and Hot Water Heating,

Greenhouse Contractor, Steam Pump Repairer, 'etc.

PIPE AND FITTINGS FOR SALE

BROADWAY and WINTER STS.,

AT BOSTON PRICES.

ARLINGTON.

Boilers Re-tubed. Artesian Wells. Wind Mills. Roofing. In all work contracted for the latest devices and most approved appliances are used and personal attention given to every job. Estimates furnished on contracts of any amount and satisfaction guaranteed.

MRS. DALE, and Kitchen Furnishings, House HAS A FULL LINE OF

Crockery, Glass, China and Tin Ware, Preserving Jars, Toilet and Fancy Articles, etc., etc., at 610 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington.

Broadway and Third Street, CAMBRIDGEPORT.

Headquarters For

And Building Material. Largest Stock in N. E. to Select From

Established 1826.

Arlington Insurance Agency

George Y. Wellington & Son, Agents. Eight Mutual Companies, Ten Stock Companies. Office open daily and Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Savings Bank Building, Arlington Avenue. OFFICE HOURS: 1.30 to 4.30 P. M., Daily.

Kill all Your Water Bugs and Roaches BARNARD'S EXTERMINATOR. SOLD EVERYWHERE AND WARRANTED.
SENT BY MAIL FOR 50 CENTS.
BARNARD & CO., 7 Temple Place, BOSTON.

ARLINGTON SOCIETIES. CHURCHES, ETC.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

E. Nelson Blake, president; Wm. D. Higgins, cashier. Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Open dally from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 8.30. ARLINGTON CO-OPERATIVE BANK Geo. D. Moore, president: R. Walter Hilliard, secretary; W. A. Peirce, treas-ver. Meets in banking rooms of First National bank, first Tuesday in each month, at 7.30 p.m. Money offered at auction at 8.30.

ARLINGTON FIVE-CENT SAVINGS BANK, Bank building, corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. William G, Peck, president; H. Blasdale, secretary and treasurer. Open daily from 3 to 5.30 p.m.; Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9.

ARLINGTON BOAT CLUB. Meets first Monday in each month clubhouse on margin of Spy pond, A mission fee, $10; annual dues, $15. ARLINGTON FINANCE CLUB

Meets by invitation fourth Tuesday in each month. FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Hiram Lodge. Meets in Masonic hall, corner Massa-chusetts avenue and Medford street, Thursday on or before the full moon, Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter.

Meets third Tuesday of each month in INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS. Bethel Lodge, No. 12.

Meets in Odd Fellows hall. Bank build-ng, every Wednesday evening, at 8. Ida F Butler Rebekah Lodge, No. 152. Meets first and third Monday evenings of each month in Bethel lodge room.

ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN.

Circle Lodge, No. 7.

Meets first and third Fridays of each month in Grand Army hall, Massachusetts avenue, at 8 p.m. KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

No. 109. Meets second and fourth Thursdays of each month in K. of C. hall, over Shattuck's store

ROYAL ARCANUM. Menotomy Council, No. 1781. Meets first and third Tuesdays of each month in Grand Army hall, 370 Massa-chusetts avenue, at 8 p.m. UNITED ORDER INDEPENDENT ODD LADIES.

Golden Rule Lodge, No. 51. Meets in G. A. R. hall, the second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month. GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC. Francis Gould Post, No. 36.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursdays of each month, at 8 o'clock p.m. Women's Relief Corps, No. 43.

Meets in G. A. R. hall, Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursday af-ternoons of each month, at 2 o'clock, SONS OF VETERANS. Camp 45. Meets in G. A. R. hall, on the third Wednesday of each month, at 8 o'clock

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION. Meets in St. John's Parish house, Ma-ple street, second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

ANCIENT ORDER OF HIBERNIANS. Division 23. Meets in Hibernian hall, corner Mystic and Chestnut streets, first and third Thursdays of each month, at 7.30 p.m.

Division 43. Meets first Tuesday in each month, at K. of C. hall. FORESTERS OF AMERICA.

Court Pride of Arlington.

Meets in K. of C. hall, the first and third Mondays of each month.

MASSACHUSETTS CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS.

St. Malachi Court. Meets at Hibernian hall first and third

ROBBINS PUBLIC LIBRARY. Building is open to the public as fol-lows: Sundays, 2.30 to 5.30 p.m.; Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 10 to Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 6 and 7 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 6 p.m.; Wednesdays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 10 to 12 a.m., 1 to 9 p.m.; book room, 1 to 9 p.m.; Wednesdays and Saturdays only, during the month of Aurorat

Arlington Heights Branch. Open Tuesdays and Saturdays from 1 to 6; 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays, 3 to 6, 7 to 9 p.m.

TOWN OFFICERS.

Selectmen meet at their office in town hall on the last Monday evening of each month, for approval of bills. Regular meetings each Saturday evening.

Town clerk and treasurer, office hours, 9 a.m., to 12 m.; 2 to 5 p.m.; also Mondays, 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 12 m.

only.

Board of health, on call of chairman,
Engineers fire department, Saturday before last Monday, each month.
School committee, third Tuesday evening, monthly.
Sewer commissioners, on call of chair-

Trustees of cemetery, on call of chair-Water commissioners, first Saturday in each month. FIRE DEPARTMENT

Hose No. 1, on Park avenue; Hose No. 2, on Massachusetts avenue; Menotomy hook and ladder; Hose No. 3, on Broadway; Brackett chemical; Eagle hose, Henderson street.

ARLINGTON FIRST PARISH.

(Unitarian.)
Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street, Rev. Frederic Gill, past-or. Boards with Mrs. J. C. Harris, 23 Academy street. Sunday morning preach-ing service at 10.45; Sunday school at noon, except July and August. ARLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

ARLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.
Services on Sunday in Grand Army hall, Massachusetts avenue, Rev. Charles H. Watson, D. D., minister. Residence, 26 Academy street. Sunday service at 10.45 a.m.; Sunday school at noon hour; Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.15 p.m.; evening church service at 7.15 o'clock.
ARLINGTON HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH.

Cor. of Westminster and Park Avenues. Sunday services: morning worship and sermon, 10.45 a.m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; evening service, with short talk, 7 p.m. Weekly prayer meeting, Friday even...

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Services in Crescent hall. Preaching Sunday 10.45 a.m. Sunday school, 12 m. Song service, 7 p.m. Preaching, 7.45 p.m. ORTHODOX CONGREGATIONAL.

Corner Pleasant and Maple streets.
Rev. Samuel C. Bushnell, pastor; residence on Maple street, opposite the church. Sunday services at 10.45 a.m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30 p.m.; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Friday evenings, at 7.30, social service in vestry. FIRST UNIVERSALIST.

Massachusetts avenue, opposite Academy street. Rev. Harry Fay Fister, pastor, Gray street. Sunday services in the morning at 10.46; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Y. P. Union at 6.30 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL.

PARK AVENUE CHURCH. (Orthodox Congregational.)

Corner Park and Wollaston avenues, Arlington Heights. Rev. John G. Taylor, pastor. Sunday morning service at 10.45; Sunday school at 12.15; Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.30 p.m.: Sunday afternoon at 3.70, Junior C. E. meeting; Friday evening at 7.45, prayer meeting.

ST. AGNES, CATHOLIC.

Corner Medford and Chestnut streets.
Rev. John M. Mulcahy, pastor; Rev. A.

J. Fitzgerald, Rev. A. S. Malone, assistants. Reside at parsonage, 24 Medford street, next to church, Mass at 7 and 9 a.m.; high mass at 10.30; Sunday school at 2.30 p.m.; vespers at 3.30 p.m. ARLINGTON LINE BIBLE SCHOOL Corner Massachusetts Avenue and Tan-Corner Massachusetts Avenue and Tan-nery Street, Services—Every Sunday afternoon at 3.30; preaching at 7.30 Sunday evenings; Thursday evening meeting at 7.45.

ARLINGTON FIRE ALARM.

LOCATION OF BOXES. 4-Jason St.

LOCATION OF BOXES.

4—Jason St.

13—Cor. Henderson and Sawin Sts.

14—Cor. Mass. Ave. and Teel St.

15—Cor. Mass. Ave. and Lake St.

16—Cor. Mass. Ave. and Lake St.

16—Cor. Mass. Ave. and Linwoo.

17—Lake St., opp. D. Wyman's house.

21—Union St., opp. Fremont.

22—No School.

23—Junction Broadway and Warren St.

24—Beacon St., near Warren.

25—On Wm. Penn Hose House.

26—Cor. Mystic and Summer Sts.

28—Mystic St., near Fairview Ave.

22—Pleasant, near Lake St.

34—Cor. Pleasant and Gray Sts.

35—Wellington and Addison Sts.

38—On Town Hall—Police Station,

37—Russell St., cor. Russell Terrace.

38—Academy St., near Maple.

39—Cor. Mass. Ave., and Mill St.

41—Mass. Ave., near Schouler Court.

43—Cor. Summer and Grove Sts.

45—On Hightland Hose House.

46—Brattle St., near Dudley.

47—Junc. of Mass. Ave. and Forest St.

54—Crescent Hill—Westminster Ave.

54—Brackett Chemical Engine House.

61—Cor. Florence and Hillside Aves.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure CA-TARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An oid and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CA-TARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonder, ful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE" and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use. "SNUFFLES" is the only perfect thing necessary to its perfect use.
"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect
CATARRH CURE ever made and is now.

CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently, and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you garding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUF-FLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

CURE."
Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. B 680 ED-WIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

GROSSMITH'S Balsam Tar Compound NEVER FAILS to cure Bronchial Coughs and Colds on the Lungs. 25c. Bottle

C. W. GROSSMITH. Registered Pharmacist,

Mass. Ave., Cor. Mystic St., Arlington

SEASON OF 1901, New Wall Papers

EXCLUSIVELY. WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

The Largest Stock, The Most Artistic Designs, The Lowest Prices in New England

Thomas F. Swan, 12 CORNHILL, BOSTON,

Next Door to Washington St.

W. G. KIMBALL, Contractor and Builder,

All Kinds of Wood Jobbing and Repairing. Estimates Given.

> Shop, 1003 Mass. ave. ARLINGTON.

J. C. McDONALD, Fruit and Confectionery, Hot and Cold Soda and & QUICK LUNCH & TOBACCO AND CIGARS. Lexington and Boston Arlington Heights.

ANGELO CATERINO & CO., DEALER IN Foreign & Domestic Fruit

Money refunded if goods not satisfactory. Confectionery, Cigars and Tobacco. 479 Massachusetts Ave., ARLINGTON.

BELMONT AND WAVERLEY CHURCHES, SOCIETIES, ETC.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH. Belmont.

Rev. Hilary Bygrave, pastor. Morning service, 10.45; Sunday school, 12 m. PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Belmont.

Rev. Elbridge C. Whiting, pastor.
Morning service, 10.30 o'clock; Sunday school, 12 m.; evening praise, 7; weekly prayer meeting, Tuesday, 7.45 p.m. ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH. Belmont.

Morning services at 8.30 and 10 o'clock; Sunday school, 3.30; vespers, 7.30. ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

(Episcopal), Belmont. Sunday school, 10 a.m.; morning ser-dce, 11. Reginald H. Coe in charge of parish.

WAVERLEY UNITARIAN SOCIETY. Rev. C. H. Allen, pastor. Services every Sunday morning, 10.45; Sunday school, 12 m.; Young People's Religious union, first and third Sunday each month, 7 p.m. All invited.

WAVERLEY BAPTIST SOCIETY. Rev. H. S. Smith, pastor. Services in Waverley hall; Sunday school, 2.45 p.m.; preaching service, 7.45 p.m.; prayer meeting, Thursday evening, 7.30. CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Waverley. Rev. Geo. P. Gilman, pastor. Morning service, 10.45; Sunday school, 12 m.; Young People's Society Christian En-deavor, 6.15 p.m.; evening service, 7.15; prayer meeting, Friday evening, 7.30.

ROYAL ARCANUM. Waverley Council, No. 313. Meets in Lodge hall, Waverley second and fourth Tuesday evenings each

INDEPENDENT ORDER ODD FEL-LOWS.

Trapelo Lodge, No. 238. Meets in Lodge hall, Waverley, every Monday evening. FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Belmont Lodge. Meets on the first Thursday of each month, at Masonic hall, Belmont.

Granolithic

Sidewalks, Steps, Curbing, Coping, Walks, ing, Coping, Floors, Etc.

ALL CLASSES OF CEMENT CONCRETE CONSTRUCTION.

Asphalt.

Rock Asphalt and Trinidad Asphalt Floors and Pavements.

CELLARS MADE WATERTIGHT.

Tar Concrete

Sidewalks, Walks, Drive-

Pleasant Street Market.

CHOICE MEATS, FRESH VEGETABLES, CREAMY BUTTER, FRUITS.

12 Pleasant Street, Arlington.

D. F. COLLINS. Dry Goods, Small Wares

GENT'S FURNISHINGS.

472 Massachusetts Avenue, ARLINGTON.

HENRY A. BELLAMY, Contractor

Builder,

72 WALNUT STREET, ARLINGTON OFFICE:

113 DEVONSHIRE ST., BOSTON Telephone, 3488-3 Main.

DAVID CLARK,

32 years in the hacking business, is still at the 10 MILL STREET, ARLINGTON, Rubber-tired carriages for funerals, weddings and evening parties Also a wagonette for pleasure parties Tel connection.

A Quick Lunch Or a Good Dinner May be obtained at the COLUMBIAN CAFE TOBACCO AND CIGARS. A. C. LABREQUE, Railroad Crossing.

D. BUTTRICK,

Butter and Eggs,

Residence, 15 Swan St., Arlington | 10 Teel Place. Arlington, Mass.

AT BUFFALO.

Editor of the Belmont Enterprise Writes About His Trip to the Great Exhibition.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1901.

Dear Mr. Editor:—As my trip has been attended by a number of details somewhat out of the ordinary. I have thought well to write you a few lines.

Leaving Boston, first called at Montreal, Que. The people there showed much feeling of sadness over the assassination of President McKiniey, and the newspaper bulletins were as eagerly watched and read as within our own borders. At the morning service at the ders. At the morning service at the French Catholic cathedral, Netre Dame, a large and imposing structure where an interesting and beautiful service was being held, the pastor offered fervent prayers for the welfare of the president, Its poor frame rent and tattered.

has did the pastor of the Baptist church as did the pastor of the Baptist church which we attended in the evening.

At Toronto, Ont., the exposition was closed, and from reports should judge that it has been very successful and well attended. attended. Before arriving at Buffalo, the falls of Niagara held my attention, having all the grandeur and attractive features for me which others have found and commented upon.

At Buffalo, the Pan-American exposition was truly a worthy object for inand commented upon.

At Buffalo, the Pan-American exposition was truly a worthy object for inspection in a share of my time. The newspaper articles which have been published from time to time have given good descriptions. Many of the midway attractions repay the visitor, while a number of them are fakes. I was much interested in "A Trip to the Moon in the Air-Ship Luna"; "Alt Nuernberg," an old German town; "Darkness and Dawn," and the "Infant Iacubator."

An attempt to go into the details of the government buildings, Temple of Music, and other interesting buildings would be lengthy. The illuminations are beyond the feeble power of words to describe, but when one considers that there are 44.000 eight-candle-power lights in the electric tower alone, and 240,000 on the grounds, some idea of the magnitude of the project may be gained. Indeed a good expression of appreciation of the beauty of the spectacle was expressed by a gentleman in my hearing. "This equals my boyhood dreams of heaven."

Saturday and Sunday the exposition was closed, but Buffalo was not by any means devoid of crowds, for the Grand Army people were returning from Cleveland. A peculiar sadness and excitement prevalled. The streets for a block in each direction from the Milburn house, on Delaware avenue, where the president was were roped off, but by aid of press credentials I was able to gain admission to the press and telegraph tents opposite the house. These tents, admission to the press and telegraph tents opposite the house. These tents, which were installed, as were the metal voting booths, for the convenience of the press, telegraph and telephone companies, were busy places. The places were surrounded by photographers and some of the best press representatives of the country. All official bulletins issued by Secretary Cortelyou were anxiously awaited, and visiting dignitaries and othawaited, and visiting dignitaries and others were closely questioned. It was, indeed, a hard strain for those watching for and filing news matter to inform the country and the world of the president's condition. The restaurants were not easily gotten to, the nearest being two blocks, and many men skipped meals rather than risk losing any important bulletins. Saturday morning the board of domestic science opened a lunch table at the rear of the press tents, where coffee and sandwiches were gratultously and sandwiches were gratultously served.

After the message of death had been wired to the awaiting public, the next interesting bulletin was to be the arrangements. Soon a report was given out that Vice President Roosevelt had arrived in town. After a short call at the Milburn house he returned to the house of his friend, Mr. Ansley Wilcox, at 641 Delaware avenue. The parlor at the Wilcox house being small Mr. Roosevelt at first ordered that but three repat off Delaware avenue. The parior at the Wilcox house being small Mr. Roosevelt at first ordered that but three representatives of the press be admitted. But after a few moments the request was recalled, about twenty press men being present. The parlor was dark and the short inaugural very sad and impressive, probably not over sixty persons being present. The president stood at the outer door as we passed out and received our congratulations and shook hands with each of us. The crowd was all the time increasing in the street, aithough a heavy military and police guard were present.

Sunday witnessed the private funeral at the Milburn house on Delaware avenue, after which a military and naval parade was formed, which proceeded slowly to city hall. The hall was constantly filled with rapidly passing peo-slowly to city hall. The hall was constantly filled with rapidly passing people,—about 100,000 passed in the few hours. The floral tributes were well arrayed about the casket, which rested in the centre of the main passage, guarded by police, military and naval watchers.

Monday morning the same guard accompanied the body to the depot. The train was in readiness and without delay the funeral party embarked for Washington.

Washington.
From here I go to Montreal via the Thousand islands, hoping to complete an eventful holiday tour. Very truly,
F. Alex. Chandler.

THE HOME GOLD CURE.

An Ingenious Treatment by Which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.

No Noxious Doses. No Weakening of the Nerves. A Pleasant and Positive Cure for the Liquor Habit.

It is now generally known and understood that Drunkenness is a disease and not weakness. A body filled with poison, and nerves completely shattered by periodical or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxicants. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "HOME GOLD CURE" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. The faithful use according to directions of study and treatment of inebriates. The faithful use according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker. Our records show the marvelous transformation of thousands of Drunkards into sober, industrious and upright men. WIVES CURE YOUR HUSBANDS!! into sober, industrious and upright men, WIVES CURE YOUR HUSBANDS!!
CHILDREN CURE YOUR FATHERS!!
This remedy is in no sense a nostrum but a specific for this disease only, and is so skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it. Thousands of Drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made temperate men by having the "CURE" administered by loving friends and relatives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe today that they discontinued of their own free will. DO NOT WAIT. Do not be deluded by apparent and misleading "improvement." Drive out the disease at once and for all time. The "HOME GOLD CURE" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within reach of everybody a treatment more effectual than others costing $25 and $50. Full directions accompany each package. Special advice by skilled physicians when requested without extra charge. Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of One Dollar, Address Dept. B 680 EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia, All correspondence strictly confidential.

B. SWENSEN. INTERIOR PAINTER.

Ceiling, Enameling and Hardwood Finishing a Specialty. All kinds of work done in a first-class manner.

Resident of Arlington 12 years. Best of references given.

IN AN OLD BOOKSTALL.

Here for a song you may command Old books, well thumbed and hoary; Along the grimy walls they stand, Tomes of immortal story.

And out of reach, on loftier shelves, Beyond our small ambitions And slender purse, dwell by themselves The costlier "first editions."

There let them rest till Crosus comes: Content to banquet on the crumbs, The one that bears the marks of use, Back broken, worn and shattered, is dearer that its leaves are loose, Tends these dead things in leather And sheep and cloth and parchment-all Close sepulchered together, And few, alas, besides ourselves Who prowl about the portals Seek out along the dusty shelves The names of these immortals.

Here where the city's life goes by. Where wheel and wagon rumble, Wrapped in their cerements they lie, The lofty and the bumble. Come bright, immortal flashes; Their spirits into being leap
From out their crumbling ashe

They are not dead, these silent tomes, They die not, save in seeming; Far from these bookish catacombs They fill the world with dreaming, And each that some small message gives Or makes for high endeavor Puts off mortality, but lives

And works its will forever!

The HIGHLAND ୪୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦୦ LOVERS 🔊

The sun had sunk behind Ben Nevis' towering triple peak, and the mountain cast a deep shadow over the castle of Inverlochy and far out upon the placid blue waters of Lochiel.

A merry group of highland lads and lasses were congregated upon the green-sward before the castle's walls, threading with joyous steps the mazes of the dance, to the inspiring notes of the shrill bag-

All was mirth and glee, when an untoward accident disturbed the harmony of the scene. A band of highlanders descended the mountain pass, driving before them a herd of cattle. A bull, shaggy and untamed, broke from the herd and with a ferocious bellow dashed toward the circle of dancers.

With shrill cries they broke up their sport and fled in all directions. The infuriated animal singled out one fair girl, probably attracted by her scarf, the prevailing color of which was red, and closely pursued her.

Though fear lent her wings, the mad beast gained upon her. He was close at her heels, his head leveled for the plunge, when a tall highlander sprang before the flying girl, grasped the bull by the horns and, with a dexterous movement, hurled the huge animal upon its back. Ere it could rise to its feet again the drovers. who had been swarming to the rescue of the girl, bound it securely with cords. When goaded to its feet again, the bull moaned plaintively and looked around bewildered and subdued by its rough tum-

The villagers of Inverlochy thronged around the man who had performed this great feat of muscular strength, and the fair girl he had saved timidly thanked her deliverer. They all gazed curiously upon him, for it was now perceived that he did not wear the tartan of the Campbells and was a stranger.

He was a boy in years, not over twenty, and yet fully developed, standing full 6 feet 4 inches in height, clad in highland costume, which displayed his well proportioned form to great advantage, and wearing an eagle's feather in his bonnet, the symbol of a chief. His target, or shield, "round as the moon," covered with ox hide and studded with brass knobs, hung around his neck. The hilt of a huge two handed claymore peeped from under his left arm, and a long dirk rested in the sheath upon his right thigh. Clad in this picturesque garb, with long, flowing locks of light brown hair, a ruddy complexion and a bright blue eye, he was a fine type of those ancient warriors of the Gael whom the bard Ossian has immortalized

"What is thy name, pretty lassie?" he asked the girl, when she had thanked him for the good service and stolen a glance of admiration at the frank, open face and stalwart form of her preserver.

"I am called Annie of Lochiel," she answered timidly, yet with a sweet smile that had a strange fascination for the young highlander, who found it impossi-ble to withdraw his gaze from that winning face.

'Are you a Cameron of the Clan Lochiel?" he asked eagerly and with interest. "Not she!" broke in one of the men of Inverlochy, who wore the badge of an under chief. "She is a Campbell, and we call her Annie of Lochiel because she was born by yonder water. Her mother was a McLean; she died when Annie was an infant. Her father was Duncan Campbell, laird of Morven, and he was slain by the Gordons of Huntley in the raid of There's her history in a nutshell. I that tell it to you am Malcolm MacPhie, captain of Inverlochy, and now, my braw gillie, who are you?

The highlander reared his tall form with haughty pride as he replied: "I am Alaster MacDonald, son of Collof-the-left-hand, chieftain of Mingarry and Kintyre." A buzz went around the circle at these words. The MacDonalds were a bold and warlike clan, and Coll-of-the-lefthand was not unknown to fame. "I have heard of the chieftain of Kinreturned Malcolm MacPhie, "but why do they call him 'of the left hand?'"

"Faith, I know not," answered Alaster carelessly, "unless it be that he can wield his claymore as well with the left hand as with the right." A murmur of admiration greeted this announcement. Strength of limb and skill in arms were considered great virtues in those warlike days.

"Come, Alaster," cried Malcolm, his heart won by the bold bearing of the young highlander. "Thou hast preserved our fairest maiden from a cruel death. Bide with me in Inverlochy for a few days and taste the hospitality of our ancient castle."

"There is no feud between our clans," returned Alaster, "and I accept your of-

They entered the castle together.

Malcolm MacPhie had cause to rue the hospitality which had induced him to invite the young highland chieftain to enter the walls of Castle Inverlochy. It soon became apparent to others besides himself that the bold Alaster had found favor in the eyes of pretty Annie of Loch iel. A strong affection seemed to have arisen at the first meeting of this young pair, an affection which their eyes were not slow to confess and which was revealed in eloquent glances. Malcolm had detected more than one of these glances as he dispensed the hospitality of the castle, and he resolved in his own mind that Alaster should not bide long at Inverlochy. He prevented all chances of conversation between them until it was time for Annie to retire for the night. He then invited Alaster to walk with him upon the battlements and pointed out the strength of the castle.

A taper gleamed from a low turreted window that looked out upon the parapet. "Who occupies you chamber?" asked Alaster. "Annie of Lochiel," replied Malcolm.
"A winsome lassie," responded Alaster warmly. "I would I could persuade her to go with me into the land of Kintyre and become the mistress of Castle Mingarry. It would glad the heart of Collof-the-left-hand to welcome so fair a daughter." "That can never be," returned Malcolm quickly, with an angry flush. "Annie is the ward of Sir Donald Campbell of Auchinbreck, my chief and kinsman. Seek another bride, Alaster MacDonald, for Annie is to be my wife." Alaster's eyes were fixed upon the little window as he listened to these words, and he saw a fair face appear there. An energetic shake of the head said very plain-"No, no!" to Malcolm's assertion, and the fair vision disappeared.

"I wish you joy," replied Alaster, with a quiet smile. "Happy will be the man who calls the lovely Annie his." A white hand was waved for an moment from the casement and quickly withdrawn. Alaster was understood and answered. Malcolm was totally unconscious of this novel courtship.

"A rare place this for an escalade," said Alaster, leaning over the parapet and pointing to a spur of Ben Nevis that reared its craggy head almost on a level with the battlements.

"For a goat, yes," answered Malcolm disdainfully. "No human being could disdainfully. "No human being could scale you cliff. Look at the distance. It is twelve feet from the battlement, with a yawning abyss between. An enemy will never enter Inverlochy from that quar-"A lover might scale yonder cliff to speak with his sweetheart," returned Alaster carelessly, "and he would think lightly of the danger for the boon of one sweet smile." "And break his neck for his pains," answered Malcolm with a laugh. the night is nearly spent, and you are welcome to a share of a soldier's couch." They left the battlements without further words and descended to Malcolm's In the morning early Alaster departed, for he had no excuse to prolong his stay. and Malcolm MacPhie drew a long breath of satisfaction when he saw the stalwart form of the young highlander disappear up the glen. That night when the moon veiled her silvery face behind the towering head of old Ben Nevis Annie of Lochiel wandered pensively upon the battlements of Inverlochy, gazing ever and anon upon the craggy platform that jutted out from the mountain's side. A tall form emerged from the shadows tious tones, bending over the parapet. "I am not a goat," answered Alaster with a gleesome laugh, "but it is even I, Alaster, fair Annie."

"Alaster?" whispered the maid in cau-and advanced to the edge of the cliff.

"How brave you are!" cried the maid involuntarily. "You have undergone this danger to see me once again?"

"You know right well what brings me here. Annie, I love you. Short as our acquaintance has been, you have enslaved my heart. I have scant time for wooing. it will be to become the wife of Malcolm MacPhie. Fly with me to the land of Kintyre and share a chieftain's home.'

"Alaster, I would willingly fly with thee to escape the dreaded fate that awaits me here, but how can I escape? Malcolm MacPhie has watched me closely all the day"-'Aye, and he watches thee now!" cried Malcolm, suddenly emerging upon the battlement. Fickle jade! Didst think to outwit me?"

Annie uttered a faint shriek of despair. "Leap, Annie, leap!" cried Alaster in sharp, ringing tones. "The space is narrow-spring boldly from the parapet-thy lover's arms await thee!"

Scarcely conscious what she did-impelled by desperation and that instinctive feeling of obedience which true love prompts—Annie avoided the grasp of the exasperated Malcolm, ran a few steps upon the parapet and leaped boldly across the yavning void. Malcolm paused aghast. He expected to hear her death shriek and the dull sound of her form as it struck the rocks beneath. But he heard only a cry of joy and saw Annie twining her arms around Alaster's neck, while his clasped her in safety to his breast. To this day the curious traveler who visits the old gray ruins of Inverlochy is shown the spot from which Annie sprang, and that part of the battlement still bears the name of the "Maiden's Leap."

Alaster and Annie disappeared in the gloom, and Malcolm hastened to alarm the castle and urge a hot pursuit. But who could follow the bold highlander as he leaped lightly from crag to crag, bearing his precious burden in his arms? Pursuit was unavailing; the fugitives could not be found, and Malcolm Mac-Phie returned sullenly to Inverlochy, swearing a deep and bloody vengeance. There was high feasting in the land of Kintyre, and Castle Mingarry opened its hospitable gates so that all of the Clan Donald might witness the nuptials of Annie of Lochiel and Alaster, their young Coins and Odors.

Coins fresh from the mint have no mell, but after they have been in circulation for a short time they emit a characteristic odor. Why is this?

Metals do not give forth an odor of themselves, or, at any rate, not one that can be detected in the state in which we generally handle them. The smell, as a matter of fact, is due to the chemical action of the acids that exude from our hands. Take a bronze coin, clean it and lay it on a clean surface in the air: it will emit no smell. Handle it for a minute or so, and you will detect the familiar odor of pennies and half pennies. Silver has a different odor from copper after han-

Aluminium. tin and zinc will emit the same kind of smell when rubbed with the hand, but this is not like the smell of bronze or copper, which, again, are dishe.

—London Telegraph.

THE FIRST CAMERA.

INFORMATION FOR ASPIRING AMA-TEUR PORTRAIT MAKERS.

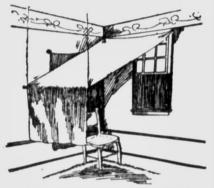

How to Get a Good Light Indoors. Clever Manipulation of a Curtain Does the Whole Business-Concerning a Proper Pose.

One of the special pleasures of amateur photography is the taking of portraits of friends and members of one's own family. Snapshots out of doors are all right in their way, but the ambitious young photographer will not be content without attempting to secure portraits where the lighting and shading of the face are under his own control.

The average amateur, however, labors under the difficulty of not having suitable windows for securing a proper light. The best must be made of the conveniences at hand. A skillful manipulation of curtains will often bring very satisfactory results from what appear to be unpropitious circumstances, says a writer in The Ladies' World. who illustrates, as samples, arrangements of this kind.

The illustrations, he tells us, are given, however, not so much to show hard and fast positions of curtains for securing a well lighted portrait as to furnish suggestions that may be varied to suit the different conditions to be found in different houses.

The common trouble in portraits taken near a window in one's home is too high a light on one side of the face and too deep shadows on the other. The first cut shows how the light entering the window lights up not only the side of the face toward the window, but is thrown down in some degree upon the top of the head and reflected back upon the side of the face in shadow, removing too great a blackness in the latter. The curtain can be raised or lowered until the light appears just right. The second cut shows another way to arrange this curtain so as to get the reflected light a little upon the top of the head and quite strongly reflected upon the side of the face in shadow.

FOR A WELL LIGHTED PORTRAIT.

Where the light is very strong, from a window, perhaps, upon the sunny side of the house, it may be necessary to use a dark curtain over the lower half of the window. The overhead curtain is of white cloth, while the background curtain may be either dark or light to suit the dress of the sitter or the light that may be thrown upon the sitter's face.

A window on the north side of the house, if large enough, will give the best light, but interior arrangements may make it necessary to use one on the sunny side. In this case control the entrance of the light by curtainsthin white ones to keep out direct sun My presence here may be discovered at rays and dark half curtains to keep any moment. If you bide in Inverlochy, out too strong a light of indirect sun ides in a well balanced combination of light and shadow. The proper handling of the curtains once established for any given window, there will be much less need of experiment in subsequent trials.

Study the lighting of the sitter's face by changing the curtains to different

WITH A STRONG REFLECTED LIGHT.

The lighting of the subject being arranged, it now remains to the amateur photographer to give the proper posing to the sitter. What positions are most artistic? Will a profile bring more artistic results, or will a full face be more effective? To the photographic mind there is always a perfection to be striven for, an ideal photograph, where the lights and shadows blend in one harmonious whole.

The Modern Doilies.

The modern housekeeper delights in doilies. She now collects these exquisite bits of fine linen with the same enthusiasm with which she once collected souvenir spoons.

The three kinds of doilles most used today are the tumbler, finger bowl and plate doily.

The average size for the tumbler doily is 4 by 5 inches, the finger bowl doily 6 inches in diameter and the plate dolly either 10 or 12 inches. The most exquisite doilles have centers of the sheerest linen and an edge of duchesse lace. Other fine doilles have a border of point de venise. The crepon lace for doilies is also much used and is decidedly pretty in effect. The lace doilles are the best style at present. Doilies embroidered in colors are but seldom

If possible, never fold doilles and centerpleces. Let them each have in the linen closet a separate box for their exclusive keeping which is large enough to hold them unfolded.-House-

ONE ROOM MADE TWO.

An Arrangement of Special Interest

In Light Housekeeping. When one must make a single room do double or treble duty, as often occurs in light housekeeping, an excellent idea suggested in The Household will come into play. Have a set of shelves built by a carpenter as high and long as needed to answer your purpose. These are to be placed at right angles with the wall, as shown by the sketch, the bookcase on one side and a divan seat with pillows arranged on the other side.

Quite a large screen can be formed in this way, especially if a second bookcase is added or another one placed at right angles with the first, thus fencing off a portion of the room for the bed and toilet appointments.

The shelves need not necessarily be used for books on the bedroom side; they may be utilized the same as bureau drawers if a curtain is hung before them to exclude the dust.

The seats arranged on the other side of the shelves may be common wooden boxes covered with denim or other cotton material, the seat formed by the cover of the box to be stuffed with cotton batting.

These boxes will be found very useful for eking out closet room, which is limited when one is living in rooms or boarding.

New Wedding Idea.

At a pretty country wedding celebrated last week the plazzas and lawn were beautifully decorated with hydrangeas, which the extensive gardens of the bride's home furnished in unusual profusion, says the New York Post. The altar arranged at one end of the parlor was beautifully decorated and bowered with the same blooms mingled with ferns and evergreens. Bunches of the blossoms stood in large jars and vases in the spacious hall and banked the great fireplace. When the newly wedded pair started away in the late afternoon, the guests lined the way from the house to the entrance gate of the grounds, every one provided with hydrangeas, and through this lane of pelting flowers the bridal carriage was driven. It was a poetic and picturesque change from the usual rice shower.

Banana Diet For Dyspepsia.

An exchange tells of the success of a banana diet in a case of nervous dyspepsia, where the patient, a woman, grew so thin as to be perilously near the danger line in weight. The diet was varied within the limit o as a base. The fruit was baked and served hot or prepared as a cold jelly. was served in fritters, and biscuits made of banana flour were eaten. It was found the delicately cooked banana was at first the more acceptable; but, as the woman thrived under the treatment, perfectly ripe bananas were freely eaten raw. Many food specialists consider that this fruit contains valuable nutritive elements in an easily assimilated form. If eaten raw, to be digestible it must be used when thoroughly ripe, but not in the least over-

Novel Way to Serve Clam Chowder. At a small beach party the other day, says the New York Post, clam chowder was included in the menu. One of the three cottage housekeepers who served the supper had the happy thought to get from the neighboring bakery a quantity of common milk rolls. From each one of these, with a fork, she removed all the inside crumb, crisped the shells in the oven and when supper was served filled each roll cup with hot, thick clam chowder. The rapid disappearance of the combination testified to the appreciation of its excellence.

Autumn Sporting Dress. Dresses which the fashion plates and shops designate as for the mountains, for shooting, fishing and other pur-

GOLF COSTUME—SHOOTING COSTUME poses are in fact in many cases only just sensible costumes which make excellent walking dresses for fall and winter, being both short and plain.

The golf costume shown is a prevailing style and can be carried out in any of the usual materials. The shooti garb is in light brown checked tweed.

THE ENTERPRISE.

WILSON PALMER, . . . Editor. Telephone 301-2.

[Entered as Second-Class Matter.]

Saturday, September 28, 1901

THE ENTERPRISE IS FOR SALE IN ARLINGTON BY:

Arlington News Co., Postoffice Bldg. Arlington. Frank R. Daniels, 606 Mass. avenue, Arlington. Ars. Margaret Deane, 55 Park avenue, Heights.

H. P. Longley, Elevated waiting room, J. C. McDonald, L. & B. waiting room, Heights, Edward I. McKenzie, B. & M. station, Heights.

OUR ARLINGTON POLICE.

We have no apologies to offer that we so frequently write of our Arlington po-We recognize what all Arlington so cheerfully recognizes, that our police force is competent and faithful in its every duty. But the town has been slow to put into practical and substantial form its appreciation of the above fact.

For instance, that member of our police force who has during the night-time the personal care of the police rooms, is compelled at the same time to patrol his district. Now, as no one man can be in two places at one and the same time, then it goes without saying that the same policeman cannot be at the police headquarters during the night to answer calls and at the same time make the rounds of his beat. What shall be done to remedy this difficulty? The reply to this query is an easy one. Add another member at once to the police force. It must be remembered that our police headquarters serve, too, as a temporary hospital. To it are conveyed all those in this neighborhood meeting with accident or with death by accident. During this present summer there has been an unusual number of these unfortunates taken to the police rooms. And yet the police has no ambulance for those who need the most tender care. What shall be done, it may be asked, other than what is already being done? Our answer is, let the town lose no time in purchasing an ambulance wagon for the use of our police force. It can hardly be explained why the town has not before this provided Chief Harriman and those associated with him with such a wagon. It must not be forgotten that Arlington is growing, so that she is constantly demanding a larger outlay in every department of her material interests. lington cheerfully, erects new school buildings for her increasing number of children, and she does not hesitate to meet the demands of her highways, and so on in other departments of her growth, save the police department.

We shall not soon forget the withholding of that three hundred dollars by the town, when, at the last annual town meeting. Chief of Police Harriman asked for the above modest sum for the better patrol of Arlington Heights of a Sunday, during the summer months. Now let Arlington right about face in relation to the generous and necessary equipment of our police force. Add forthwith to its numbers and give the force an ambulance wagon. Let the force have the means to do with, then we shall hear less frequently of irregularities perpetrated in the town. It oughtn't to be possible that a house in our midst should be occupied during the summer months by a tramp family, and that an aged and defenceless woman should be made the object of an outrageous assault in her own home, and this too in the broad light of day. We have an efficient police force, but it can be only in one place at the same time. Add to its numbers, and to its means of doing, then will you bave added to its efficiency.

IT DID US GOOD.

It did us good to drop down in Arlington for a few days the past week. The first call we made was, as a matter of course, at the office of the Arlington Enterprise, where we found the manager of this live and up-to-date sheet, Mr. A. E. Seagrave, at his desk, making his pen fly and his typewriting machine fairly hum. We love the Arlington Enterprise, and why shouldn't we? We were present in spirit at its birth, although bodily we were two hundred miles distant. We wrote its first editorial, and we have been writing editorially ever since for its columns, so we feel ourselves, and rightfully so, a part of the Arlington Enterprise. There is nothing being left undone for the Enterprise from the live manager, down, Its news columns contain the latest, and its editorials are for the most part of local interest. So we say again, "take the Enterprise." It seemed good to be at our own desk again where we hope soon to be permanently. And then it was a pleasure to run about Arlington once more, and meet some of the old friends. Their cordial handshake and "Glad to see you back again" did us good "like a medicine." Say what we may, there are no friends like the old friends, and there is no spot on earth like home. So we still sing of Arlington, While there we called upon Mr. Jackson G. Dodge, who is now completing his eighty-nine years of life. And yet in spite of his many years, he retains an immortal youth in all that is of current interest. His venerable form may be seen almost daily making its way to Robbins library. Mr. Dodge keeps himself fully abreast with the latest and the best in all current literature. Such a man as he never grows old, for he is daily born anew. It is always a delight for us to call upon him, for he never fails to instruct and entertain us.

And then there is the Hon. William E. Parmenter, nearly or quite eighty-five years old, who makes his way daily to his court in Boston, of which he is the distinguished judge. Mr. Parmenter is rightfully recognized as the father of the present school system in Arlington. Arlington is indeed a good place in which to live. There is a tonic in her atmosphere which insures the more than three score years and ten. Yes, Arlington is a good old town, and we love her.

WHAT NEXT?

Now that the remains of another assassinated president has been laid to rest, it may well be asked, what next?

It is all too evident that something must he done that the lives of those high in official position shall be made safe from the deadly shot of those who recognize no law. While this country of ours is the home of the free and the asylum of the oppressed, it does not, therefore, necessarily follow that the American people cannot restrict immigration. In our definition of liberty we have overdone the matter. We have practically said to the world, you may send us your paupers, your men and women all unlettered, those of your number who have not the remotest idea of that liberty regulated by law, and so it is that we are receiving from foreign shores the most dangerous classes of the old world. Our immigration laws should be modified and restricted. This we have done in relation to Chinese immigration, so why not legislate on this line in reference to other nationalities? The American people have themselves to blame for most of this riff-raff that is flooding us with the very scum of those beyond the waters. Our politicians in their mad hunt for office have given every encouragement to the immigrant, for they have desired his vote; and then when he has landed upon our shores no time has been lost in putting the ballot into his hands. It is high time that we, as a nation, take a second thought of all that pertains to clean politics. That liberty which does not secure to its possessor the absolute right to his property and the safety of his life, is hardly worth the having. Congress will be derelict of its manifest duty, if it does not at its approaching session so legislate that the foreigner coming to our shores will be compelled to answer such requirements of our national laws, that shall promise us an additional intelligent and law-abiding citizen.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

It was only the other day that we visited the Russell school and learned much of interest concerning the immediate outlook of our schools. We found Supt. Sutcliffe brown as a berry and alive all through, after his summer outing among the mountains, for be it known that Mr. Sutcliffe has climbed many a time to the very tip-top of Mt. Washington during the summer months just passed, so that he has taken in a more extended view of things, while he has breathed in the pure, living ozone on the heights where it is generated. while he has drunk in those living spring waters that not only sustain life, but which beget life anew. Supt. Sutcliffe comes to his school work bringing the mountains with him, so his large and increased number of pupils are bound to catch something of his inspired life. The public schools of Arlington are in a most promising condition. With an able corps of teachers, and with an intelligent and good natured patronage, we may expect for the coming year the best educational results. There is no town in near vicinity to Boston which pays her school taxes more readily than does Arlington. She manifests a just oride in her schools, and in her commodious school buildings.

Arlington to the front, say we, in all that relates to the education of our boys and girls. We are in no danger so long as we keep the schoolhouse and the church edifice well in sight.

COME TO THE MOUNTAINS. Do come to the mountains if only for a day, while the varied tints of the autumn time are glorifying these magnificent heights. The days are well nigh perfect days. Now it is that you may hear "the still small voice in autumn's hush" at the foot of the mountains. while you may well imagine "yon maple wood, the turning bush." He must be dead, indeed, and beyond all hope of a resurrection who can look out upon of field and wood. and impending heights, clothed in the crimson and the gold, and yet remain unmoved. All the glories of earth and sky are telling of that Infinite Artist whose pencillings are beyond and above the power of mortal man to describe. Our cordial and earnest invitation goes out this morning to every reader of the Enterprise, to become at once a royal guest of the grand old mountains, and so behold the infinite and delicate shading of the autumn time. O, these days, who can fitly describe them? And who can set to words the sunset melody of the kind that are well fed and neurished, are the kind that we select for our butchering. They are always in the best health, and this meat is the tenderest and most nutritious. That is why our beef, mutton, lamb, etc., are the best.

WELL FAVORED CATTLE

C. H. STONE & SON. Cor. Mass. and Park Aves. Arlington Heights. Telephone 131-4 Arlington.

FRANK J. HOLLAND. Engraving.

12 Sylvia St., Arlington Heights. Box 68,

ARLINGTON HARNESS CO. HORSE HARNESS STABLE CLOTHING SADDLERY OUTFITS

> 448 Massachuetts Avenue, ARLINGTON.

ARLINGTON LOCALS, ELECTRIC

Miss Florence Dodge and Miss Clarissa Harris left Boston on the steamship Commonwealth, Wednesday, for a two months' trip abroad. They will visit relatives in England and will also spend a few weeks in France. Monday evening a company of between 20 and 30 friends paid them a farewell reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris, of Prescott street. There were refreshments, and a social time was had. The family of F. B. Thompson, 16 The family of F. B. Thompson, 16 Palmer street, were disturbed about 7.30 Monday evening by an attempted burglary. All of the family were at supper with the exception of Mrs. Thompson, who was in her room on the second floor. She heard a noise at the window, and saw a man just attempting to raise the screen. It is thought her movements when she saw him frightened the wouldwhen she saw him frightened the wouldwhen she saw him hightened the would be robber, and he made good his escape, though pursued by members of the fam-liy. He is described as dark complex-loned, stocky build, medium height and wore a black cap and a close-fitting black suit. Several attempts at burglary have been made in this same sec-tion of late, and Chief Harriman is mak-ing a thorough investigation. There is no clew to the fellow's identity.

clew to the reliew's identity.

Circle lodge, A. O. U. W., visited Lexington Tuesday evening, as the guests of Independence lodge, of that place.

Mrs. James H. Coulter, of Massachusetts avenue, left Monday morning on a visit to the Buffalo exposition.

Ellis G. Wood is to enter the Massa-chusetts Institute of Technology this fall for a course connected with mechan-ical and electrical work.

J. T. Barry, the barber formerly employed at the shops of J. F. Ronco and ployed at the snops of J. F. Ronco and J. E. Langen, has purchased the barber shop at the junction of Broadway and Massachusetts avenue, opposite the sol-diers' monument. He has had it thor-oughly repovated and has made many Albert Hilliard, captain of the Arlington high school football team, fractured his right forearm Monday afternoon in one of the first practice games of the one of the first practice games of the season. He and several others of the team were engaged in improving them-selves in the fine arts of the game and selves in the fine arts of the game and Louis Moore was selected to do the tackling. Hilliard made a rush and was met by Moore, and in the mixup which followed both fell to the ground. Hilliard fell with his right arm under him and it was caught in such a manner as to fracture it in two places. He was taken to the office of Dr. Hooker, of Pleasant street, who set the fracture Young Hilliard is a son of R. Walter Hilliard, of Gray and Jason streets. He is about 16 years of age.

Despite the accident to Albert Hilliard. the Arlington high school football team continues to practice daily, and is get-ting in good trim for the coming sea-

Chester Hall, of Pleasant street, a young school boy, sprained his neck and injured a finger while playing football early this week.

E. F. Donnellan has just completed a large contract of renovating antique fur-niture and upholstering some of it. He has also been altering and repairile some very expensive Persian rugs for a large Boston concern.

A number of the local stores have berun closing Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week at 6.30 o'clock, keeping open the other evenings.

Wetherbee Bros. have been given a rating in the official automobile blue book as a first class auto station.

Herbert H. Yeames is visiting at Erie Beach, Ontario, and taking in Buffalo and the Pan-American exposition. "Jud" Langen has opened a pool room next door to his barber shop.

MIGRATING BIRDS.

During this fine September weather here are days when the sky is without cloud, yet if our eyes could penetrate the clear blue, we should see flock after flock of birds sweeping over the ethereal highway toward the south. If the sound of the myriad wings were united in a single wave, with what a rush would it strike upon our ears! Even the darkness does not interrupt their flight, for they continue on the wing until sunrise. The first rays are a signal for breakfast, and flying down, they hover over the fields, among the trees and bushes, feasting on insects and ripened seeds. Then once more they ascend, until far above the reach of the most powerful field glass they continue their flight, not alighting again until late afternoon.

Many robins, red-winged blackbirds. he clear blue, we should see flock Many robins, red-winged blackbirds, and king-birds are visiting the sea-coast and salt marshes, where they are in mixed flocks scattered through the ry that have been dwarfed and malformed by sea-breezes. The glossy coats of the blackbirds have become a dull brown; the king-birds are dingy lookof the blackbirds have become a dull brown; the king-birds are dingy looking and stupid, and the song of the robin no longer breaks the stillness of the woods, announces the clearing of the storm, or sweeps in minor cadence through the twilight. Nature now appeals to his epicurean propensities, and he is only on the alert for feasting. The warbiers are in their first plumage after moulting, olive above and yellowish white beneath, so that it is difficult to distinguish one from another. While in the meadows we hear a sound like the whistling of teals' wings, but upon glancing up, instead of a passing flock of blue or green-winged teal, we are surrounded by innumerable chimney swallows. We think of the golden robin or Baltimore oriole in connection with early summer, when the apple and pear trees are in bloom, but though their flashing plumage no longer attracts the eye, the birds are really more numerous the first part of September than at or Baltimore oriole in connection with early summer, when the apple and pear trees are in bloom, but though their flashing plumage no longer attracts the eye, the birds are really more numerous the first part of September than at any other time. Sir Baltimore is then dressed in soft dull brown and yellow, and flits among the tops of the tallost trees in search of caterpillars and beetles. His autumn notes are much less musical than those we heard while gardening in June.

As the bobolink flies south he passes a gauntlet of disasters, and when he reaches his destination, is apt to be slaughtered in the marshes and rice fields. The birds are shot by boys or negroes, and then sold to the hotel keepers and epicures, who like a string of reed-birds, as they are called. Any one who has listened to the liquid notes of the bobolink while going through a meadow, would not relish eating him, however well cooked. It is as barbarous as using a flute for a toasting fork. We hear the thin lisping notes of the cedar birds as they fly through the air in crowded flocks. Most of the smaller birds scatter more or less while flying, but cedar birds keep together as close as possible without interfering with the free play of their wings. They live on wild fruit, especially the glossy clusters of ripe chokecherries.

Hairbirds are seen silently hopping about the lawn looking for seeds. The meadow larks are among the hills hunting grasshoppers and crickets, and when disturbed fly low to another part of the field and continue their feast. Along the roadside or in the weedy gardens, the song and vesper sparrows congregate, while the fox-colored and white-throated sparrows feast in the berry patches near the wood. The upland plovers haunt the open pastures and meadowland. They are not the true plovers, and their long bills, legs and wings, with heads small in proportion to the rest of the body connect them with the sand peep family. Their pale brown plumage is the same color as the dry grass. It is pleasant to hear the plover's clear, m

GAS ROBBINS LIBRARY, ARLING-

Now is the time to have your lights looked after for the Winter season. If your electric lights burn dimly call at this store and exchange old lamps for new ones.

We have a fine line of Portable Gas and Electric Table Lamps.

Gas Mantles, all kinds and Electric Novelties. We make a specialty of Refinishing Gas and Electric Fixtures.

Arlington, Mass. 474 Mass. Avenue. Telephone Connection.

Our Motto: "Quality, not Quantity."

WETHERBEE BROS., lewelers and Cycle Dealers,

480 MASSACHUSETTS AVE., ARLINGTON. Telephone Connection.

WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, Eyeglasses and Spectacles. Fine Watch, Clock, Jewelry and Optical Repairing. All work guaranteed.

NEW AND SECOND HAND Bicyles. Fine Repairing. Tires Vulcanized in a First-class Manner. Lawn Mowers, Scissors and Knives Ground.

Automobile Station 🦇 Weltch's Market.

Groceries and Provisions

941 Massachusetts Ave., Arlington. Telephone Connection, 21353.

Cut Flowers, Funeral Designs, Decorations.

W. W. Rawson's

Corner Medford and Warren Streets, Arlington.

GEO. D. MOORE, Licensed Auctioneer for Middlesex County, and President Arlington Co-operative Bank.

OFFICE AT CO-OPERATIVE BANK, 624 MASS. AVE., ARLINGTON. Residence, 138 Broadway.

E. F. DONNELLAN, Upholsterer & Cabinet Maker

Furniture, Mattresses, Window Shades, Awnings and Draperies made to order. Antique Furniture Repaired and Polished. Furniture Repaired. Carpets Made and Laid.

Mail orders promptly attended to.

442 Massachusetts Ave., Arlington.

EDUCATIONAL. Elmhurst Day and Boarding School

High School, Preparatory, Grammar, Primary and Kindergarten Classes, Oct. 1st. 1901, to June 6th, 1902.

A Public Kindergarten class will be started Oct. 1, 1901. Fee for materials, fifteen dollars per year in advance. Courses preparatory to first and second primary grades.

Address Miss Elizabeth K. Vander Veer, 220 Park Ave., Arlington Heights, Mass.

MISS K. T. McGRATH, Dressmaker.

456 Mass. Ave. Arlington.

Odd Lot of Men's Shoes For Sale Cheap. $3.50 and $3.00 for $3.50 and $3.00 for $1.00 At L. C. TYLER'S, PUBLIC DOCUMENTS AND PAM-PHLETS RECEIVED. Connecticut.

Bureau of labor statistics, 1900.
President of Yale university, 1900-01.
Yale university. Summer school of forestry, 1901.

TON.

Illinois

Index to volumes of proceedings National Teachers' association, 1867'70, and the National Educational association, 1871-97.

Massachusetts.

Annotated catalogue of pictures and casts in the Bigelow schoolhouse, Newton.

Anti-Imperialist, Oct. 1, 1900.

Census, 1896, v. 4. Population and social statistics.

Electoral college. Proceedings, Jan. 12, 14, 1901.

Electoral college. Proceedings, Jan. 12, 14, 1901.

Examination of the scheme for engrafting the Colonial system of government upon the U. S. constitution. F. A. Brooks, Institute of Technology.

Annual catalogue, 1900-01.

Inauguration of H. S. Pritchett as president.

Manual for the General Court, 1901.

Records relating to the early history of Boston, containing miscellaneous papers.

Reports.

Reports.
Board of Commissioners of savings Board of Commissioners of savings banks, 1899, Part 1. Board of Education, 1899-1900. Boston Provident association, 1900. Free Public Library Commission, 1901. Hatch Experiment Station of the Agricultural college, Jan., 1901. Managers of the Adams Nervine asylum, 1901. Metropolitan Water Board, Jan. 1, 1901.

Total Abstinence society, 1899, 1900.
Town Officers of Winchester, 1900.
Trustees of the Museum of Fine
Arts, 1899, 1900.
Trustees of the Soldiers' Home at Chelsea, 1900.
State Federation of Women's Clubs.
Manual, 1900-01.

Tufts College.

Tufts College.
Catalogue, 1900-01.
Register of officers of instruction and government and directory of graduates, 1852-1900.
Report of the president, 1899-1900.
Unlawful and unjustifiable conquest of the Filipinos. F. A. Brooks.
New York.
Cornell University. Progress of forest management in the Adirondacks, 1900.
Journal of the Botanical Garden, Dec., 1900.

1900.

Metropolitan Museum of Art. Price list of sculptural plaster casts reproduced from its own collections.

Reports.

Annual meeting of Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, 1900.

Committee on state and municipal taxation of the Chamber of Commerce, Oct. 4, 1900, Jan. 3, May 2, 1901.
Taxation in N. Y. G. F. Seward.
Women's Auxiliary to the Civil Service Reform Association.
Bibliography of civil service reform,

etc. Civil service reform, Marion C. Civil service resorm.

Smith.
"Equal rights for all and the greatest good for the greatest number."

Mrs. B. T. Rice.

Reform of the civil service. Mrs.

Reform of the Reports. 1900, 1901.
Some salient points in civil service reform. Abbie Pearce.

Pa.

Journal of prison discipline and philanthropy. Jan., 1901. University of Pa. catalogue. 1900-01.

Catalogue of Brown University. 1900-

Catalogue of Brown University. 190001.
South Africa.
Perkins, W. O. War in South Africa;
or Boer and Briton.
Schreiner, T. L. Afrikander Bond and other causes of the war.
Black man and the franchise; also,
Natives and liquor in South Africa.
Some aspects of the native question in South Africa.
United States.
Department of Agriculture.
Agricultural grasses and forage plants.
Distribution of agricultural exports,
1894-98.

1894-98. Our foreign trade in agricultural products, 1893-97.
Our trade with Japan, China and Hongkong, 1889-99.
Our trade with Spain, 1888-97.
Sources of agricultural imports, 1894-

98. Spain's foreign trade.

Geological Survey.
Reports. 1882-87, 6 v. 1897-99, 5 v.
Official records of the Union and Confederate navies in the War of the Rebellion. Series 1, v. 11. Reports. Census of Cuba, 1899. Census of Porto Rico, 1899. Commissioner of Education, 1898-99,

v. 2 Commissioner of Labor, 1900, 2 v. Commissioner of Patents, 1900. Interstate Commerce Commission, nterstate Commerce Commission, 1990.

Smithsonian Institution, 1899.
Smithsonian Institution, 1899. National Museum.
Smithsonian Institution, 1897. National Museum. Part 2.
Smithsonian Institution.
Annals of the astrophysical observatory, 1900. V. 1.
National Museum. Directions for collecting and rearing dragon files, stone files and May files.
Proceedings of the National Museum, 1900. V. 22.
Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections.
On the cheapest form of light.
Sept. 28, 1901.

NEW YORK CITY VIA THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD, AND HUD-SON RIVER STEAMERS.

Don't miss an opportunity to visit New York City when the round trip rate is only $5.00. Remember, only one grand annual excursion via the Hoosac Tunnel and Hudson River to New York, Thurs-and Hudson River to New York, Thursday, October 3d, 1901.

A ride through the Hoosac Valley and the Berkshire Hills, through Williamstown and North Adams to Albany down the Hudson river to New York City and back by way of the Fall River line comprises a trip which for pleasure and enjoyment at such a low rate cannot be equalled.

On Thursday October 3d, the December 2d, the Dec

jovment at such a low rate cannot be equalled.
On Thursday, October 3d, the Boston & Maine railroad will run a special train leaving Boston, Union station, at 8.50 a.m., stopping at Ayer at 9.50 a.m., Fitchburg 10.16 a.m., Gardner 10.48 a.m., Athol 11.16 a.m., Orange 11.23 a.m., Miller's Falls 11.41 a.m., Greenfield 12.10 p.m., arriving Albany at 3.40 p.m., Tickets good returning October 4th or 5th.
The trip down the Hudson may be made on either the day or night line steamers, and all persons desiring to remain in New York longer than the time allowed on these tickets, can do so on presenting their ticket with $2.00 at the office of the Fail River line, Pier 19, foot of Warren street.
Tickets will be on sale at Boston, Union station ticket office, and at city ticket office, also at stations mentioned above, after September 25th.

A TRIP THROUGH THE BERKSHIRE HILLS AND A SAIL DOWN THE HUDSON RIVER.

At L. C. TYLER'S,
BANK BUILDING, ARLINGTON.

T. M. CANNIFF,
Hairdresser,
943 Mass. ave., Arlington

JAMES E. DUFFY,
Hair Dresser,
Pool Room Connected.

461 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington.

HILLS AND A SAIL DOWN THE HUDSON RIVER.
A ride through Massachusetts, through the famous Berkshire Hills and the Deerfield Valley, a delightful sail down the Hudson river, and a visit to the great metropolis, New York City, with all of its sights and attractions, is what the Boston & Maine railroad offers in the line of an excursion Thursday, October 3d, 1901, at a round trip rate of $5.
Special train will leave Boston, Union station, at $.65 a.m., stopping at Ayer $9.50 a.m., Fitchburg 10.16 a.m., Grander 10.48 a.m., Athol 11.16 a.m., Orange 11.23 a.m., Miller's Falls 11.41 a.m., Greenfield 12.10 p.m.

The sail down the Hudson may be taken on either the day or night line steamers. The return trip is via the Fall River line, and return tickets are good October 4th or 5th. Persons desiring to remain longer in New York City can do so upon payment of $2.00 extra at the office of the Fall River line, Pier 19, foot of Warren street, New York City.

Price . .

is not the only consideration when ordering printing

Quality . .

is also of some importance, but this Style . .

is an intangible something, the lack of which often defeats the purpose of

Our Work . .

has not only the quality but the style that makes it valuable and keeps it out of the waste basket.

The.....

ENTERPRISE PRINT

STEDMAN & DUNCAN

P. O. Building,

Arlington

GEO. A. LAW, Hack and Livery Stable.

Having practically rebuilt the inside of my stable, and added ten new stalls, I am now prepared to take new boarders. I assure first class beard and right prices. Teams sent and called for.

Mass. Ave., Arlington.

For the Best of Cutlery and Specialties in Hardware

I. B. Hunter & Co. 60 SUMMER STREET.

BOSTON.

Builders' and Hardware

An Upstosdate Hardware Store.

All Mechanics' Tools of the Best Makers and Material.

JAS. A. McWILLIAMS,

House, Sign and Fresco PAINTER.

All orders left with F. R. Daniels will be promptly attended to.

PAPERING & TINTING Shop: Rear 467 Mass, Ave.

Residence: 105 Franklin street. ARLINGTON.

Fresh Fruit and Vegetables are hard to buy unless you know where to buy. For the best buy of

W. K. HUTCHINSON

STORES: 45 PARK AVE., 669 MASS. AVE. ARLINGTON.

J. W. RONCO. HAIR DRESSER

Is Still in the Business. POST OFFICE BUILDING, ARLINGTON.

Dr. G. W. Yale, DENTIST.

At parlors, 14-16 Post-office Building, ARLINGTON.

MY SPECIALTY

Oculists' Prescriptions Compounded.
OPTICAL REPAIRING.

es as low as is consistent with requirem FRED W. DERBY, Refracting Optician,

THE ENTERPRISE.

Telephone, Arlington 301-2.

[Entered as Second-Class Matter.]

Saturday, September 28, 1901.

THE ENTERPRISE IS FOR SALE IN LEXINGTON BY: H. V. Smith, Lexington.
L. A. Austin, P. O., East Lexington.
W. L. Burrill, P. O., North Lexington.

WILL HAVE EFFECT.

The influence of the Republican caucus in Lexington, Wednesday evening, on the political careers of some of the leading townsmen is sure to be felt in the coming campaign. Whether the political advantage gained by the so-called Taylor forces will be permanent or not is still an open question, but some of the leaders of the two factions have been injured politically, while others have been advanced.

The caucus result brings George W Taylor to the front again as a candidate for selectmen without a doubt, if Mr. Taylor will accept, and means another warm contest over the town offices. As next year the representative nomination will go to Lexington by agreement, a warm fight may be antici-

James H. Frizelle, of East Lexington, has been regarded as a candidate for representative and Henry W. Lewis has been spoken of more than a few times. Both these men were on the defeated ticket Wednesday night and may be injured politically thereby. On the other hand George W. Sampson, who may at any time loom up as a candidate was not in the wreck of the so-called Hutchinson forces, and although a strong supporter of that faction was not given a rebuke with the others.

Selectman Hutchinson was saved from being thrown off the town committee because the opposition did not nominate a full ticket and he is therefore still in the circle. Mr. Hutchinson does not consider the overturn a rebuke to himself and will work to the best of his ability on the committee next year and will no doubt turn his bare election to his advantage.

The political fortunes of Edwin A Bayley were certainly favored by the caucus as much if not more than any other man, and his opponents will do well to watch him from now on until the representative contest next year. Meanwhile Representative J. Howell Crosby, of Arlington, will receive another election this fall and in case of a bitter tangle in Lexington over his successor next year, he might fall into a fifth

TO OUR READERS.

The Enterprise desires to print all the news which may be found in Arlington, Lexington or Belmont. It invites the co-operation of its readers at all times, and news received from them will be accepted, provided the Enterprise knows the name of the person sending it. Letters for publication will receive due attention when signed. The name of the writer will be withheld upon request. Letters may be addressed to either the Arlington, Lexington or Belmont offices.

Since the people of Lexington are now accustomed to the stores and markets being closed Thursday afternoons, why not continue the practice through the fall and winter, thereby giving the proprietors, as well as the clerks, a half day of recreation each week?

The political see-saw has landed Mr. Taylor on top again. Who next?

courts between the Whittier Tennis club of Andover and the Old Belfry club was won by Lexington in the singles with a score of 7-5, 6-3, 7-5. In the doubles, Lexington was defeated; score, 5-7, 5-7, 6-4, 7-5, 12-10.

The final game in the Round Robin series between Redman and Stone will be played off today at 3 p.m.

Griswold Tyng commenced his studies at Normal Art school Monday morning.

MOAKLEY'S PHARMACY

Drugs and Medicines.

Chemicals, Sundries, Choice Perfumes, Fine Scaps. CIGARS AND SODAS. Massachusetts Ave. and Waltham St. LEXINGTON.

LEXINGTON LOCALS.

B. L. Bowen is the Enterprise representative in Lexington with an office in the postoffice building. All Lexington correspondence should be addressed, "The Enterprise, Lexington."

The railroad commissioners have is sued an order authorizing the Lexington railway.

The following talent will appear in connection with the presentation of the Passion Play of Oberammergau, by Prof. Timothy Drake, in town hall, Sunday evening: Miss Annette Frizelle, contralto; Miss Annie Brock, soprano; William Cassidy, tenor; Dr. Lon Brine, baritone; Peter F. Damm, first violin; Cornelius O'Connor, second violin; William Reid, Cambridgeport, bass viol; William Moakley, cello; Floriam Record, clarinet; Robert Moakley, cornet; James Hayes, trombone, and a chorus of about twenty voices. With this array of talent, a rare musical treat is assured while the presentation of the Passion Play illustrated by over one hundred views should draw a full house.

Abram Smith has sold his farm on

Abram Smith has sold his farm on Blossom street and is to move into the old Crane estate, corner Forest and Clark streets.

James Burke has been confined to the house with a severe attack of bronchitis, Tuesday for a short visit. He expects to accompany William Green on his annual outing in the Maine woods.

The Lexington & Boston Railway Co. has been relaying the tracks on Bedford

Sunapee.

Charles Austin Butters, son of Frank Charles Austin Butters, son of Frank V. Butters, Massachusetts avenue, was burled Wednesday at 3 p.m., from the residence of his father. Rev. Carleton A. Staples had charge of the services. The deceased died at the hospital in New Haven, Ct., with bright's disease. He was 34 years old and married. Interment was at Lexington cemetery.

vicinity. It was bought in 1675 by will-liam Reed, an ancestor of J. M. Reed, and has never been out of the Reed fam-ily until the present time. There are 9 acres of land with buildings. It is locat-ed on Bradford street. Price was $16,000. Arthur H. Jewett has sold for Abram B. Smith his farm on Waltham and Blossom streets. This farm has been in the Smith family for over 150 years. The buyer is Herbert E. Moseley, a Boston architect, who will occupy.

a few of her friends at her home. Saturday evening. Those present were: Misses Helen French, Lilian N. Morse, Louise C. Pierce, Marjory Houghton and Rosalie Henderson, of Charlestown, Jason Sanford, Irving B. Pierce, Griswold Tyng, Wallace Page, Walworth Tyng and Randail Houghton. Refreshments were served by the hostess and the evening was enjoyed by all.

Miss Gertrude Smith will attend the Gilman school at Cambridge this yea She commenced her studies Thursday.

An alarm from box 54 at 8.30 Tues-An alarm from box 54 at 8.30 Tues-day night called the fire department to a dwelling house owned by John Ryan, on Cedar street. The fire was caused by a lamp upsetting. The owner was pick-ing over grapes in the attic, and acci-dentally overturned the lamp. He started down stairs for some water, but found that for some unknown reason it was down stairs for some water, but found that for some unknown reason it was shut off, so he pulled in the alarm. Before the apparatus arrived, he succeeded in procuring water from the neighbors sufficient to put out the fire. The damage was small, amounting to $25.

The furniture was insured.

Harry P. Bradford, of Somerville, and OLD BELFRY CLUB.

The return game played at the home courts between the Whitter Tennis club of Androve and the Old Belf walk home of the bride, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford was best man. Mr. and Mrs. B will reside in Newton Highlands. Edward Wood returned from the Weirs, N. H., Saturday, after a week's

The big tree in front of the Gould estate was trimmed of its dead limbs Mon-

The consignment of cars for the Lexington & Boston Co, have been unloaded and will-be used on the Woburn and Waltham line, the first car being used Wednesday.

Geo. Gilmore and wife returned Tuesday from Rangeley lakes, after a pleasant outing. Mr. and Mrs. Kelsie Gilmore will remain there a short time

The many friends of Miss Minnie Smith will be pleased to know that she is once more able to be out after being confined to the house for the past two months with rheumatic fever.

Terrence Connors, who was charged with assault on Arthur D. Woodruff, a ought or money advanced upon it. Parties wishing to dispose of any kind of property or ny property appraised in settling estates or otherwise can have me call and see them charge by sending me a postal to call. harge by sending me a postal to call.

A. S. MITCHELL, AUCTIONEER.

Boston Office, 113 Devonshire Street. Telephone 1509 Main. Residence, Hunt Block, Lexington.

You can have your Bicycle Cleaned and Repaired; Your Tires Plugged and Vulcanized; Your Sewing Machine Cleaned and Repaired; Your Lawn Mowers Cleaned and Sharpened;

Your Grass Shears, Household Scissors and Knives Sharpened;

Your Locks Repaired and Keys Fitted; Where? Why! at

FISKE BROS., MASS. AVE., LEXINGTON,

LUMBER...

FOR ALL PURPOSES

Lexington Lumber Co., Telephone 48.

& Boston Street Railway company to issue additional stock to the amount of $75,000, to carry out the terms of its purchase of the Woburn & Boston street

The following talent will appear in but is improving rapidly. Dr. Sherwin Gibbons was in Charles Hadley, sealer of weights and measures, is making his annual visit in street.

Children returned Monday from Lake Sunapee, N. H. Master Harold stopped over at his grandfather's in Concord, N. H., for a few days.

Edward T. Harrington & Co. announce he sale of the J. Morton Reed farm to Ferdinand Sage, of Boston. The farm comprises one of the best estates in this

J. L. Norris has sold his house and ive acres of land on Highland avenue o Ashburn C. Kilgore, who will occupy. Miss Gertrude Smith, of Oakland street, returned Friday after a pleasant cacation at Annisquam. She entertained a few of her friends at her home. Sat-

Miss Gertrude Smith will attend the A bit and stock which was stolen from the tool chest of the Lexington Gas & Electric Light Co., a year ago, was found in the crotch of the tree cut down near Spaulding's store, Wednesday.

month ago, was discharged in the Con-

Irving Stone and Rufus W. Holbrook have been drawn as jurors J. Fred Hutchinson has gone to New Hampshire for a few days on a shooting

William Norman returns today from Nova Scotia, where he went to be pres-ent at the burial of his mother. Lester T. Redman will supply John Bullard's place in the choir at the First Parish church during the latter's ab-

Charles C. Goodwin returned yesterday afternoon from the Crawford house in the White mountains, after a pleasant vacation.

Saturday evening four names were added to the voting list. Miss Robinson and Miss Crocker open the kindergarten school on Forest street,

Monday. On and after Oct. 1, the fare fr Woburn to Arlington Heights will five cents instead of ten as formerly. A dance will be held in Historic hall Thursday evening. Oct. 10, under the Thursday evening, Oct. 10, under the auspices of the "Eight Associates."

Miss Mary F. McCarthy is visiting friends in Springfield for a few days. Orrin Steeves, a blacksmith, ran into ouggy Tuesday evening while riding nome on his wheel. He was not severely hurt, although somewhat bruised, John Kane is improving rapidly Wednesday he was able to be up and dressed and take some solid food.

Frank Garrison and family have gone to Jackson, N. H., for a short outing. Mr. and Mrs. David Muzzey, who have been visiting relatives here for some time, have returned to their home in New York. Miss Annie Muzzey accompanied Annie Brown, daughter of John Brown, of Lexington, died Tuesday in Worcester. Her body was brought to Lexington, and services were held at the home of her father, Thursday at 3 o'clock, under the direction of Rev. C. F. Carter. The deceased was 25 years old, interment was at Lexington cemetery.

Children's Sunday was observed at the First Parish church, Sunday, after the usual merning service. The decorations were very tasteful and elaborate, hydrangeas in profusion, which had just taken on their auttirnn tints, blended harmoniously with the mahogany furnishings of the church. Seven babjes were christened. They belonged to Mr. and Mrs. James F. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Comley, Mrs. William Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed.

Rev. C. A. Staples preached a fine sermon without notes on the life and death of McKinley, showing very conclusively how a good life was honored after death. After an absence of four years, Mrs. C. A. Staples was able to be present at the services, which afforded the congregation much pleasure. FIRST PARISH CHURCH.

gation much pleasure.

The Young People's guild was held in the vestry of the First Parish church. Sunday evening, and George V. Brown read a paper on "Practical Plety."

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. Isaac W. Grimes, of Cambridge, preached Sunday morning an excellent sermon from the text Isaiah 40: 31. In the evening his sermon was on "The Four Little Wise Teachers." Prov. 30: 24-28.
Mr. Grimes is to supply the pulpit tomorrow.

The Junior C. E. will commence its meetings Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the vestry.

The Ladies' Social circle met with Mrs.

French on Woburn street, Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5. Light refreshments were served by the hostess. DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Lexington Democratic caucus was called to order Thursday evening at 8 o'clock by Christopher S. Ryan, chaircalled to order Thursday evening at 8 o'clock by Christopher S. Ryan, chairman of the Democratic committee. James A. Hurley was elected chairman and Denris E. Collins secretary. Joseph P. Ryan and Daniel J. Vaughn were elected tellers to distribute and countiballots. The delegates to the several conventions are: State, Edwin P. Bliss, Robert P. Clapp, Timothy P. O'Connor; councillor, Daniel E. Collins, Edwin H. Marra Frederick J. Spenser; county, Daniel J. Vaughn, William J. Harrington, Dennis F. Hinchey; district attorney, Rufus W. Horbrook, Peter F. Gilbooley, Cornelius O'Connor; senatorial, John Hinchey, Timothy McCarthy, James A. Hurley; town committee for 1902, Christopher S. Ryan, P. J. Dacey, Joseph P. Ryan, James A. Hurley, Edwin P. Bliss, Cornelius O'Connor, E. T. Harrington, Robert P. Clapp, John Hinchey, Bartlett J. Harrington, Daniel E. Collins, Daniel J. Vaughn and Timothy McCarthy.

McCarthy. POVERTY PARTY.

poverty party was held in Historic Wednesday evening, by Division A. O. H. There was a concert from A poverty party was held in Historia hall, Wednesday evening, by Division 34, A. O. H. There was a concert from eight to nine and dancing was a feature until 2 a m. Calnan's orchestra furnished music for the dancers. The prize was won by Archie McDonald. Floor director John Kelley was assisted by Martin Donovan Michael Lucey, John White, Charles Cronin and Charles Gilman. Among those present were: Miss Carrie Mifian, Miss Vansalette, Miss Sadie McNiff, Miss Catherine Lineau, Miss Katie McGinnis, Miss Mary O'Marley, Miss Margaret Livingston, Miss Agnes Livingston, Miss Cecilia Jennings, Miss Maggie Geoghegan, Miss Mamie Harrington, Miss Lizzie McGann, Miss Nellie McCaffrey, Miss Julia Weish, Miss Lizzie Deering, Miss Delia Deering, Miss Eva Stearns, Miss Effic Taylor, John McCann, Arthur Learry, Con Lyons, Dan Learry, James Mansfield, Peter Welch, John Sullivan, Jack Davis, Ernest Flint, Teddy Le Kane, Patrick Curtis, John Watts, Charles Porter, Benjamin Harkins, Ferdinand Harkins, G. W. Howard, Winiam Mahoney, Patrick McIntyre, T. T. McHugh, William Conway, Mefrestments were served in lower hall ard, Whilam Mahoney, Patrick McIntyre, T. T. McHugh, William Conway. Refrestments were served in lower hall.

A TRIP TO NEW YORK CITY VIA THE HOOSAC TUNNEL AND HUD-SON RIVER

Combine the beauties of the Berkshire Hills, the verdant meadows of the Deerfield Valley, and the long range of the Hoosac mountains with the lofty palisades along the Hudson river, the grand scenes of the surrounding hills, the delightful view of the Catskill and Adirondack mountains, and you have what a trip via the Boston & Maine railroad and the Hudson river steamers to New York city means.

dack mountains, and you have what a trip via the Boston & Maine railroad and the Hudson river steamers to New York city means.

Starting out the journey is through the nearby city and towns of Cambridge. Waltham and Concord on to western Massachusetts, through the Hoosac tunnel and the beautiful town of Williamstown, the seat of the famous Williamscollege, into eastern New York state, where some of the principal battles of the American Revolution were fought, thence down to the Hudson river, past the many interesting sights and scenes to West Polnt, with which the name of Benedict Arnold was linked first in honor, then in disgrace; during the Revolution West Polnt was the key to the whole American situation, now it is the seat of the United States military academy. Further down the river is Newburgh, Cornwall and many other historical places all along the river to the Metropolis, New York City.

The returning trip is via the Fall River line to Boston, and since the rate, for which one may enjoy this grand excursion, is only $5.00, there is no reason why everybody should not participate.

Persons wishing to stop ever longer, at New York City can do so by presenting their tickets with $2.00 at the office of the Fall River line. Pier 19, foot of Warren street, the day they wish to return. Special train will leave Boston, Union station, via the Boston & Maine railroad, at $55 a.m., October 3d stopping at Ayer at 9.50 a.m., Fitchburg 10.16 a.m., Gardner 10.68 a.m., Athol 11.16 a.m., Gardner 10.68 a.m., Athol 11.16 a.m., Gardner 10.68 a.m., Athol 11.16 a.m., Greenfield 12.10 p.m., arriving in Albany at 3.60 p.m. The sail down the Hudson river can be taken on either the day or night line. Returning, leave New York from Pier 19, foot of Warren street, October 4th or 5th, via the Fall River line.

East Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Teele, of Ja-on street, Arlington, were in town last Sunday calling on some of their former eighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Locke have been enjoying a short visit at Littleton, B. J. Harrington's men have been lay-ng a cement floor in the cellar of the louse occupied by George Reynolds. Chas. P. Johnson was confined to the nouse the first of the week by a slight attack of illness. Fred Griffin, who is in the employ of letcher Bros. is suffering from an at-ack of typhoid fever.

A movement is on foot to enter some of the children who live near the Arington line in the Arlington Heights schools. The Arlington school committee will be asked to consider the matter. Mrs. Patrick Hayes and her three children started this week for Ireland, where Mrs. Hayes has relatives whom she intends to visit. She has stored her furniture and possibly may not return o Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Eaton were visiting this week at the home of Mr. Eaton's parents. Mr. Eaton has been taking a rest from his work as conducton on the B. E. Ry., in order to nurse a badly swollen arm, the result of vacci-

The children's minstrel show will be iven in Village hall, Friday, October 11. The reserved seat and admission tickets are now on sale.

Water was shut off from the mains in his village last Saturday night in order orepair a break in the pipe on Massachusetts avenue, near the top of Munvoe's hill. The break was caused by plasting in the trench which is being dug or the laying of the telephone wire conduits.

The house on Curve street occupied by M. A. Page has been in the hands of the painters this week. It looks bright and trim as a result of their labor.

FOLLEN CHURCH.

The regular services were held at Follen church, last Sunday, the pastor taking as his subject, "Beginning at the Near End." We too often, he said, look for evidence of God's presence in things too far off, like the great astronomer who searched the heavens with his powerful telescope and said he could find no God there, forgetting entirely to seek for him in his own conscience, and in nature round about him. As well might we think to find the wind by looking at the brain through a powerful microscope, Begin, he said, at the near end, learn first to see God in the things near to you, then you can realize His end, learn first to see God in the things near to you, then you can realize His power and know how to comprehend His presence in things afar off.

The parish meeting held Thursday evening organized by electing S. Myron Lawrence as moderator. The treasurer submitted a report and it was voted to secure Rev. L. D. Cochrane as pastor for another six months. A small additional sum of money was appropriated for music. This disposed of all the articles on the warrant, and the meeting adjourned. The subject of Rev. L. D. Cochrane's sermon tomorrow morning will be "The Crisis."

BAPTIST SOCIETY

At the Baptist services in Village hall last Sunday the speaking was by Mr. Eddy of Arlington. As a special feature of the music there were three solos by Mr. Eystheim, who sings at Tremont temple. Boston.

Mr. Eystheim, who sings at Tremont temple, Boston.
The regular services will be held at the hall tomorrow with preaching by C. D. Easton.

A goodly number attended the supper and entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid society. Thursday evening, in the Stone building. A supper of baked beans, brown-bread, pie, cake and a variety of good things was served in Follen hall, after which the following program was rendered: Piano solo, Miss Pearl Wright; recitation, Miss Nelly Sim; dialogue, "Deceiving Father," Carrie Sim, Louth Sim, Eli Steeves, Emerson MacDonald; song by choir: recitation, Mrs. Page; diet, Misses Edith and Lillian Sim; recitation, Miss Lillian Sim; recitation, Miss Edith Sim; song, "Scatter Seeds"; recitation, Edna Sim; song, Miss Nellie McLeod; recitation, Mrs. Sim; song, Miss Nellie McLeod; recitation, Mrs. Sim; song, Miss Nellie McLeod; recitation, Mrs. Sim. The entertainment was closed by the singing of "America."

North Lexington.

dat Concord last week on a continued case charged with allowing his cows to run in the street. He was fined $5. The case was appealed.

Osborne Gorman is to move his house the postoffice.

The sum of $16,000 is reported to have been paid J. Morton Reed by a Mr. Sage, of Medford, for the former's farm.

Osgood Gorman, of No. Lexington, is excavating for the foundations of a house. He will move the old Muzzey house at the Heights on it when ready. C. E. Wheeler, the local printer, is having a telephone put in at his house for the benefit of his numerous customers.

Two special cars arrived at Lexington Friday morning at 10 o'clock containing the officials of the Boston & Maine R. R. There was a short stop of about 10 minutes while Supt. W. G. Bean and Asst. General Manager Frank Barr gave everything a general inspection. It was erything a general inspection. It was the annual tour made by the inspectors

W. Holbrook,

Groceries IVORY Flour a Specialty.

Fine

BRICK STORE, Massachusetts Avenue, EAST LEXINGTON.

$2.50 Radcliffe Shoe FOR LADIES. FOR SALE BY FRANK O. NELSON,

Massachusetts Avenue, Town Hall, LEXINGTON. Near Town Hall, Accident Insurance,

Also Health and Employers' Liability in The MARYLAND CASUALTY CO. F. E. DOWNER, Office at C. T. West's, Lexington.

Fire Insurance Life Hartford Fre Insurance Co., Established 1794
Fire Association of Philadelphia, Estab. 1817
Imperial Fre Ins.Co.of London, Eng., Est.180;
Worcester Sutual Fire Ins. Co., Estab. 1823.
Equitable lite Assurance Society.
Office, Slerburne's Block, Lexington.

G. W. SAMPSON,

Mrs. J. D. Tholldeen, DINING ROOM. Good Home Dinner, 25c POST OFFICE BLOCK, Mass Ave., Lexington.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

By Rev. Charles F. Carter of Lexington, Thursday, September 19.

Our gathering here, today, is one of the focal points in a nation's mood of sorrow and bereavement. Into this mood there enter many elements. There is sadness and mourning for the noble man so suddenly taken from us; indignation and resentment against the one who so basely took his life; serious consideration for our country's well-being; veneration for the character that has been so highly exalted among us; sympathy for those nearest him who mourn; a deepened sense of loyalty and human brotherhood; hope for the future and faith in God who has led us and evermore will lead. These commingled feelings, shared by millions of our countrymen and felt by many more throughout the world, render this day not only impressive to us as individuals but mark it as a notable one in the history of the nation and of the world. For, as there come to men crucial experiences by which they are tested and out of which they come tempered with a finer strength and touched to nobler purposes, so there came to nations days of trial, days when the shaping hand of God rests upon them and they are being moulded to worthier achievements and diviner ends. Our president is dead; and yet the man looms greater than the president. We ton, Thursday, September 19. Our president is dead; and yet the man looms greater than the president. We are willing for a season to forego consideration of the measures and methods of his administration, the details of ods of his administration, the details of his policy which, while he was living, we so eagerly and properly scrutinized, and under the sobering judgment of death we find ourselves constrained to look most of all at the man. The many tributes of these recent days have made it impressively obvious that he was a man rarely endowed in temperament. His unvarying courtesy and kindliness, his geniality and considerateness for others, were marks of a constitutional endowment that lay at the basis of his successful career. These graces of character we have known in others, in the home and the relations of friendship, and have remarked their value in such connections, but never before in so conspicuous a way have we been called such connections, but never before in so conspicuous a way have we been called upon to recognize these temperamental virtues as the root and secret of a leader's power over men. They were not merely the graceful additions to a charming personality, but were of its tissue, and constituted a large element of its forcefulese and extremeth He was charming personality, but were of its tissue, and constituted a large element of its forcefulness and strength. He was considerate and yet he was not weak. He gathered brainy men about him, in a cabinet that one has happily termed a "vast compadeship of power," and yet among those men of strength he was the acknowledged chief. A strength was his greater than that of self-assertiveness, and by the degree in which he assimilated the views of other men and gave to them point and efficiency he bimself became enlarged.

This native endowment was lifted to still higher significance by his conscious avowal of high-minded principles. Uniting himself with the church at the age of sixteen, he grew to be unmistakably an earnestly religious man. His own conception of honor was so high that he would never stoop to gain advantage by anything like dishonorable means. Recognizing the danger of fulsomeness at such a time as this, I believe we are soberly justified in seeing in President McKinley an exalted type of high-mindedness and personal integrity and in thus commending his character for regard and emulation. His speech at the Republican convention of '88, drawn from him under stress of those peculiar circumstances, when he so sturdily kept his faith with the state of Ohio and maintained his loyalty to John Sherman, to whom he felt pledged, quieting the wave of popular favor that seemed his faith with the state of Ohio and maintained his loyalty to John Sherman, to whom he felt pledged, quieting the wave of popular favor that seemed about to rise and bring him the nomination for the presidency, that noble utterance of renunciation deserves to be learned by every school boy in our land, not only because of its direct and forceful phrasing, but more because of its resolute assertion of a constraining sense of honor.

In the president's public career the leading characteristic seems to have been his ability to identify himself with the thoughts, feelings and purposes of other men. This indicates his limitations, as the defects of his essential quality, and also denotes the element by which he wrought his best for the nation. He could interpret men to themselves, and often by tactful persuasion could win them to his own way of thinking. North and South, East and West, the people have felt that he was their president. The work begun by you, members of the Grand Army, he not only furthered by his own personal sagacity and courage, but in these latter days he has rendered conspicuous service in bringing the amalgamation of the North and South to its final stage. gacity and courage, but in these latter days he has rendered conspicuous service in bringing the amalgamation of the North and South to its final stage. Many are the lessons of this hour. If we deeply learn them we shall see some things in a new light. The presidential chair we have looked on as a throne to which any man in this democracy might worthily aspire, and so we shall still regard it. At other times we have talked as though it were a prize to be seized upon by the most successful political manipulator, and thus we shall not again want to think of it. Henceforth we must regard it as a possible altar of sacrifice and he who would mount to it must go in the spirit of one who gives his life to the people and for the people if the need shall be.

The White House will be to us in a new sense a peculiar treasure, for we shall hope to make it the strong-hold of the nation's chief, not so much by the guard of armed men or the vigilance of the secret service, but rather by the respect with which we encompass this seat of our executive and the dignity in which we hold his office.

Our beloved flag will still remain an we hold his office.

Our beloved flag will still remain an inspiration and a cheer, but we shall see in it not only the symbol of a glory achieved, but the standard of many victories yet to be won,—victories! let metake a plainer word and call it the standard of problems of self-government soberly to be wrought out. So shall the "old glory" yet wave with a new glory as a sign of the finer humanity yet to come. The lessons of the hour are the lessons of the century. God grant that through the sacrifice of one many may, this day, be made sober and strong. we hold his office.

COWPER—SANBORN.

COWPER—SANBORN.

Mr. J. Ernest Cowper, of Montreal, and Miss Susie L. Sanborn, of Somerville, were united in marriage at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Parsons (Mr. Parsons being an uncle of the bride), on Pelham road, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 24, at 8.15 p.m. Rev. Geo. S. Butters, of Somerville, officiated, and about sixty of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present. The beauty of the night and its summer-like temperature added to the charm of the event itself, and the house and grounds, illuminated by the pale moonlight, brilliant electric lights, and numerous highly colored Chinese lanterns, furnished an admirable setting for the picture of joyous festivity. The house was beautifully decorated by Mr. Comly, the senior, and the young couple stood in a bower of green for the ceremony. Little Miss Miriam Stevens, of Arlington, strewed flowers in the pathway of the couple. Dr. F. Prescott Drew, of Dedham, was best man. Miss M. Emily Carr, of Somerville, was the bridesmaid, and Francis D. Carr was master of cermonies, assisted by Harry H. Clark, Frank Colton and Theodore Schroeder, as ushers.

Numerous gifts were displayed and a collation was served by Caterer Hardy, of Arlington. Among the guests were the father of the bride, Edward W. Sanborn, Esq., and wife, of Pepperell, Miss Emily F. Sanborn, of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Danlel A. Carr and the Misses Carr, of Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Stevens and the Misses Stevens, of Arlington, Oscar Fay Adams, of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Danlel A. Carr and the Misses Carr, of Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Stevens and the Misses Osgood, of Northfield, and Miss May A. Stowell, of Leominster. The bridal couple left at 10.30, amid the inevitable shower of rice, etc., and after a short tour are to reside in Montreal, where Mr. Cowper is engaged in business.

The famous Pitcairn pistols are once more on exhibition at the Clark house.

The famous Pitcairn pistols are once more on exhibition at the Clark house.

You can buy Lightning and Mason Fruit Jars extra Rubbers, and Tops Choice Teas and Coffees.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

Fancy Groceries. Grain of all kinds at prices as low as the lowest

C. A. BUTTERS

& CO., POST OFFICE BLOCK, LEXINGTON.

H. V. SMITH.

Periodicals, Confectionery, Cigars, Boston and New York Newspapers, Boots, Shoes, Bicycles, Gent's Furnishings. MASSACHUSETTS AVE.

P. J. STEVENS, Custom TAILOR.

Special Attention Given to ORDER WORK.
Cleansing, Dyeing and Repairing Neatly Done Sherburne Row, Mass. Ave., LEXINGTON.

THOMAS SPEED. Jobbing and - -Ornamental Gardener.

Residence, - - - Vine St., Lexington. Box 371. E. B. McLALAN,

Men always on hand by the day or week. Contracts promptly attended to. . . .

HORSESHOER, Special attention given to Over-reaching. Interfering, or Lame Horses.

Shop at the Old Stand, Adjoining R. R.

(Successor to Wm. E. Denham)

Station, Westerly Side, Lexington. LEXINGTON FRUIT STOre

C. CATERINO, Proprietor. Foreign and Domestic Fruits, CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS, Etc. All kinds of Fruits in their Season. LEXINGTON

Sherburne Block, NOURSE & CO.,

Lexington Express. Furniture and Piano Moving. 32 COURT SQUARE, 75 KILBY STREET, 42 F. H. MARKET, LEXINGTON OFFICE, MASS. AVE.

As Good As New. Carriages repaired in first-class manner. Carriage building a specialty. Good work

H. A. SHAW Shop, off Depot Sq., Residence, Auzzey St. LEXINGTON.

LEONARD A. SAVILLE, Office, Post Office Building, Lexington. Farms, Houses and Land for Sale and leased. Furnished Houses to Bent. Agent for Man-chester Insurance Co., a first-class Company at regular rates.

On September 26, 1901. the Misses Brooks reopened their SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

to the preparatory department of which boys will be admitted. For terms and further particulars, address MISS BROOKS, Warren St., Lexington.

J. W. GRIFFIN, Horse Shoeing, Wagon & Carriage Building. (Shop rear of Hunt's Building.)

CHARLES ROOKE, Upholsterer and Cabinet-Maker CARPET and Shade Work, Mattresses Made Over. Furniture Repaired and Polished. Antique Furniture Repaired and Refinished same as Original. Reproduction of Antiques. Furniture Bought or Taken in Exchange.

LEXINGTON.

Lexington. LEXINGTON GRAIN MILLS.

B. C. WHITCHER, Prop. Flour, Grain, Hay and Straw

AT WHOLESALE OR RETAIL. Hay shipped direct from Michigan and delivered at lowest market prices. Grains are received direct from western growers and are sold at prices which cannot be cut under.

Office, off Massachusetts Ave., LEXINGTON.

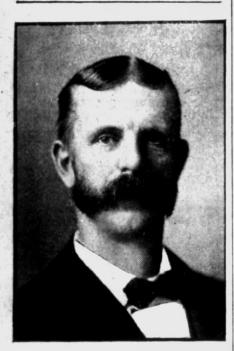

COTTING, Artistic Photography, 169 TREMONT ST., BOSTON. Portraits, Copies, Crayons, Etc. BEST WORK ONLY. Amateurs' Printing and Developing a Specialty

WAS NOT DRIVEN OUT.

Electric Cars No Terror for Liveryman George A. Law, of Arlington-Business Thrives With Competition-Married at 20.

A man who has built up a good livery business despite competition and the inroads of electric cars is George A. Law of Arlington. Aithough the electrics have driven out of business scores of men who had made comfortable livings with their horses, hacks and teams, the effect upon Mr. Law was just the reverse. When asked the reason for his success, he said it was by attending to his business personally whenever he could, instead of delegating it to others. "This method," said he, "is sure to please the customer, and when it pleases him you will get his business in the future. It is not the present job I am looking for, but the future business secured by these means." Mr. Law never sends out any of his men on a trip with a hack unless he is obliged to, but goes himself in all kinds of weather.

Mr. Law was born in Bolton, Aug. 17, 1855, going to Medford at the age of five years, where he remained during his boyhood. He attended school there and afterwards drove an express team for a few months. He came to Arlington at the age of 20 and on Sept. 3, 1875, married Miss Mary Chark, of Arlington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Clark, of Mill street. Mr. Law purchased an express business in Boston, but his first business venture was a failure. He believes, however, it was a good thing, for it taught him a valuable lesson. For about two years he served as conductor on the horse cars running from Boston to Arlington, and the horse stable was at the place where Mr. Law now has his livery stable. After that, he was engaged in the fish business and then decided to buy a hack to do what he could to turn a dollar with it. Competition was keen and Mr. Law was obliged to hustle to find business for even the one hack! The first of January, 1890, he sold his fish trade and devoted his entire time to the livery and hack business. Since then he has come rapidly to the front, and now he is in constant demand to superintend the teams at weddings and funerals. He does an extensive business and goes into Winchester. Woburn, Somerville, Cambridge, Belmont, Lexington, Medford, and other neighboring places. He has twelve horses of his own, and a number of carriages and hacks, all with rubber tires, but has an unlimited number at his disposal. He keeps three men constantly employed, two during the day and one at night.

GEORGE A. LAW.

Law has a large family, with him wife and seven children. Miss ld Mr. Law has a large family, with him-self, wife and seven children Miss Ida G. Law, Joseph H., Miss Mary M., David C., George A., Jr., Emerson C. and Miss Grace D. All live at home at 722 Massachusetts avenue. The Royal Arcanum is the only fraternal society with which Mr. Law is identified.

JONES PAPERS-No. 2.

By Mrs. A. B. Cheney.

I asked Jones, the other day, to tack up a curtain in the china closet, while I was getting dinner. You women folks who have ever asked a man to do any little chore about the house, to save your time, understand pretty well how they manage.

In the first place "he couldn't find the hammer." He knew "he used it last, but he put it back in the tool box as soon as he had done with it, and some-body must have taken it out." Everybody in the place was set looking for it. At last one of the children found it in the yard, just where Jones had nailed a picket on the fence the day before. The hammer found, I started for the kitchen. Pretty soom he called me to come upstairs and hold the ladder for him, as it seemed a little rickety. Then he said "the nails were altogether too big," and he wished I would look in his desk and find some smaller ones. I made numerous journeys and brought as many different sorts before I got the right size. Then he concluded screws would be better. I found some; then he said they ought not to be put into the casing and he would not put up the curtain until he went down street and got some little pieces of wood to put into the corners to tack to.

It lay there unhung three days; then I got a couple of shingle nails and with two vigorous strokes of the hammer put it in place.

He'll never think of it again unless I call his attention to it. Then he'll de-

He'll never think of it again unless I call his attention to it. Then he'll declare I did not get it quite straight and I'd better have waited and let him fix it for me and have it right.

FALL EXCURSION TO THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.

MOUNTAINS.

In this century of rapid transit and luxurious ease, it is no longer necessary to spend weeks in journeying through the White mountains in order to view the picturesque and love inspiring scenery. The advent of the fast express trains with their magnificently equipped parlor cars has caused delay and slowness in travelling to vanish. Ine principal points of interest in the mountains are now reached by railway, and the long drives which, years ago, were necessary in order to visit Crawford Notch, the Flume, and get an idea of the vast beauties of this region, have been almost entirely done away with on account of the easy access by means of the railroad.

road.

The hotels in this section also show the marked enterprise and progress of this century. They are magnificent struc-tures fitted with costly furnishings and suitable for the tourist of high or moderate means.

To enjoy the bounteous blessings in the shape of beautiful scenery, exhilarating and invigorating atmosphere, and healthful sport and pastime, one does not need to spend a great amount of money.

Boston & Maine railroad aims to The Boston & Maine railroad aims to make its fall excursion rates so that they will be within the means of every one. On September 15th these excursions will commence, and will last until October 5th. All the various side trips in the mountains may be enjoyed, and a grand time may be expected.

For full information ask your nearest Boston & Maine ticket agent, or send to the passenger department, Boston & Maine railroad, Boston.

INTERNATIONAL MONTHLY. Subscriptions for the above magazine may be left at the Lexington postoffice in care of Clifford Saville, assistant

THE NEW FASHIONS.

ORIGINAL AND CHARMING LIGHT WRAPS AND STYLISH GOWNS.

Two Fetching and Very Parisian Cloaks-A Group of Tailor Gowns. Long Coats and Skirts to Match Are Latest Smart Wear.

Plunging without preface into our brief chapter in fashion's lively tale, the reader's attention is invited to the the reader's attention is invited to the cuts and a few items of worth selected from such good authority as Vogue.

Pretty light wraps of the present are first shown. These are useful in the cool mornings and evenings and on the less ardent of the autumn days. In the first cut the figure at the right

Belmont Coal Co. Arl. 35-3.

A. L. Bacon, 133-3.

Henry W. Beal, Arl, 141-3; Boston office, Main 1886.

A. E. Cotton, Arl. 238-4.

David Clark, Arl. 89-3.

Charles Gott, Arl. 38-3; house, Arl. 38-2.

C. H. Gannett, Main 3856-3.

N. J. Hardy, Arl. 8-2; house, Arl. 112-2.

James O. Holt, grocer, Arl. 137-2.

James O. Holt, provision dealer, Arl. 337-2. In the first cut the figure at the right hand shows a loose driving cloak of beige basket cloth lined with cream peau de soie. The L'Aiglon collar and circular flat collar ending in tabs on the front, the deep band edging, full bell sleeves and the narrow band forming the outline of a plaited yoke give the air of distinction which this garment possesses. These are of cream panne satin, hand embroidered in pale Persian tones, with a touch of black and silver.

PRETTY LIGHT WRAPS.

At the left is a Pompeiian red camel's hair cloak, the fullness shirred at the yoke line back and front. The graduated ruffles are circular, edged Town Hall, corner Henderson Street, and Manual at 3.30. Hist close 130. Hist

In the second cut the figure at the left shows a tailor made princess gown of navy blue camel's hair over the same color of taffeta.

A castor lightweight broadcloth with princess skirt and a box plaited velvet bodice of deeper hue shows at the center of the second cut. Small silver and pearl buttons trim the plaits. The upper part of the sleeves is velvet, as are the cuffs, with small overcuff of satin.

A gray camel's hair serge is the extremely stylish figure at the right of Special attention paid to Overthe cut. The idea of a double tunic is carried out in both skirt and bolero.

Long coats and skirts to match are the latest smart wear in light wool fabrics. There is no law against a bodice to match the skirt, but separate waists are still favorites.

First-class work guaranteed. Horses called for and delivered. are still favorites.

For yacht dresses cloths are in demand. Upon the deep collar and cuffs of the cloth coat, which has also a high of the cloth coat, which has also a high collar, the trimmings-embroideries of Mystic Street Waiting-Room a Russian or Bulgarian character-are centered, and their brilliant colors look well on blues, grays and lead color. These coats are best lined with a silk twilled tailor's lining.

AUTUMN TAILOR MADES

The cloth skirts to match these long coats need only stitching in designs or in straight rows if the smartest models are followed.

Sweaters For Girls.

Some of the articles printed this autumn advertising the girl entering college as to her wardrobe needs to enumerate "a sweater in the college colors" as one of them. This may be good advice for such colleges as have no athletic associations, but if taken by girls entering any one of the big women's colleges will greatly embarrass them. The right to wear a sweater in the college color is won by membership and prowess in the athletic association of the college, and a green freshman appearing in one would be received with derision.

A Good Disheloth.

An exchange says that an old half worn paintbrush is the best "dishrag" ever used. It is as much superior to the nasty little mops as anything can be, need never be dry, does not get foul and will last for years. It should be a brush the butt of which is full of old dry paint. After using rinse and throw the water out, and don't stand it up. It is the finest thing imaginable for washing milk pans.

The Sandal Fad.

The English seaside fad of wearing sandals (without stockings) has been carried to London, where, according to the New York Herald, well dressed women can be seen sandaled in the parks. Girls especially seem to be taken with the new idea.

CALL 'EM UP.

Telephone Directory of Live Business Houses, Which Advertise in the Enterprise.

Below will be found a list of the Enterprise advertisers whose places of business or residences have a telephone connection. The list is published for the convenience of Enterprise readers, who may desire to communicate with these establishments.

establishments.
Lucius A. Austin, Lexington 14-3.
Arlington House, Arlington 156-2.
Arlington Insurance Agency, Arl. 303-5.
Belmont Coal Co., Arl. 35-3.

337-2. W. K. Hutchinson, Arl. 339-3; Heights branch, Arl. 321-5; house, Arl. 329-3. J. Henry Hartwell, Arl. 127-4; house,

J. Henry Hartweil, Ari. 121-1; house, Arl. 104-4.
H. B. Johnson, Arl. 134-2.
Johnson's Arlington Express, Arl. 122-3.
Litchfield's Studio, 307-3.
George A. Law, Arl. 73-3.
Lexington Lumber Co., Lex. 48.
John J. Leary, Arl. 37-2.
R. W. Le Baron, Arl. 79-2.
Lexington Grain Mills, Lex. 34-3; house, 31-2

Lexington Grain Mills, Lex. 34-3; house, 31-3.

A S Mitchell, Main 1509.
Perham's Pharmacy, 115-3; pay station, 21, 350; house, 329-6.
W. W. Robertson, Arl. 138-4.
E. Price, Arl. 98-2.
Peirce & Winn, Arl. 3-2.
Dr. Ring's Sanatarium, Arl. 205-2.
W. W. Rawson, Arl. 16-3; house, Arl. 15-2; Boston office, Main 2345.
George W. Sampson, Lex. 24-2; house, Lex. 61-7.
C. H. Stone, Arl. 131-4.
W. P Schwamb & Bro. Arl. 111-3.
Simpson Bros., Main 1155.
H. T. Weltch & Son, pay station, 21353.
Wood Bros.' Express, Arl. 242-7.
John G. Waage, Arl. 149-4.
C. T. West, undertaker, Lex. 28-4; house, 31-2.
Wetherbee Bros. Arl. 149-5.

31-2. Wetherbee Bros., Arl. 149-6.

WE MOVE QUICKLY and QUICKLY.

Piano and Furniture Moving a specialty. Storage room for Furniture, Stoves, etc. We make two trips to Boston daily, first at 8.30. First team due from Boston at WOOD BROS.' EXPRESS Residence at 677 Mass. avenue. ARLINGTON.

Have Your Horses Shod

Mill Street Shoeing Forge, 26 Mill Street, reaching and Interfering Horses.

ARLINGTON.

Horses Shod by experienced workmen.

CALL AT THE

Quick Lunch. as she arrived at her sister's and begged us to let her keep the child, promising to Confectionery,

A. O. SPRAGUE

F. R. DANIELS.

606 Mass. Avenue, Arlington.

Hats, Caps, Gentlemen's Periodicals, Cigars & Tobacco. I must confess my curiosity got the better of my sense of dignity. I begged her with pure juices, and a GOOD DINNER Visit Callaghan's Lunch Room ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

For Candies, Fruit, Cold Sodas,

CURTIN'S Arlington Express

Boston Office, 128 State Street. Telephone, 1135, Mair. Residence, 1027 Mass. Ave., Arlington

J. J. TOOMEY, Fashionable Hairdresser. Pompadour and Children's Hair-cutting a Specialty. Razors Honed and Re-concaved.

HUNT BLOCK, MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE

ALEXANDER BEATON, Contractor and Builder

PARK AVENUE Arlington Heights.

J. J. LOFTUS, Tailor. Custom

Ladies' and Gent's Clothing Cleased, Dyed, Repaired and Pressed Netly.

Battles and wars and combats, man with man Striving for place, supremacy and power. Not since the first dim dawn of life began On this small sphere has peace reigned for on Battles, forever battles!

Why should we marvel? In your heart or mine Has peace been known to fold its wings and Nay, nay! Two natures, huthan and divine, Wage war alway within the human breast. Battles, forever battles!

Wars, wars unending. Not in open field
Are fought the mighty conflicts of the earth,
But in the secret hearts of men concealed,
By eyes and lips tricked out in smiles of mirth.

Battles, forever battles! Strife, always strife. Wild passions day and night, Like billows of the bruised heart beat and roll, And that unending war of wrong and right, Desire and aspiration, builds the soul.

Battles, forever battles! -Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Good Housekeeping.

Herr Hartmann was an old friend of my father, and we were all very fond of him. When I came home from vacation, I spent a good deal of time in his house, but my visits had nothing to do with Julia, his daughter, all gossip to the contrary notwithstanding. To be sure, her presence added life to our little gatherings, for, indeed, she was a vivacious, well educated girl, but my heart belonged to another representative of her sex. I was really interested in the old man. He talked most entertainingly on almost any topic under the sun, and he had an easy going sort of humor which was irresisti-

That he had a son I learned from Julia, who was as communicative and gushing as she was gay.

"You know I have a brother some where," she once said to me. "First promise on your word of honor that you won't tell father I told you. But no, I won't tell you anything. You shouldn't have let me blab that much either."

"Look here, Fraulein Hartmann," I said, seriously, "if the matter is really a secret you had better think twice before you go on."

"That's all right. I am so full of it must speak about it to somebody. All I want you to do is to pledge your word of gentleman that it will go no farther."

I only shrugged my shoulders, but this must have been interpreted by Julia as a sacred oath of discretion, for she immediately proceeded to tell me the story.
"I never saw him," she began.

was born six or seven years before I came into the world, when our parents lived in Cologne. When he was two years old, the landlady of the house in which they lived took a liking to him. 'A liking' is no word for it. She was all wrapped up in the boy. You see, she was childless and a cranky, nervous creature. Everybody called her a 'crazy loon,' and some people said she was ac tually out of her mind half the time. Her husband soon died and she sold all her property and went to America, where she had a sister and two brothers. At that time my father did not know she was going away. He found it out when it was too late. You see, she was so fond of my brother that my parents had to let her take him to her house sometimes. They hated to do it, and my mother had a foreboding that it would lead to trouble, but the widow would beg them so hard they could not refuse her. Well, the long and short of it is the crazy woman stole the boy, and before my parents knew where she was she had landed in America with him. She wrote us all about it as soon as she arrived at her sister's and begged bring him up well and to make him her sole heir. My father wrote to some friends in America, but nothing came of on getting back the child, she stopped writing altogether and father's friends could not find her. Later on my parents heard from her in Australia. Again she assured them that Victor was well taken care of, but there was no address in her letter and that was the last they heard of him-the last until yesterday. By the way. Victor was his real name, but she changed it to hide his identity."

"Didn't your father try to get the child?" I asked. "Of course he did," she answered test-"But all this happened a few years before I came into the world, so how am I to know what he did and what he did not in those days? All I do know is that Furnishing Goods, not in those days? All I do know is that he did not leave a stone unturned, but that's not what I wish to tell you. You're inquisitive as a woman, and I am sorry I have told you so much." I must confess my curiosity got the bet-to go on. "Well," she said, with a patronizing smile, "I am not going to torture you. My father received a letter from him yesterday. He would not tell me what Victor said nor where he was, except that he expected to be here in a month or two. When I begged father to let me see the letter, he said I talked too much and that he would wait until Victor actually arrived and he made sure it was not a dream."

It was no dream; at least at the time I was introduced to the man who said he was Victor we had not the slightest suspicion that he was somebody else and that the real Victor—but then I am afraid I have fallen into Julia's habit of "blab-

He was a well built fellow of twentynine, with reddish hair and regular features. He certainly bore some resemblance to Herr Hartmann, and my old friend was in the seventh heaven. He was both an Australian and an American, having spent his childhood in both countries by turns, but he spoke good German, and his present residence was in an English town in the West Indies, where he was established in business, as he said.

One afternoon, in the course of a walk I took with Herr Hartmann, my friend

"You must be curious to know the story of my son." And after going over the events with which I had been made familiar by Julia he went on: "The rest of it is very simple. That crazy woman told her relatives a lie. She passed my son for her own. He grew up that way. Only recently—a year or two ago—he learned the truth by mere chance. He came across an old neighbor of ours who told him that the woman he thought his mother was childless and related the cir-SPRING STYLES Ladies' and Gent's Clothing Cleansed, Dyed, Repaired and Pressed Netly.

612 MASS. AVENUE, ARLINGTON.

wrote to me. It was all so strange, and I was as slow to believe that he was my boy as he was to believe that I was his father, but a correspondence, of which my daughter knows nothing, established the truth beyond a doubt. That's all there is

As he spoke I noticed that his face was clouded and that the ring of good humor which usually accompanied his talk was absent from his voice. It seemed to me as though my friend were worried, as if instead of being overjoyed at the great course, but I feel that his affairs are out of shape and that he is a poor man. He is so bashful and reticent, you know, but I can see he is anxious to talk to papa about his affairs and has not the courage to do so. Poor fellow, it keeps me awake nights. I am so fond of him, you know. I wish I could help him. I am sure papa would, but I can't tell him about it. I have tried several times, but my heart begins to beat fast the moment I get near the subject. I can't account for it, but it's no use. I know I won't have the spunk to speak to papa."

2.37. 3.37 (4.37, 5.37 a.m., Sunday) a.m.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS TO SUB-WAY.—5.01 a.m., and intervals of 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 11.12 p.m. (11.30 to Adams sq.)

ARLINGTON CENTRE TO SULLI-VAN SQ. TERMINAL via Broadway.—5.28 and intervals of 10 and 15 minutes to 12.06 night. Via Medford Hillside, 5.33 a.m., and 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 12.05 night. SUNDAY.—6.36 a.m., and intervals of 19 and 15 minutes to 12.06 night.

C. S. SERGEANT. Vice President. spunk to speak to papa."

"I wish I could help you," I said politely.

"You could if you only would," she answered eagerly. "You are a man. You can talk business with papa. You could work the conversation round to my brother's affairs and ask him whether he was well off, for instance. I tried the trick, but made a mess of it."

I had to promise her. When I made an attempt to redeem my pledge, I experienced the same sensation which Julia had described to me. There was something forbidding in Herr Hartmann's manner when the conversation turned on Victor. He became morose, and he smoked more than he talked.

Meanwhile the newcomer behaved toward Julia in a way which seemed to me rather singular. Me was bashful in her presence and lavished attentions upon her which somehow did not impress me as the usual manifestations of an ordinary attachment between brother and sister. I confess it piqued my curiosity, and I watched the two with increasing interest. Julia received these attentions as a matter of course. With all her education and cleverness she was no philosopher of human relations. She was the most credulous girl you ever saw, and she asked no questions.

Finally my old friend lost all patience. He was dying to relieve his heart of its burden.

"I must speak to you. You are the only man I can be perfectly frank with. I am unhappy. This man who calls himself my son is an impostor. I cannot prove it, but I am sure of it all the same. Something told me so from the very beginning. At first I was too overcome to mind the inner . voice, but the young man's demeanor makes my suspicion stronger every day. There is something in his manner, his voice, in everything he says or does, which keeps buzzing in my ear that I am being made a fool of.

"If he were my son, I would experience that instinctive feeling which every parent must feel for his child. My heart is cold. It pever was otherwise. It was my brain which accepted the logic of all the evidence contained in that correspondence between him and me. My heart has all along refused to believe it. Why, man, can't you see he is after some of my It seems vulgar to speak of these things, but he never talks to me in a free and easy manner, and he always seems to be beating about the bush, as if he left a great deal unsaid or wanted to ask a favor and was too bashful to unbosom himself to me.'

"But if he is an impostor it ought not to be so difficult to find him out," I remarked. "By a clever system of examination and cross examination it ought to be easy to trip him up." "I have tried to draw him out. I have examined him as closely as possible on his antecedents, but he answers my questions in monosyllables, and he is so careful of every word he utters that my efforts are all of no avail—except, indeed, in so far as his replies to my queries intensify my conviction-my moral conviction, do you understand?—that the man is not my son. No, no, no! He is not my My friend pounded the table with his fist, and, getting up from his seat, he fell to pacing the floor with great vehemence.

A few days later the young man called on me. It was his first visit at our house, and I could see by his manner that he came on a rather important business. When we found ourselves alone in my room, he said, without looking at me:

"I wish to come straight to the point

Have you time to listen?" I said, "Yes." and he went on. "I know you are a man of honor. I wish to confide in you a matter which has been weighing on my mind almost since I set foot on the soil of this Well, I wish to say that my name town. is not Victor Hartmann and that I am not you friend's son. Yes, I am an impostor, but if you think I am a knave you wrong me. I am an unfortunate fellow, weak and capable of crime perhaps, but I have a heart and a conscience and know how to hate myself for being bad. I am tired of this comedy. I have made up my mind to disappear from this town. Tell your friend his son is dead. I knew him. He looked somewhat like me. He died two years ago in Honduras. When I found myself stranded, the evil spirit came over me. I thought I would impersonate my chum (by that time I had learned who his father was) and get some money out of it.

"I was mistaken. I have made a botch of it. I have been wretched and awkward from the start. That gave it all Well-Julia is the cause of it. I would give twenty years of my life to un-do it all, so as to be able to sue for her hand, but, of course, that's out of the question. I am going away. Tell Julia I am no knave—at heart, at least. And if I have acted like one, tell her my punishment is severe enough." Before I could say a word he whis pered: "Remember, I have told you all this because I think you a gentleman. Goodby, and don't interfere with my going. Good-by, sir."

When my friend discovered the truth he was angry with me for not having handed the wretch over to the police, but he was gone.—Adapted From the German For New York Commercial Ad-

A Rude Interruption.

At one time, says a Kansas editor, we were sure that we had drawn the capital prize; in fact, we had a message to that effect, but our wife awoke us before we could read it. Women should not interfere in business transactions.—Chicago

RAILROAD TIME TABLES.

Boston Elevated Railway Co. SURFACE LINES.

TIME TABLE.

Subject to change without notice.

instead of being overjoyed at the great event he looked pensive, wistful, heavy hearted.

One evening Julia said to me:
"My brother must be in trouble. I know nothing about business matters, of course, but I feel that his affairs are out 1.15 p.m. VIGHT SERVICE—to Adams Sq., 11.25, 12.06, 12.37, 1.06, 1.37, 2.37, (4.37, 5.37 a.m., Sunday) a.m.

C. S. SERGEANT, Vice President.

Arlington and Winchester Street Railway.

Leave Arlington for Winchester Stoneham, Wakefield, Reading, Lowell and Lynn at 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.15, and every 30 minutes until 10.45, then 11.30 p.m. Leave Winchester for Arlington, 5 45, 7.56 a.m., and every 30 minutes until 11.05, then 11.45 p.m. Cars at Winchester connect with Stoneham Reading, Woburn and Lynn. Sundays.

Leave Arlington Centre at 8.45, 9.15 a.m., and every 30 minutes until 10.45 p.m., then 11.20 p.m.

Leave Winchester square at 9.05, 9.45 a.m., and every 30 minutes until 11.05 p.m., then 11.45.

Boston and Maine R. R. Southern Division.

IN EFFECT, JUNE 24, 1901.

TRAINS TO BOSTON FROM

Lexington—4.35, 5.56, 6.26, 6.56, 7.26, 7.56, 8.31, 8.43, 9.28, 9.59, 11.10 A. M., 12.09, 12.50, 2.09, 2.40, 3.45, 4.39, 5.10, 6.36, 8.09, 9.09, 10.09 P. M.; Sunday, 9.14 A. M., 1.29, 4.25, 7.55 P. M.

Arlington Heights—4.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.04, 7.34, 8.04, 8.37, 8.53, 10.07, 11.19 A. M., 12.18, 1.00, 2.18, 3.54, 4.45, 5.19, 6.47, 8.18, 9.18, 10.18 P. M., 2.48 P. M., Saturday only. Sunday, 9.24 A. M. 1.38, 4.35, 8.06 P. M.

Brattle—4.47, 6.08, 6.38, 7 ° 8.06, 8.56, 10.09, 11.21 A. M., 12.20, 1.02, 2.20, 3.56, 4.48, 5.21, 6.50, 8.20, 9.20, 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 9.27, A. M., 1.40, 4.38, 8.08 P. M. A. M., 1.40, 4.38, 8.08 P. M.

Arlington—4.50, 6.12, 6.42, *7.09, 7.12, *7.39, 7.42, 7.56, *8.09, 8.16, *8.41, 9.00, 9.37, 10.12, 11.24 A. M., 12.23, 1.06, 2.23, 3.59, 4.51, 5.24, 5.46, 6.20, *6.53, 6.56, 7.15, 8.23, 9.23, 10.23 P. M., 2.52 P. M., Saturdays only. Sundays, 9.30 A. M., 1.43, 4.40, 8.11 P. M.

Lake Street—4.53, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 7.58, 8.19, 9.03, 10.15, 11.26 A. M., 12.25, 1.07, 2.25, 4.01, 5.27, 5.49, 6.23, 6.59, 7.18, 8.25, 9.25, 10.25, P. M. Sundays, 9.33 A. M., 1.45, 4.43, 8.14 P. M.

*Express. Saturday only.

*Express. Saturday only. TRAINS FROM BOSTON FOR

Lexington—6.25, 7.17, 8.17, 9.09, 10.17, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 3.47, 4.17, 4.47, 5.17, 5.31, 5.47, 6.17, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30, P. M.; Sunday, 9.15 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M. Leave Boston Saturday only at 1.25

Arlington Heights—6.25, 7.17, 8.17, 9.09, 10.17, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 3.47, 4.17, 4.47, 5.17, 5.47, 6.17, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20 Tl.30 P. M. 1.25 P. M. Saturday only. Sundays, 9.15 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M. Brattle 6.25, 7.17, 8.17, 9.09, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 147, 2.47, 4.17, 5.17, 5.31, 6.17, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 9.15 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M.

A. M., 12.00, 6.00, 7.00 P. M.

Arlington—6.25, 6.42, 7.00, *7.17, 7.29, 7.46, 8.17, 9.09, 10.17, 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 3.47, 4.17, *4.47, 5.04, *5.17, 5.31, *5.47, 5.55, 6.04, *6.17, 6.34, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30 P. M. 1.25 P. M. Saturday only. Sunday 9.15 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M.

Lake Street—6.25, 8.17, 9.09, 10 17 11.17 A. M., 12.17, 1.47, 2.47, 4.17, 5.04, 5.31, 5.55, 6.04, 6.34, 7.04, 7.50, 9.15, 10.20, 11.30 P. M., Sundays, 9.16 A. M., 12.50, 6.00, 7.00 P. M.

D. J. FLANDERS, General Pass, and Ticket Agent.

CHAS, GOTT, Carriage Builder.

450 Mass. Ave., ARLINGTON, MASS

> Jobbing in all branches Fine Painting a Specialty

JOHN G. WAAGE, House, Sign, and Decorative Painting. Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

28 Moore Place, Arlington

TELEPHONE, 149-4 ARLINGTON.

JAMES H. FERMOYLE, HOUSE PAINTER,

GRAINER AND DECORATOR.

Glazing and Jobbing as Required.

Ceilings a Specialty. Paper Hanger.

Agent for Thibault's Wall Papers. 404 Mass. Ave., Arlington, Over Clark's Harness Shop. Residence, 112 Franklin St.

A. E. COTTON,

Plastering and Brickwork,

Whitewashing, Tinting and Kalsomining.
FIRE-PLACES A SPECIALITY.
Jobbing of every description executed in the best manner. Residence, 10 Webster St., Arlington. Tel. 238-4

ARTHUR L. BACON, Mason and Contractor.

All kinds of Jobbins, Whitening, Fire Places and Boiler Setting. Residence cor. Mystic street and Davis avenue LOCKER 58 MYSTIC. Lock Box 45, Arlington Telephone 51-4. Order Box at Peirce & Winn Co.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON XIIN THIRD QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 29.

Text of the Lesson, - Comprehensive Quarterly Review - Golden Text, Ps. ciii, 17-Commentary Prepared y the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

byright, 1901, by American Press Association. ESSON I .- God, the Creator of all ings (Gen. i, 1; ii, 3). Golden Text, Gen. i, 1, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." To my mind one of the greatest and most precious truths in the first two chapters in the Bible is that of God working unhindered; God, the Creator of all things in heaven and on earth, to whom nothing is too wonderful (Jer. xxxii, 17). When He who commanded the light to shine out of darkness shipes in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ (II Cor. iv, 6), we are from that time on earth for and in partnership with Him that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ (I Pet. iv. 11).

Lesson II.—Beginning of sin and redemption (Gen. iii, 1-15. Golden Text, Rom. v, 20, "Where sin abounded grace did much more abound." Here is the entrance of the great enemy, the devil, the adversary of God and man, who continues as such all through the Bible story to Rev. xx. where he goes to his own place forever. In verse 15 we have the promise of a Deliverer who, though He shall suffer at the hands of the adversary, shall finally conquer him. In verse 21 we have the most simple illustration of the way of redemption, and in verse 24 the glory of the redeemed in paradise restored is taught by the cherubim.

LESSON III.—Noah saved in the ark (Gen. viii, 1-22). Golden Text, Gen. vi, "Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord." Chapter iv tells of the division among those who worshiped God as set forth in Cain and Abel, the one refusing God's way and the other accepting it. As years passed on the increase was on the side of those against God till all flesh became so corrupt that God destroyed all with a deluge, sparing only Noah and his family, through whom to people the new The great practical question is, Am I in the ark, the true ark, Christ Jesus, in whom alone is redemption? LESSON IV .- God calls Abram (Gen.

Golden Text, Gen. xii, 2, "I will bless thee and make thy name great. and thou shalt be a blessing." Hatred of God is again specially manifest at the tower of Babel, where God stopped them in their rebellion by the confusion of tongues. Notwithstanding this, men fall away into idolatry, and from the mass of idolators God calls Abram to be a man wholly for Himself and the father of a people whom He can separate from all other people and bless them that through them He may bless others (Ex. xix, 5, 6; xxxiii, 16).

LESSON V.—Abram and Lot (Gen. xiii, 1-18). Golden Text, Math. vii, 12, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them." It became necessary because of the wealth of these two men in flocks and herds that they should separate. Their men who kept the flocks were striving among themselves in the presence of the heathen, and this was a dishonor to God; so Abram, to whom God had given all the land, magnanimously gives Lot his LESSON VI.-God's promise to Abram (Gen. xv, 1-18). Golden Text, Gen. xv, 1, 'I am thy shield and thy exceeding great reward." This is the chapter in which so many words are used for the first time, such as "fear not," "believe," "righteousness," etc., and here is the first promise of the seed as the stars of heaven. Abram is becoming increasingly separated unto God, and God is becoming increasingly real to him. The adversary is ever suggesting doubts and fears and seeking to turn his eyes to the circum-

16, "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." He who had dined with Abraham and now talked with him was none other than He whom we know as our great High Priest who ever liveth to make intercession for us, and the ministry of intercession as set in the second streets and the ministry of intercession as set in the second streets and the ministry of intercession as set in the second streets.

Lesson VIII.—Abraham and Isaac (Gen. xxii, 1-14). Golden Text, Heb. xi, 17, "By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac." This is the most remarkable type of the sacrifice of Christ in the Scriptures. Abraham and his only son are so suggestive of God and his only begotten Son Isaac submission. His only begotten Son, Isaac submissively bearing the wood on which he was to ly bearing the wood on which he was to 231 Morrill estate, Lowell street, be offered, and the father, with the fire 561 Carhouse, Bedford st., No. Lexington. and the knife, make the picture complete in every detail. The ram suffering in Isaac's stead, taking his place on the altar, reminds us of Christ as our substitute, dying in our place.

LESSON IX.—Isaac the peacemaker (Gen. xxvi, 12-25). Golden Text, Math. v, 9. "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." Abraham would not strive for that which was rightfully his, but rather yielded to Lot that God might be glorified. Isaac in like manner yielded to the Philistines property that was rightfully his, and God was glorified in him, and the Philistines said, "We saw certainly that the Lord was with thee" (xxvi, 28). By meekness and submission and yieldedness God is glorified; not by asserting our selves and our rights.

LESSON X.—Jacob at Bethel (Gen. xxvHi, 10-22). Golden Text, Gen. xxviii, 16, "Surely the Lord is in this place."

Great was the grace of God to this penitent but unworthy man, opening heaven to him and giving him the most preciou assurances of forgiveness and constant care and future blessing. All the promises and purposes of God shall surely be kept and performed (II Cor. i, 20; Jer. xxi, 29), for He is faithful. He cannot deny Himself.

Lesson XI.—Jacob a prince with God
(Gen. xxxii, 1-32). Golden Text, Luke xviii, 1, "Men ought always to pray and not to faint." Our heavenly Father is ever longing to do great things for His people that His power may be seen, that He may be glorified, but we are not to be so full of ourselves that we hinder Him by our planning and striving and doing.

LESSON XII.—Temperance lesson
(Prov. xxiii, 29-35). Golden Text, Prov.
xx, 1, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." There is no salvation from the sin of strong drink or any other sin except in Him who was made sin for us, who bore our sorrows and carried our griefs, who for us was a man of sorrows and then see that it is returned.

If you remove from your place of residence or business, return the key to the chief engineer.

LEXINGTON CHURCHES, SO-CIETIES, ETC.

CHURCH OF OUR REDEEMER. Episcopal.

Services—Sunday, preaching 11 a.m.; Sunday school, 9.45 a.m.; holy communion first and third Sundays of each month. FIRST PARISH UNITARIAN CHURCH Rev. Carleton A. Staples, pastor, residence Massachusetts avenue, near Elm avenue. Services—Sunday, preaching 10.30 a.m.; Sunday school 12 m. Sewing circle every other Thursday, Young People's guild every Sunday evening in the vestry at 7 p.m.

FOLLEN UNITARIAN CHURCH. Massachusetts Avenue, near Plèasant, west, E. L.

Rev. Lorenzo D. Cochrane, residence Locust avenue, East Lexington. Services—Sunday, 10.45 a.m., 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12.00 m. Follen Alliance, fortightly. Thursdays, at 2 p.m. Follen guild meets 6.30 p.m., Sunday. Lend-a-Hand club and Little Helpers.

HANCOCK CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Massachusetts Avenue, opposite the Common.

Rev. Charles F. Carter, pastor, residence, Hancock street, Services—Sunday, 10.30 a.m., 7 p.m.; Sunday school 12 m. Week days, Y. P. S. C. E., Monday evening; prayer, Thursday, 7.45 p.m. LEXINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Massachusetts Ave., near Wallis Place. Massachusetts Ave., near Wallis Place.
Rev. J. H. Cox, pastor, residence Waltham, Services—Sunday, preaching, 10.30 a.m., 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12 m.; Tuesday, 7.45 p.m., Y. P. S. C. E.; Friday, 7.45 p.m., prayer meeting.
Branch, Emerson Hall, East Lexington, Services—Sunday, 3 p.m.; Sunday school, 4 p.m.; Thursday evening, 7.45, prayer meeting. ST. BRIDGET'S ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Massachusetts Ave., near Elm Ave. Rev. P. J. Kavanagh, pastor, residence next to the church. Services—Alternate Sundays at 9 and 10.30 agm.; vespers 4 b.m., every Sunday; Weekdays, mass at

FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS.

Simon Robinson Lodge. Meets at Masonic hall, Town Hall building, second Monday of each month at 7.30 pm.

ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN. Meets in A. O. U. W. hall, Hancock street, corner Bedford street, second and fourth Tuesday evenings in each month. IMPROVED ORDER OF HEPTA-SOPHS.

Lexington Conclave. Meets at A. O. U. W. hall, second and fourth Wednesday evenings. GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

George G. Meade Post 119. Meets in Grand Army hall third Thursday of each month. KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Council No. 94. Meets in Lexington hall, Hunt block, Massachusetts avenue, first and third Tuesdays of each month. LEXINGTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Meets in Corey hall second Tuesday evenings of winter months. THE LEND-A-HAND OF THE UNITA-RIAN CHURCH.

Meetings second Tuesday in each month at 3 p.m., in the church vestry.

ART CLUB. Meetings held Monday afternoons at members residences, from November 1st to May 1st.

EAST LEXINGTON FINANCE CLUB. Meets first Monday each month at Parker Street, LEXINGTON MONDAY CLUB. Meets in winter every week at homes of members. Membership limited to 16. SHAKESPEARE CLUB.

Meetings held Monday evenings, at members' residences, from October 15 to May 15 THE TOURIST CLUB.

Meetings held at members' houses, Monday. 230 p.m.

LEXINGTON FIRE ALARM.

LOCATION OF BOXES.

stances, but "I am thy shield" should dispel all fear.

LESSON VII.—Abraham's intercession (Gen. xviii, 16-33). Golden Text, Jas. v, 16, "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." He who had dined with Abraham and now talked with him was none other than He who we know the standard of the circum. 46 cor. Waltham and Middle streets. 46 cor. Waltham and Middle streets. 52 cor. Clark and Forest streets. 54 cor. Mass. avenue and Cedar street. 56 Bedford street—No. Lexington depot. 57 Bedford street—opp. J. M. Reed's, 58 cor. Hancock and Adams streets, 59 cor. Ash and Reed streets. 63 cor. Woburn and Vince of the circum. 59 cor. Ash and Reed streets. 65 cor. Woburn and Vince of the circum. 65 cor. Woburn and Vince of the circum. 65 cor. Woburn and Vince of the circum. 65 cor. Waltham and Middle streets. 66 cor. Waltham and Middle streets. 67 cor. Clark and Forest streets. 68 cor. Ash and Reed streets. 69 cor. 69 cor. Ash and Reed streets. 69 cor. 69 cor. Ash and Reed streets. 69 cor. 69 and the ministry of intercession, as set forth in Rev. Andrew Murray's book with that title, is one of our greatest privileges.

74 cor. Bloomfield and Eustice streets.

75 Mass. avenue and Percy road.

76 Mass. avenue opp. Village hall.

77 Mass. avenue and Pleasant street.

78 Mass. avenue opp. E. Lexington depot.

79 Mass. avenue and Sylvia streets.

PRIVATE BOXES.

DEPARTMENT SIGNALS.

Second alarm, repetition of first; general alarm, eleven blows; all out, two blows; brush fire, three blows followed by box number. SPECIAL SIGNALS.

Test signal, one blow at 12 m.; no school signal, three blows repeated three times; police call, five blows three times; special signal, 22 five times from electric light station.

LOCATION OF WHISTLES, ETC. Whistle at electric light station, bell on Folien church, East Lexington, tapper at residence of chief engineer, tapper at residence of first assistant engineer, tapper at residence of second assistant engineer, tapper at pumping station, tapper at residence of Wm. B. Foster, police, tapper at residence of C. H. Franks, police, tapper at centre engine house, tapper at East Lexington engine house, tapper at residence of James E. Shelvey.

INSTRUCTIONS. Before giving an alarm be sure a fire

Give the alarm at the nearest box.
Pull the hook way down, only once, Pull the hook way down, only once, and let go.

Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.

Wait at the box, if possible, and direct the firemen to the fire.

Never give a second alarm for the same fire; all second alarms are given by the engineers or other persons in authority.

Never give an alarm for a brush fire unless buildings are in danger; but inform the engineers and they will take action to extinguish it.

Citizens are requested to inform themselves as to the location of keys. Signs over the boxes will give the necessary information.

CAUTION TO PERSONS HAVING

LEXINGTON ADVERTISERS.

JOHN A. FRATUS, Jeweler,

Watches, Clocks, lewelry, etc.

All Repairing Guaranteed.

Store At Post Office, Lexington.

 CAMELLIA PLACE Conservatories‡

Off Hancock Avenue and Bedford Street, Lexington, Mass.

T Call and see our choice collection of Flowers.

We have a large variety. ALSO CHOICE PLANTS FOR Decorations of Halls and Churches 3 Flowers for Funerals, Receptions, and other occasions furnished and arranged very promptly. Orders solicited.

JAMES COMLEY.

FACTS ABOUT CIGARS.

A 10c. cigar cannot be sold for 5c. be-A good 5c. cigar can be and is often sold for 10c., because large sums are expended in advertising it which the smoker must is such a 5c. cigar. It is worth 5c.

The "Blue Bird"

No manufacturer can give you better.

Try one and be convinced.

Manufactured by

CHARLES G. KAUFFMANN. East Lexington.

LEXINGTON ICE CO.

GEO. M. WILSON, Prop. PURE RESERVOIR ICE.

Families Supplied all Seasons of the Year.

P. O. BOX 403. Lexington

CHARLES T. WEST, General Fire Insurance, Opp. P. O., Lexington.

> Telephone Connection. Your Patronage Is Solicited.

R. W. BRITTON HAIR DRESSING ROOM

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO CHILDREN'S HAIR CUTTING. : : RAZORS HONED AND CONCAVED.

Massachusetts Ave., Opposite Post Office LEXINGTON, MASS.

J. H. FRIZELLE & SON. EAST LEXINGTON,

Teaming, Jobbing

CAREFUL DRIVERS.

Satisfaction Always Guaranteed. H. MALCOLM TORREY, BLACKSMITH

Practical Horse Shoeing and Jobbing. Hand-made Shoes For Driving Horses a Specialty. Horses Called for and Returned.

Lock Box 8. East Lexington,

C. A. MANDELBORG. GODDARD BUGGY, ROAD CART And Three Express and Provision Wagons

FOR SALE. husetts Avenue,

EAST LEXINGTON. LUCIUS A. AUSTIN,

DEALER IN Choice Groceries, Fancy Goods Stationery, Daily Papers and Small Wares of all Kinds. adry Agency, Tel. 14-3 Lexington
East Lexington Post Office Laundry Agency,

W. L. BURRILL, DEALER IN Tobacco,

Confectionery, DAILY AND SUNDAY PAPERS, ALSO GROCERIES. POST OFFICE, NORTH LEXINGTON Public Telephone, 683 Lexington, EDWARD HUNNEWELL, Expressing, Jobbing & Furniture Moving.

Baggage Delivered to and from all Trains. Stand: Centre Depot. P. O. Box 506, LEXINGTON.

THOMAS AND NANCY LINCOLN.

"Fit us for humblest service," prayed This kindly, reverent man, Content to hold a lowly place In God's eternal plan; Content by prairie, wood and stream The common lot to share Or help a neighbor in his need Some grievous weight to bear, Then trustfully resigned the life That had fulfilled his prayer.

This many a year who lies— Mother and wife whose yearning soul Looked sadly from her eyes— Who, dying, called her children close As the last shadow fell And bade them ever worship God And love each other well, Then to her forest grave was borne, The wind her funeral knell!

And she in Indiana's grave

So drear, so lone, who could have dreamed The boy her bed beside Forth from that cabin door would walk Among earth's glorified? But, lo, his name from sea to sea Gives patriotism wings; Upon his brow a crown is set Grander than any king's, And to these fameless graves his fame Tender remembrance brings.

Ah, still the humble God doth choose

Still them that fear and follow him

The mighty to confound;

His angels campeth round, And while by Indiana's woods Ohio, murmuring, flows And Illinois' green levels shine In sunset's parting glows; While Lincoln's name is dear, our hearts

Will hallow their repose. -Edna Dean Proctor in Independent.

THE SHROUD

A Thrilling Story of Marine Adventure

"You don't believe me. Well, look for yourself." The speaker pointed to where a greenish patch stained the rich blue of the sea, close under the cliff. The other glanced superciliously in the direction indicated. "I see nothing," he said, "that might not be caused by a shoal of small fish or a patch of seaweed. It is probably another of those blunders into which your too lively imagination has led He spoke with a sarcastic emphasis which made the younger man flush hotly.

"I tell you, Haynes," he replied earnest. "there is no mistake about this thing. Ask Julio. There is not a fisherman on the coast who doesn't believe in the manta raya."

Haynes turned a cold gray eye upon his subordinate. "Do you mean to tell me, Leigh," he said, "that you are going to bring forward the superstitions of a parcel of ignorant Mexicans as proof of scientific fact? I hardly think Mr. Grant would be pleased to hear you talk so.' "I think," said Leigh quietly, "that your attitude in the matter is more to be deplored than mine." Haynes came as near losing his temper as his cold nature ever allowed him. "The burden of proof is with you," he said acridly. "Bring a specimen of your precious raya aboard. Then you can talk. But"-with a fresh sneer-"I forgot. According to Julio, the beast is too terrible to be caught. I suppose I shall have to go and examine your green patch myself. Perhaps a few specimens of it in a shrimp net will set your mind at rest.

Leigh's eyes gleamed, but he made no reply, and, Haynes leading the way, the two men returned to their boat and pulled to the yacht.

Mr. Harold Grant was a millionaire who spent his millions wisely. His hobby was sea exploration. A new fish or an uncharted island was more to him than any pleasures land offered.

Mrs. Grant had been dead for years but Nellie Grant, a pretty girl of twenty, accompanied her father on his long cruises in his splendid 2,000 ton yacht, the Athene. Dr. Haynes was in charge of the scientific side of these expeditions. Young Frank Leigh had been lately chosen by the millionaire as assistant naturalist. This was his first voyage, and he thor oughly enjoyed the work. He would have been quite happy if it had not been for the strong dislike his superior had conceived for him and which he wasted no opportunity of showing. The fact was that Haynes, attracted as much by the young lady's prospects as her beauty, had made up his mind to marry Miss Nellie, and he was furious with Frank for his manners, looks and youth, in all of which points he felt his own inferiority. When off Samoa, some weeks before, Frank Leigh had caught a fish which he imagined to be a new species and wished to name after Mr. Grant. Haynes had succeeded in proving that the fish was already classified and had never ceased to taunt the younger man with his mistake. Now that Leigh imagined himself on the track of a new discovery he was giving his tongue freer rein than ever.

The Athene lay in Guaymas bay, on the Pacific coast of Mexico. It was here that Leigh, who spoke Spanish, learned from a fisherman, Julio Montijas, of the manta raya, a creature which seemed peculiar to a short stretch of this volcanic coast and of which he could find no description in any work on the subject.

At dirner that night Haynes began again, "Leigh," he said, "you will have to hurry up and catch that pet nightmare of yours. I hear we sail the day after tomorrow." "What nightmare are you talking about?" inquired Nellie, with interest, looking at Frank. Haynes cut in: "Oh, Leigh and one of these Greaser fishermen have invented a new sort of devilfish. They have even decided where it lives."

Every one stopped eating and listened. Frank got hot and uncomfortable. "What is the creature?" asked Mr. Grant.

"It is what the fishermen call the manha raya, or striped mantle, Mr. Grant," said Leigh. "Another name for it is 'shroud of the sea.' So far as I can un-derstand, it is a creature of the octopus family, but has this remarkable peculiarity, that it does not live like other large cuttlefish on the bottom, but hangs just below the wash of the sea, ready to ingulf D. J. VAUGHAN,

Practical PLUMBER,

Repairing in all its Branches.

Furnace Work and Hot Water Heating a Specialty.

Sherburne Row, Mass. Ave., Lexington.

Below the wash of the sea, ready to inguif anything that floats across it. Its body is wider and thinner than that of the octopus, and I should fancy it is an even lower organism, partaking more of the nature of the flytraps among plants. Some of the men declare it grows large emough to pull down a boat. There is lifted doubt, however, that it can catch and drown a swimmer. A man called Leude its recently so lost his life, and the very spot where it happened is near where we are anchored.'

"What a dreadful creature!" broke in Miss Grant. "Do be careful where you bathe, Mr. Leigh."

"No need to warn Leigh about that," said Haynes. "He wouldn't even row with me today to the place where this monster furked."

The yacht's second officer, a man called Henson, smiled. So did one or two others. Haynes went on, encouraged: "Tell you what I'll do, Leigh. Tomorrow morning I'll have out the small dingey and row to the fatal spot, and I dare you to come with me and bathe off the rock near by." "I must decline to do anything of the sort," said Leigh very quietly. will follow you in the skiff and only hope you will not need my assistance."

"Better not," said Haynes offensively.

"The pretty creature might catch you as Henson laughed again. Nellie looked uncomfortable. Fortunately dinner was just over.

Later Mr. Grant met Leigh on deck. "Leigh," he said, rather sharply, "I hope that you have some grounds for your assertions at dinner. Haynes thinks it is all nonsense, and you know how I dislike any unpleasantness of this kind. Have you seen the creature?" "Julio Montijas pointed out to me a green patch which lies always behind that pillarlike rock under the cliff. He says that his cousin Leudejas was upset near there from his boat and that this green patch closed over him and pulled him down."

"Humph! I don't think much of fisher men's tales!" said Mr. Grant. Leigh went to his bunk feeling sore and unhappy. Half a dozen people, including Mr.

Grant and his daughter, were on top of the cliff next morning when Haynes, in a bathing suit, came pulling across from the yacht in the dingey.

Nellie, with her fieldglasses, watched

Frank Leigh stowing a couple of large brown jars under the thwarts of the skiff. Then he got into her and followed. It was only a quarter of a mile from the yacht to where the great rock rose in the purple shadow of the cliff. The merest ghost of a breeze stirred a dainty ripple on the surface of the water and added brilliance to its reflection of the blue above. Haynes jammed a boathook into a cleft of the rock, looped the boat's painter around it, and, letting the little craft swing with the tide, prepared to dive over the stern. At that moment Nellie Grant, whose eyes had been fixed on that puzzling greenish patch which still swayed uncertainly beneath the ripple, screamed:

"Father, it's moving!" Haynes heard the cry and looked up. The strong light on the water made it impossible for him to see below the surface as those on the cliff could. "Hold on, Haynes!" came Mr. Grant's voice strong and clear from above.

"Get back to the rock!" screamed Nel-Haynes looked around him. The purple of the limpid water was changing to an ugly greenish yellow hue. He stepped hastily back to the bow, seized the rope and began pulling the boat back to the rock. In his haste he pulled the boathook The boat, released, began softly moving into the channel between the rock and the base of the cliff. Haynes jumped for the oars. He was conscious of loud shouts from the top of the cliff. The water swirled around the boat like the mouth of a whirlpool. He got the oars into the rowlocks and began pulling desperately. But, at the first stroke, he became aware that the blades were fast in a tangle of something. He tried to wrench them free. One broke in two, the other was torn from his grasp. The weed-yes, it was nothing but seaweed-was rising to the surface all around him. How silly to be frightened by a mere raft of seaweed! But what an ugly color it was, striped with dull brown and livid green! And what a lot of it! Ugh! It was rising and climbing on to the boat. Great, flabby, dripping, half transparent leaves were wrapping themselves all around the stern. crawling over the bow too. And the boat was lower in the water. It was sinking, gradually being pulled under. Haynes sprang to his feet again and with the broken oar began striking savagely at the monstrous thing which was enveloping him. He might as well have beaten the sea. The blows glided off the tough, slippery surface. Slowly, but with a deadly, relentless pertinacity, the living shroud of death rose on every side, and inch by inch the boat drew down till the water was but an inch from the gunwale.

The watchers on the cliff were silent now. They stared, frozen, at the creeping horror below.

At that instant something else glided into the scene of action. Leigh, standing in the skiff and guiding it skillfully with a paddle, shot up. Keeping carefully clear of the wide set tentacles of the raya he quickly flung one of his brown jars against the bow of Haynes' boat.

A hissing steam arose, and a brilliant flame played across the surface of the water. The clammy bands relaxed. A sob of relief came from above. But the vast weight which still clung to the stern of the dingey was rapidly pulling it under. Leigh seized the other jar and smashed it against the stern post. More folds fell away, the water bubbled and turned black as the scorched monster emptied his ink bag.
But the dingey was full and sinking.

"Jump!" roared some one above. Spurred by terror, Haynes sprang ten feet, clear of the eddying coils, and Leigh pulled him, panting, into the skiff. . .

"I've used every bit of potassium in the laboratory, Mr. Grant," said Leigh said Leigh apologetically, when he met his employer on his return to the yacht. "You used common sense, my boy," re-turned Mr. Grant, shaking his hand cordially. "Haynes owes his life to you, and I owe you an apology for speaking as I did last night."

"Don't mention it, sir. But I am sorry I have not a specimen of the raya for you. Won't you wait a few days, and let me try?"
"We leave here tonight," said the millionaire decidedly. Then, smiling, "Those are my daughter's orders, Mr. Leigh."—Penny Pictorial Magazine. Sternly Practical.

"Don't you know there are sermons in stones and good in everything?"

"I dunno 'bout dere bein' sermons in stones," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley.
"But if a man is out of razor reach an' kin th'ow straight sometimes dar is a heap of persuasion in 'em."—Washington Star.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

A Strange Mouse.

As in the nursery Mrs. Puss Was looking out for mice She threw a glance upon the shelf And there saw something nice.

▲ little mouse among the toys Was standing very still.
"I'll catch that mouse," said Mrs. Puss.
"Most certainly I will."

Her instinct to obey, She made a sudden upward spring
And pounced upon her prey.

But what was this? In sudden fear Her claws let go their hold At coming into contact with A substance hard and cold.

Then frightened Mrs. Puss turned tail And fied from out the house, While still her prey remained unmoved; He was a clockwork mouse!

"My Dear Boy."

The older a boy grows the more tender and appreciative he ought to be of his mother. There is no surer sign of true manhood than a tactful sympathy and love for that one who, above all others, has given her best to her boy.

"The most to be regretted act of my life," said a lieutenant commander of the navy, "was a letter I wrote to my mother when about seventeen years of age. She always addressed her letters to me as 'my dear boy.' I felt at that time I was a man, or very near it, and wrote saying that her constantly addressing me as a 'boy' made me feel displeased. I received in reply a letter full of reproaches and tears. Among other things she said:

"'You might grow to be as big as Goliath, as strong as Samson and as wise as Solomon; you might become ruler of a nation or emperor of many nations, and the world might revere you and fear you, but to your devoted mother you would always appear, in memory, in your innocent, unpretentious, un-self-conceited, unpampered babyhood. In those days when I washed and dressed and kissed and worshiped you you were my idol. Nowadays you are becoming part of a gross world by contact with it, and I cannot bow down to you and worship you, but if manhood and maternal love are transmitted to you, you will understand that the highest compliment that mother love can pay you is to call you "my dear boy." " Young People's Magazine.

The Rival Fans. Two children's fans were quarreling. "Why, my little mistress is certainly the best looking. She has such beautiful blond hair and such pretty blue eyes that you cannot but acknowledge her superior-

"Oh, yes, I can," said the other fan. "While I admit all these beauties, I yet say that my mistress is the prettier of the two. Her complexion is like the rose, her teeth are white and she is almost always smiling. Her hair is dark, to be sure, but I prefer it so. She is easily the pret-tier of the two." At this juncture the owners of the fans entered into the argument and with such zest that in less time than it takes to write it they had come to blows, and the weapons they used to settle their troubles were the little fans that had started the quarrel. When the battle was over, the fans were both so badly demolished that they were picked up in pieces. So, in place of being rewarded for the faithful championship of their owners, they were battered and banged into permanent disability. Moral.-Pretty is as pretty does .- Harvey Peake in Chicago Record-Herald.

The Dancing Pea.

Take a piece of tobacco pipe of about three inches in length, one end of which at least is broken off even, and with a knife or file make the hole somewhat larger, so as in fact to form a little hollow cup. Next get a very round pea, put it in the hollow at the end of the bit of pipe, place the other end of the latter in your mouth, hold it there quite in a per-pendicular position by inclining your head back, and then blow through it very softly. The pea will be lifted from its cup and rise and fall according to the degree of force with which the breath is impelled through the pipe.

A Boy's Grit. A Boy's Grit.

A Swedish boy fell out of a window and was badly hurt, but with clinched lips he kept back the cry of pain. The king, Augustus Adolphus, who saw him fall, prophesied that the boy would make a man for an emergency. And so he did. for he became the famous General Bayes. Walter I. Fuller, Electric Work of Every Description. Lights, Bells, Gas Lighting, Burglar Alarms, etc. Repairing Promptly Attended To.

Electrician, =

Office, Wetherbee Bros., 480 Mass. Ave., Arlington. Residence, East Lexington.

IF YOU HAVE AN IDEA of changing your residence, let me show you houses in WINCHESTER. GEO. ADAMS WOODS, Winchester Office, Blaikle Bldg. Over P. O. Tel. 123-7 Winchester.

50 State St., Boston. Tel. 1532 Main.

Arlington Heights.

Between 25 and 30 Lowell people lost the last car for Lowell Sunday night, and were obliged to charter a special car in order to get home. They waited at the Heights nearly an hour for the special. The last regular car left about three minutes before they arrived.

John McKennon, the well known bicy-cle rider of the Heights, and his trainer, warren Lusk, are going to the Brock-ton fair to compete in some of the bi-cycle races. All their friends say that although the track is one on which he has been but very little this year, he will get a prize, for he is very fast, and all wish him good luck.

Walter Anderson, of Westmoreland avenue, is on the sick list.

A leak in the water main at the corner of Massachusetts and Park avenues has kept the street on the corner in a muddy condition for several days. It has been a source of inconvenience for the people going to and from the postoffice

Jr., are planning to go to Spencer lake in Maine, Oct. 20, for a few days' hunt

George Bacon and J. R. Mann, of Arlington Heights, and Clifford Currier, George Vickery and Howard Monroe, of Lexington, will start Oct. 26, if present plans are adhered to, for a two weeks outing along Alder stream, in Maine. They expect to bring back some fine deer.

Edward Flemming, of 18 Grove place

Edward Flemming, of 15 Grove place, is minus four fingers as the result of his hand being caught in some machinery at the plant of Waldo Brothers, of Boston, Flemming was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital for treat-

Mrs. J. W. Brine, of Massachusetts avenue, opposite Brattle street, was found in her bath room, Wednesday, in an unconscious condition. She was stricken with a shock and up to last night had not regained consciousness.

H. Fraser, of Lowell place, is enjoying a much needed vacation in Nova

Simon McKinnon, of 1125 Massachusetts

Mrs. T. H. Emus, of Winchester, visited friends at the Heights Saturday.

Miss Ida Jenkins, of Lowell place, accompanied by her aunt, Miss McLean, arrived home this week after a delightful summer spent in Prince Edward

Mr. and Mrs. Becker, long residents of the Heights, are about to leave, much to the regret of many friends.

to the regret of many friends.

The Sunshine club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs Nelle Farmer, of Appleton street There were five tables of whist, and the winners of prizes were: First, Miss Susie Haskell: second, Mrs. Ingleton Schenck; consolation, Mrs. Lawrence Pierce. The next meeting of the club will be purely for business and will be with Mrs. J. H. Perry, of Florence avenue. A number of the members of the club went to Bedford, Thursday, where they were entertained by Dr. El-where they were entertained by Dr. El

Mrs. H. H. Kendall and daughter, Mis-before their return.

Miss Florence F. Streeter, of Clare-

O. Partridge and W. O. Partridge,

ARLINGTON LOCALS.

John Adams Squire left for his home in California last Friday. He has been spending the summer in Arlington with his family.

Miss Mabel Gertrude Yeames is spending the month at Montclair, N. J. George H. Yeames has been at Ocean during August.

The engagement is announced of Miss Mary Tracy Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Carroll, of Cam-bridge, to Francis Leonard Powers, A. H. S., '98.

Francis Gould Woman's Relief corps will give a benefit at Grand Army hall. Thursday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The benefit is to be for one of the members of the corps, and whist will be the feature of the evening. There will be several prizes of considerable worth, and a general good time will be given those who desire to assist in the benefit by their presence.

Postmaster Hibbard, of the Boston of fice, with Mr. J. Thomas Ward, inspector of stations, were the guests of Postmaster A. D. Hoitt, Thursday.

The Arlington Democrats will hold no caucus this fall for the election of delegates to the several conventions If one was wanted it is too late now for all Democratic caucuses must be held on the same date, which was Sept. 26 this Officer Hooley recently arrested James Powers, of 72 Beacon street, and James Powers, of 49 Park avenue, for alleged larceny of hens. They will have a hear-ing at Cambridge, Wednesday.

On account of the large number of pupils in the first grade of the Crosby and Locke schools, the school committee has been obliged to provide assistant teachers. Another teacher is needed in the rinth grade at the high school.

H. A. Perham has moved from Massa-chusetts avenue to 15 Medford street. On the petition asking for the laying out as a public street the way known as Brooks avenue, the board of survey will give a hearing in the selectmen's room next Monday evening.

room next Monday evening.

George W. Storer, of Hiram lodge, F. & A. M., assistant general passenger agent of the B. & M. railroad, has presented the lodge with a handsome craycan portrait of his father, the late Edward Storer. The elder Storer, who died a short time since, aged 83 years, was, at his death, the oldest member of Hiram lodge, and had held all offices within its gift. He was widely known in Masonic circles and had held positions of honor outside the home lodge. The portrait is splendidly executed and inclosed in the frame is the past master's jewel which in his lodge was worn by the elder Storer. The gift will make a handsome addition to the number of portraits which already adorn the lodge fooms.

The family of R. B. Moore, of 375 Mas-The family of R. B. Moore, of 375 Massachusetts avenue, has returned from three months at South Acton.

The approaching marriage of Frank Sawyer, of New York, but formerly a well known Arlington resident to Miss Elizabeth L. Randall, of Fort Wayne, Ind., is announced, the date being Oct. 10.

UNITARIAN CHURCH. The Sunday school of the First Parish (Unitarian) church resumes its sessions after the vacation, tomorrow.

Rev. Frederic Gill, pastor of the church, has been in attendance at the mational Unitarian conference at Saratowa the past week.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Morning prayer and sermon at the church, Academy street, at 10.30, tomorrow. The rector, Rev. James Yeames, will preach.

The members of St. John's Young Men's society will meet in the parish house, Maple street, Tuesday evening at 8, to arrange the winter program.

Edward B. Sullivan will take charge of the musical training of the parish choir on Saturday evening next. There are vacancies for tenor voices. This is a good opportunity for securing instruction and practice in vocal music. The rehearsals are held on saturday evenings at 7.45.

The Loyal Temperance Legion meats Friday afternoon of St. John's Young Men. J

Miss Florence F. Streeter, of Claremont avenue, observed her seventeenth birthday Monday evening, surrounded by a large company of her young friends. The affair was in the nature of a surprise, and all who attended showed that they believed in having a thoroughly enjoyable time. Games were played and refreshments were served and it was beyond the usual parting time before the guests could say their adieus. A large number of presents were left as tokens of friendship and good wishes for the hostess. Those present were: Guy Beddeos, St. Clair Mills, Florence Streeter, Lillian Jukes, Champney Hughes, Sadie Bacon, Mabel Beddeos, Max Beddeos, Clara Cann, Eva Johnson, Mildred Kimball, Richard Streeter, Winnie Harris, Neal Campbell, Bert Savage, Carrie Lamont, Henry Schuhmacher, Gertle Finlay, Walter Harris, Florence Bacon, Sadie Huckins, Sadie Campbell, Lena Tingley, Harold Streeter, George Irving, Roy Beddeos, Bertha Wright, Mrs. Doane, Ruth Beddeos.

rehearsals are held on saturday evenings at 7.45.

The Loyal Temperance Legion meets Friday afternoons, after school, in the parish house, Maple street.

A pleasant social evening was spent in St. John's parish' house, last week Wednesday, when an informal reception was given to Mrs. Theodore Arms and Miss Helen Arms, to say farewell to them before their departure from Arlington. Mrs. Arms has been vice-president of the Women's guild and president of the Women's guild and president of the Altar chapter, while Miss Arms has been secretary of the Girls' Friendly society and a faithful and valued Sunday school teacher. The Women's guild gave to each a token of their love and esteem, to Mrs. Arms a handsome church service bound in morocco, and a beautiful art volume, "The Cathedrals of France;" to Miss Arms two dainty, illustrated books on "Murflio" and "Greek Art." Refreshments were served, and a brief address was given by the rector.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

The state convention of the Universalist denomination was held at the First Universalist church, of Lynn, this week. Many of the Universalists of the town have been in attendance. Mrs. Joseph Butterfield and Miss Abbie Russell were delegates from the church, and Miss Grace Carpenter and Mrs. F. B. Wadleigh from the Y. P. C. U. Rev. Mr. Fister attended and had several parts in the convention, he being one of the missionary superintendents of the state. Sunday evening will be convention evening at the church. Reports will be heard from the delegates to the national convention of Y. P. C. U., held in Rochester, N. Y., last July, and the delegates to the state convention held in Lynn this week will also report.

The altar society of the church held an entertainment in the vestry of the church Tuesday evening. The affair was well attended and a pleasing program was given.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. A meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society was held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the church vestry.

The regular services will be held at the church tomorrow with preaching by the pastor, Rev. S. C. Bushnell.

THE BEST ICE CREAM

is to be had at

KIMBALL'S. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

His Lunch service is unsurpassed. Try our Ice Cream Soda—none better.

Miss Anna Dodge, who has been visiting Miss Maysie Simpson, of Claremont avenue, has returned to her home in Kansas.

Mrs. Ingleton Schenck has returned to her home on Appleton street after a six months' absence. Mrs. Marion McBride, of Hillside avenue, went Monday to New York city to visit her son, J. D. McBride.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Ronald Simpson has gone to the Pow-ler Point school at Duxbury

Everett Simpson, of Claremont avenue, is attending the Mitchell boys' school at Billerica.

Miss Edith Mann is teaching at the Locke school.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Last Sunday morning, Rev. A. W. Lorlmer preached an interesting and instructive sermon on the text found in Galatians 6: 3-4.

The Junior Christian Endeavor met in the chapel at 4 p.m.

/The Y P. S. C. E. met at 6 p.m. In the absence of the leader, Hector Fraser, William Finley took charge of the meeting.

ing.
At 7 o'clock Rev. A. W. Lorimer preached on "The Prodigal's Return." It was the last of the series of talks on "The Prodigal Son."

PARK AVENUE CHURCH.

The Park Avenue Congregational church held rally services last evening continuing through next Sunday, when interesting exercises will be held during the day. Tuceday evening, Rev. John G. Taylor and the officers of the church will hold a reception to the parishioners.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The Dorcas society, of the Arlington Line Bible school, held a birthday party in the hall on the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Tannery street, Wedresday evening. The hall, was handsomely decorated and was filled by an appreciable audience. Light refreshments were served, and the following program made a very delightful evening pass only too quickly: Duet, Misses Gohring and Lounsbury; song, "Little Doggie." Beulah Easter; reading, Miss Edna Fischer; whistling solo, Miss Graham; song, Miss McCrae: duet, Edna and Beulah Easter; whistling solo, Miss Graham; song, Edna Easter; reading, Mr. Gray.

The party was quite a financial success, netting the society a much needed sum to carry on the good work for which it was organized.

BALLARD—HUNT.

First Parish Church of Lexington Scene of Brilliant Wedding Thursday Evening-Many Friends Attend Reception.

John Francis Ballard, son of Francis E. Ballard, and Miss Alice M. Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Lewis Hunt, were married at the First Parish church at Lexried at the First Parish church at Lexington, Thursday evening at 7.30 clock, by Rev. Carlton A. Staples. The best man was William Ballard, brother of the groom, and Mary D. Hunt, sister of the bride, was mald of honor. The ushers were: Fred D. Cloyes, Walter C. Bullard, Arthur F. Tucker and Lester T. Redman, of Lexington, Horace D. Hardy, of Arlington, and Frank G. Ingraham, of West Newton.

The church was decorated in a very tasteful and elaborate way by friends of both the bride and groom, under the di-both the bride and groom, under the direction of Norris Comley. Hydrangeas and potted palms, with a sprinkling of clematis here and there, made a very pretty effect. All the seats were filled by 7.30 o'clock.

by 7.30 o'clock.

At 7.45 the organist, E. Cutter, of Boston, who had entertained the people with a few very choice selections, broke forth into the wedding march "Lohengrin," and the bridal party filed slowly down the broad aisle to the altar, where the bridegroom awaited. The bride was dressed in white silk with Brussels net yoke and duchess lace bertha, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Mary D. Hunt, maid of honor, wore soft pink silk with narrow white ribbon ruche and jewelled trimmings.

William Hunt, brother of the bride, gave her away.

William Hunt, brother of the bride, gave her away.

After the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at the residence of Mrs. Lewis Hunt from eight to ten o'clock. The couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lewis Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Ballard, parents of the groom, and Miss Mary D. Hunt. The room in which they stood was decorated very prettily with white roses, with background of green. A large bank of white rosebuds covered one of the mantles. An orchestra furnished music during the reception. Each usher was presented with a fleur-de-lis stick-pin set with pearls as a remembrance of the occasion.

The bridal couple left at 10 o'clock for a bridal tour. They will be at home at Wallace place and Massachusetts avenue walace Jan. 1.

Among those present at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, E. T. Harrington, Miss Ruth Brigham, Mrs. Mary Brigham, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Merriam, Mrs. O. G. Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emery, Miss Clara Harrington, Foster Sherburne and wife, Mrs. H. E. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rowse, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lane, Miss Blackman and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Miss Minnie Hersey, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stevens, Bert Norris, Geo. Otis Jackson, Miss Theodora Robinson, Miss Etta Ground, of Providence, Mr. Hall, of Concord, Miss Mable Janvrin, Mrs. Kaiph Stevens, Bert Norris, Geo. Otis Jackson, Miss Theodora Robinson, Miss Etta Ground, of Providence, Mr. Hall, of Concord, Miss Mable Janvrin, Miss Helen Muzzey, Miss Bessie Muzzey, Miss Sarah Robinson, William Reed and wife, Miss Larkin Harrington, Miss Alice Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tucker, Mrs. H. V. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tilton, Dr. and Mrs. Valentine, Miss Frances Locke, Miss Cleora Russell, Miss May Harrington, Miss May Wooster, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Taylor, Miss Amy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Russell, Miss Alice Harrington, Miss Margie Wiswell, Miss Catherine Wiswell, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Densmore, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. O. Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Geo, L. Gilmore, Miss Grace Whiting, Miss Carrie Thurber, Miss Alice Hamblin, Carl Butters, Miss Annie Muzzey, Mr. and Mrs. David Muzzey, Miss Stratton, Geo. Stratton, Mrs. Thos. G. Whiting, Capt. and Mrs. Harris, Arthur D. Stone, Edw. C. Stone, Arthur F. Turner, Lewis L. Crone, Irving Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Dr. and Mrs. Pred Lawrence, Mrs. M. E. Downer, Mr. and Mrs. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Lawrence, Mrs. M. E. Downer, Mr. and Mrs. Pred Piper, Miss Lillie Bullock, Miss Louie Smith, Miss Alice Bigelow, Miss Louie Smith, Miss Alice Bigelow, Miss Cara Ball, Miss Gertrude Ball, J. F. Hutchinson and wife, Miss Mary Hudson, Geo. Streeter and wife, Clarence W. Todd. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Luke, Sumner Teague and wife. ner Teague and wife.

PARTING RECEPTION

Edith, have gone on a five weeks' trip, They will visit the Pan-American ex-position and may possibly go to Chicago In Honor of Miss Evelyn Gott of Arl-

A reception and dance in honor of Miss Evelyn Gott, of Arlington, was given last evening in Pleasant hall and was attended by a number of her friends. The occasion was on account of the departure of Miss Gott, Tuesday morning, for the Waltham hospital, where she will study to become a trained nurse. Dancing was indulged in from 8 to 12 and during a jull in the festivities Miss Gott was presented a handsome ebony toilet set as a souyenir of the occasion. N. J. Hardy catered.

Those present were Miss Evelyn Gott,

Hardy catered.

Those present were Miss Evelyn Gott, Miss Carrie Hilliard, Miss Edith Fowle, Miss Lottle Brooks, Miss Nellie Rood, Miss Ethel Butterfield, Miss Florence, Schlesinger, Miss Edith Fay, Miss Emma Puffer, Miss Edith Fay, Miss Emma Puffer, Miss Mabel Kimball, Miss Harriet Gott, of Arlington, Fred Jones, of Harvard, George Garcelon, of the Institute of Technology, Oscar Creeley, Forrest Lunt, George Harrington, of Tufts, Frank Lyman, Arthur Barnes, Charles O'Hara, of Boston, Frank Morgland, of Cambridge, Oswald Yeames, Harold Yeames, Harold Fay, Hollis Gott, Phillip Patterson, of Arlington.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.

Rice's new "Evangeline" is now in the second week of its phenomenally successful run at the Columbia theatre, where it promises to remain for a considerable period. Indeed, so emphatic and cordial has been the reception the siderable period. Indeed, so emphatic and cordial has been the reception the lavishly appointed extravaganza has met, that Manager Henderson is already announcing the fiftieth performance to be given October 28. The comedians in the new "Evangeline" are quite as artistic as any of their predecessors. Mr. Guyer is declared to be the best Lone Fisherman yet seen on the stage. The ladies in the cast are remarkable not only for their beauty but for their ability. No comelier or better 'principal' boy" than Miss Rosmary Glesz, who plays Gabriel, has appeared on the Boston stage. The Evangeline of Miss Frances Burkhardt continues to delight the vast audiences which crowd the theatre. The policy of the management in presenting a company of a hundred people in high class light musical productions of a character never before surpassed has certainly at once caught the fancy of theatre-goers of Boston and vicinity. The reserved seat prices are 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1, and at Wednesday matinees, when no smoking is allowed or liquors sold, the prices are 15, 25 and 50 cents. These matinees are designed for ladies and children. Last Wednesday's matinee was attended by an audience quite as large as those present evenings. present evenings.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Rose Coghlan in her new version of "Peg Woffington," surrounded with the best organization of artists she has ever had, embellished with new scetery and costumes, has made a big hit in New York, and will be a welcome attraction at the Grand Opera house next week. "Peg" is certainly the most attistic of Miss Coghlan's many great characters. As the big-hearted, gay, brainy woman, such as Reade depicts Peg Woffington, Miss Coghlan shows herself in her happlest vein. Elaborate new scenery, superb costumes, new music and novel stage effects will make notable the sterling comedy of "Peg Woffington."

In the Cambridge court today the continued case of Thomas J. Prendergast, for alleged assault on his father James Prendergast, will be heard. The defendant is under $200 bonds.

FLEET HORSES TO TROT.

Sled Toan Furnishes "Hoss" Notes for the Enterprise—Arlington Has Many Fine Steeds-Races Soon to Attract Local Sports.

At the Reading fair, Wednesday, Young Clon was defeated in the 2.14 class pace, though it was no discredit to him, as he was clearly out of condition,

Chester Peck, Henry J. Locke, Matthew Rowe, E. S. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs.
Harry Alderman, Geo. Law and E. J.
McGrath, of Arlington, and Mr. Parker, of Bedford, were at the Reading fair

Wednesday.
E. S. Farmer is now driving Journey-nan (2.09%) on the road. He makes an man (2.0%) on the road, He makes an ideal road horse.

Mrs. Farmer, of Idahurst, has lately purchased a new pair of coach horses. They are bright bays, and as handsome a team as has been seen of late.

Arlington was well represented at Readville, Saturday, to see the Abbott and Creaceus rece.

Readville, Saturday, to see the Abbott and Cresceus race.

Mel Hobbs is driving a good looking four-year-old, which just came from the Nelson stock farm at Waterville, Me. He is a promising looking one and with a little handling should go fast.

Ben W. Pike, of Massachusetts avenue and Mt. Vernon street, has his eagle eye on a standard bred dark horse for use on Spy pond speedway, when the snow on Spy y pond speedway, when the snow He has not brought him home as et.

Ed. Shirley has a mighty good road norse in Doc and it takes a good one to follow him to camp.

Geo. Finley is driving Virginia Fox on he road and has got her in fine condition.

Mark Sullivan's colt by Bellchimer surely looks like a good goer with a little more age.
T. M. Canniff has Scarlet M. to

T. M. Canniff has Scarlet M, to a feather edge, and will start him at Lexington, next month.

George Law has just purchased a fast chestnut mare to keep the boys guessing his winter, on the ice.

Roland G. Hopkins's new saddle horse, Vera Wilkes, has given his owner and some others, whom they have passed on the road a suprise party, while hooked some others, whom they have passed on the road, a surprise party, while hooked to a road wagon. It takes a trotter of no mean ability to follow her, to say noth-ing about passing her.

"Slod Toane."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The first meeting of the Arlington Historical society for the coming season was in Pleasant hall, on Maple street, Tuesday evening, with President Geo. Y. Wellington presiding. Mr. Wellington gave a short address of welcome and later an address on the general work of the society. Mrs. Eliza Metcalf and Miss Helen Metcalf, of Maple street, were elected members. These gifts were announced: Two volumes of records of city of Cambridge, and one volume of the Cambridge Proprietors' records from that city; a bound volume of the Columbian Sentinel, date of 1791; a bound copy that city; a bound volume of the Columbian Sentinel, date of 1791; a bound copy of biblical pictures of ancient execution, and an old evangelical catechism of 1830, from Mrs. Jacob Hobbs, of Arlington Heights; seventeen annual town reports, from Mrs. Thomas P. Pierce, of Palmer street, and eight from W. A. Clark, which leaves but eight reports now missing; the original tax colector's book for 1843, and the last annual report of the historical society of Cincinnati. At the next meeting of the society, Rev. H. F. Fister will deliver an address on the Universalist church of Arlington.

THE WHITE MOUNTANS IN SEP-TEMBER.

Traveling in New England during the cool month of September is delightful, and when the journey leads into that renowned section of New Hampshire, the Mountains, then the pleasure

A visit to the White Mountains is an A visit to the White Mountains is an enjoyment which the summer tourist always anticipates with feelings of happiness and ardor; and to the person who has never been fortunate enough to see this charming region, it becomes a pleasure which can never be imagined. With the passing away of the hot summer days the trees and foliage have taken on new raiment; then dense thicket of green has given way to the variegated colors of autumn; the hot, uncomfortable breezes which make summer travable breezes which make summer traveling a hardship have passed. Inc whole region of the mountains is wrapped in the innumerable delights and splendor n Honor of Miss Evelyn Gott of Arlington Who Is to Be a Trained Nurse.

A reception and dance in honor of Miss Evelyn Gott, of Arlington, was given stevening in Pleasant half on the stevening in Pleasant half of the early fall.

September 28 to October 5, the Boston cheap excursions to the mountains lasting until September 28 and October 15. For full information, see the nearest Boston & Maine ticket agent, or write to the general passenger department, Boston, Mass.

Don't pay additional rent for antedi-luvian, out-of-date, cumbersome meth-

Why use steam when the necessary appliances for it occupy so much of your valuable floor area?

Use Electricity in your busniess. Electric Power is cheaper, cleaner, and more effective. What is the use of being behind the Somerville Electric Light Co.

F. ELLWOOD SMITH, General Manager, 110 Willow Ave., West Somerville.

MONUMENT HAIR DRESSING ROOM

J. F. BARRY, Prop. Reopened Under New Management.

Give Us a Call.

Three Chairs-No Long Waits.

313 Broadway, Arlington.

L. WINE, Fine Shoe Repairing, for ladies and gentlemen. First-class work at lowest prices. Shoeblack, 8 to 12 Sunday.

616 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE.

C. H. GANNETT, CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR. Room 112, Exchange Building, 53 State St., Beston. Telephone 3856-3. Residence, Academy St., Arlingt n.

BOARD AND ROOMS. Steam heat.
One room suitable for two gentlemen.
Lovely view across Spy pond. Call and see them. Adam's house, 355 Massachusetts avenue, corner Wyman street, Arv lington.

BELMONT AND WAVERLEY.

(Continued from Page One.)

ert Ross, Paul Rockwood and Henry Lincoln. F. N. Lincoln has returned from a business trip through the middle west.

The Belmont school committee will hold its regular meeting of the year in the committee room Tuesday.

OBERAMMERGAU

An illustrated lecture on the "Passion lay of Oberammergau," by F. Alexan-An illustrated lecture on the "Passion Play of Oberammergau," by F. Alexander Chandler, assisted by the Nugae Canorae Mandolin, Guitar and Harp club of Boston, will be given at the town hall, Belmont, Wednesday evening, October 16, at 8 o'clock. A number of the lantern slides used are from photographs taken by Mr. Chandler at the 1900 production.

WAVERLEY.

A. L. Banks has purchased a new horse Joseph Dutra has moved back to Waverley and again taken up a residence with Mr. Groton. Mr. Dutra returns with a bride of about a year.

Peter Major, of Newton, has opened a shoe-repairing establishment in Patterson's block on Lexington street. "Capt." Gus Pierce has been busy a few days this week designing and painting a handsome sign for the establishment.

G. B. Holt has resumed his course at Miss Sadie Holt has returned to Vas-sar college, to resume her studies.

sar college, to resume her studies.

Trapelo road is being put into grand condition. As a result of the installation of the car lines the street has been widened and well graded. The past week a steam roller has been at work, so that when completed, the street will be on a par with the best. It is interesting to note that the name of this thoroughfare has, within a short time, been changed from North street to Trapelo road. By reference to records, it is seen that the name of the road in 1716 was Trapelo name of the road in 1716 was Trapelo

Miss Josephine Kendall, of Winter street, has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Bar Harbor, Me.

Attention is called to the branch library delivery which accommodation is pro-vided for Waverley readers. Those who care to, may leave books to be ex-changed, at the dry goods store of J. H. Kendall on Church street.

Harry Oteri was the unfortunate victim of a bicycle thief Saturday evening. Mr. Oteri left his Orient wheel out of doors a few moments on one of the principal streets of Boston, in the early evening, and when he returned the

The Waverley Store-keepers' association has decided that, owing to the advancement of the fall season and the consequent cool evenings, it is for the best to discontinue the weekly Thursday evening band concerts till next season. "Hal" Edgar met with a painful acci-dent to his hand while attempting to separate two fighting dogs, Tuesday af-

'Miss Louise Kendall, of Mill street, Bridgewater normal '98, is teaching at the Williams grammar school, Chelsea. A number of Waverley people have been paying wedding calls on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnold, of Jamaica Plain,

A number of Waverley young men are attending Prof. Thompson's dancing academy at Cambridge.

The regular meeting of the Waverley Athletic club was held at the rooms in Patterson's block, Tuesday before the meeting. An important meeting will be held Tuesday evening, at which time all membership dues must be paid, or the delinquents will be subject to fines.

delinquents will be subject to fines.

The directors of the Waverley Coperative bank at their last meeting held at the banking rooms on Church street, Waverley, declared the usual dividend of six per cent per annum on all outstanding shares for the six months ending Oct. 14, 1901. The bank began business April 1, 1896, and has at present over three thousand shares in force, many of which are pledged for loans amounting to $38,525. Regular meetings for the sale of money are held the second Monday in each month at 8 p.m. Shares in the new series are now for sale and can be obtained through any of the directors or of the secretary, who can be found at the banking rooms every Monday evening. Monday evening.

"Farmer" Elisha N. Pierce has elevated the "administration house" at his conservatories on Quince street, and enlarged it somewhat, and is also improving his conservatories. Allan Pierce is also making extensive improvements about his home.

The young people are anticipating with pleasure the close proximity of the close proximity hopes to have a few extra comforts for skaters this season over former years, a fact which the skaters are certain to appreciate.

Miss Amy Burbank, of Trapelo road, has accepted and is filling the position of special instructor of drawing at the Hugh O'Brien school, Roxbury.

Miss Peterson is substituting for Miss Scott as matron at the Convalescents' home during the absence of the latter on a vacation tour.

A small party of Waverley gentlemen gave Philander R. Crocker a surprise party at his Cambridge store Thursday evening. Although much surprised, Mr. Crocker recovered quick'y from the shock and made an enjoyable time for his guests shock and his guests.

The regular fortnightly meeting of Waverley council, No. 313, Royal Arcanum, was held in lodge hall, Tucsday evening. There was no special business in the way of applications or otherwise.

George W. Page, of McLean hospital, has returned from a visit to his parents at Augusta, Me.

Rev. George P. Gilman has been away all the week but will return for the ser-vices tomorrow. The Laddes' aid and the Ladies' Missionary-society will not commence their year's work until after October 1.

Little Miss Florence McCarthy, grand-daughter of Mrs. H. D. Rogers, who has been confined to her bed seriously ill, is not yet able to be about, although the physicians report her to be a little more comfortable.

Mrs. William Edgar and Miss Emily returned Tuesday from a two weeks' out-ing at East Bay lodge, Osterville, Mass. Miss Smith, a teacher of considerable experience, has been engaged temporarily to instruct Miss Johnson's grade in the new Daniel Butler school during the latter's convalescence. Miss Freeman is acting as principal during that time.

Mrs. Barnes and daughter Ruth have returned from their vacation spent in Nova Scotia.

A substantial addition is being made to the coal office of C. J. McGinnis, on Trapelo road.

Carl Smith has severed his connection with the News company in order to allow him sufficient time to devote to his studies as he has resumed his studies at the Belmont high school.

at the Belmont high school.

Owing to the increase of patronage, Edward Quinlan has purchased a small wagon to aid him in the delivery of his papers. "Eddie" sells the Enterprise.

The Ladies' Union society held its annual election of officers at the business meeting at the home of Mrs. John Edwards on Burnham street, Wednesday afternoon. The following were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Edward Haskins; vice-president, Mrs. Edward Brown, Jr.; directresses, Miss Dillaway, Mrs. Harlowe, Miss Lawson, Mrs. Henry. It was proposed informally to hold a December sale, together with monthly "sociables," but further arrangements will be considered at a future meeting.

At the regular meeting of Trapelo

At the regular meeting of Trapelo lodge, I. O. O. F., Monday evening, the initiatory degree was worked on three candidates. Rev. H. P. Smith, pastor for the Waverley Baptist society, gave a very interesting address before a large audience last Sunday evening.

The papers have been passed this week for the sale of a beautiful estate of 30 acres on Trapelo road, Waltham, near Waverley depot, Mr. William Edgar, our well known florist, has purchased the estate of the late Judge Morse, and will eventually erect some large and up-to-date conservatories. Until about eighteen months ago the estate held one of the finest summer mansions in this vicinity, but in the spring of 1990, through a fire of incendiary origin, the beautiful house was destroyed, and at present the only buildings are a stable and sheds.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Hatch have been enjoying a trip through Vermont, Lower Canada, St. Lawrence river and Pan-American exposition.

We wish to call the attention of our reuders to the general columns of our paper as well as the news columns, we are from time to time securing verininteresting articles. Mr. Melanson and family, of Goden on Waverley street, recently vacated by Dr. Middleton. Mr. Melanson has purchased the estate and expects to make a number of improvements.

A meeting of the trustees of the Waverley Baptist society was held at the home of the pastor, Rev. H. P. Smith, Tuesday evening.

Owing to some delay in the finishing of some of the rooms of the new Daniel Butler school, it was Friday of last week before all the grades had been transferred from the old building.

Rev. G. P. Gilman went to Squam lake this week to return with his wife and son Charles, who have been enjoying the summer months there.

Among the points brought out during Among the points brought out during the morning sermon of Rev. C. A. Allen at the Unitarian church, last Sunday morning, we note the following: Things we most long for are more often gained through seemingly trivial things than through some great and dignified action. In being dissatisfied and envious we often dupe ourselves, as we often find if we are ever able to accomplish any of our dreams that we are not then hapwe are ever able to accomplish any of our dreams that we are not then happier. We can never find happiness by adding outward grandeur of circumstances. It is not fame or popularity that can bring true happiness. Happiness lies in inward wealth of mind, heart and soul. We are often led to believe that greatness of confusion and heart and soul. We are often led to be-lieve that greatness of confusion and public notice and notoriety causes last-ing influence; but history proves to the contrary. It is quality of life that gives it influential power and prominence. It is purity of prevailing spirit which gives moral grandeur. The greatest lives in history often arise from the humblest homes. Obscure but faithful lives in this world may take first places in the spirworld may take first places in the spir-itual world, At the annual meeting of the Young People's Religious union, held this week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Maud Ros-coe; vice president, Malcolm Hall: Secre-Louise Stearns; treasurer, Frank

F. Alex Chandler has placed the tick-F. Alex Chandler has placed the tickets on sale for the illustrated lecture to be given by him at the Belmont town hall, Wednesday evening. Oct. 16, on the "Passion Play of Oberammergau." Mr. Chandler will use 65 views in illustrating, a number of which were taken by him, and will be assisted by the Nugae Canorae mandolin, guitar and harp club. of Boston. Tickets at Crocker's and La Bonte's.

Bonte's. Rev. Chas. Humphreys, formerly of Framingham and Springfield, will occu-py the pulpit at the Unitarian church toorrow morning, Sept. 29, as Mr. Allen speak at Bridgewater.

Mrs. O. A. Poor and Mrs. F. Chandler will arrive home today from a vacation at and about Jefferson, N. H.

FALL EXCURSION TO THE WHITE MOUNTAINS. MOUNTAINS.

In this century of rapid transit and luxurious ease, it is no longer necessary to spend weeks in journeying through the White mountains in order to view the picturesque and love inspiring scenery. The advent of the fast express trains with their magnificently equipped parlor cars has caused delay and slowness in travelling to vanish. The principal points of interest in the mountains parior cars has caused delay and slowness in travelling to vanish. The principal points of interest in the mountains are now reached by railway, and the long drives which, years ago, were necessary in order to visit Crawford Notch, the Flume, and get an idea of the vast beauties of this region, have been almost entirely done away with on account of the easy access by means of the railroad.

The hotels in this section also show the marked enterprise and progress of this century. They are magnificent structures fitted with costly furnishings and suitable for the tourist of high or moderate means.

To enjoy the bounteous blessings in the shape of beautiful scenery, exhilarating and invigorating atmosphere, and bealthful sport and pastime, one does not need to spend a great amount of money.

The Boston & Maine railroad aims to money.

The Boston & Maine railroad aims to make its fall excursion rates so that they will be within the means of every they will be within the means of every one. On September 15th these excursions will commence, and will last until October 5th. All the various side trips in the mountains may be enjoyed, and a grand time may be expected.

For full information, ask your nearest Boston & Maine ticket agent, or send to the passenger department, Boston & Maine railroad, Boston.

BELMONT ADVERTISERS.

E. PRICE, Blacksmith and Wheelwright

bing promptly attended

Horseshoeing and Job-

Carriage and Sign Paint-

Belmont, Mass.

GEORGE E. MARTIN. Harness Maker.

BELMONT.

JOHN B. PERAULT,

PAINTING, DECORATING, ENAMELLING Glazing, Graining, Kalsomining and Paper Hanging: Floors Waxed and Polished: Pic-tureMoulding, etc., etc.; also Lead, Oil, Var-nishes, Shellacs, Glass, Putty and Mixed Paints of all the leading shades on hand and for sale. Residence

Cor. Leonard and Moore Sts., BELMONT.

Fruit, Candy, Tonics.

SAMUEL ORTOLANO, Belmont. Leonard Street,

W. L. CHENERY,

Insurance,

Belmont, Mass.

Repairing of all Kinds of Leather Goods, Trunks, Bags, Etc., Whips, Harnesses and Stable Supplies. LEONARD STREET, Opposite the Fire Station.